Experts decode impact of geopolitics and economics on financial markets

1 November 2021

The National Stock Exchange (NSE) is the largest exchange in India, and for the last two years the largest derivatives exchange globally, based on the number of contracts traded.

To commemorate the contribution made by the founder of NSE, Late Dr R.H. Patil in transforming the landscape of India's capital markets, NSE organised a memorial dialogue to decode the impact of geopolitics and economics on financial markets.
