The National Stock Exchange (NSE) launched two new cash settled energy futures contracts — WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas — on Monday.

With the new launch, the country's largest exchange intends to enhance the product offering and draw liquidity from MCX, which already provides trades in similar contracts on its platform.

In a bid woo investors, NSE has waived off transaction charges in both these contracts till October-end. Initially, six monthly expiry contracts of WTI Crude and three of natural gas will be available for trading.

The specifications of these new contracts will be almost similar to that of MCX to facilitate investors' shift to NSE.

The exchange targets investment in the new commodity contracts from large foreign portfolio investors and high-networth investors who are already trading in the NSE equity derivatives segment.

All FPI categories (I and II), including individuals, family offices, and corporate FPIs, are permitted to trade in the commodity segment. Direct Market Access and algo trading facility will also be available for FPIs.

NSE feels the ease of collateral fungibility across other NSE Segments Settlement Guarantee by NSE Clearing allows investors to use the unutilised margin in the equity segment in the new commodity contracts trade, which attracts trading interest between 5 pm to 11.30 pm after the equity market shuts at 3.30 pm.

The National Stock Exchange (NSE) on Monday launched the rupee-denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts in its commodity derivatives segment.

The June 16, 2023, WTI Crude futures were trading at Rs 5,852 on the NSE at 3:25 pm, down by Rs 40 or 0.68%. The total traded value of the overall contracts was Rs 26.26 lakh.

"The launch of these contracts will provide effective trading and hedging opportunities to the market participants, with the availability of key energy products on a single trading platform," NSE release said.

The addition of these contracts has expanded NSE's product offering in the energy basket as well as its overall commodity segment.

The NSE WTI and natural gas contracts will be beneficial for traders for arbitrage and trading opportunities, commodity and currency expert Anuj Guta said. It will also be suitable for FPIs (Foreign Portfolio Investors) to get benefit of margin collateral from their cash holdings in NSE to trade in these commodity derivative contracts, said the Vice President (VP) of Commodity and Currency Research at IIFL Securities.

Earlier, NSE had signed a data licensing agreement with CME Group allowing NSE to list, trade and settle rupee denominated NYMEX WTI crude oil and natural Gas derivatives contracts on its platform.

"It gives us immense pleasure to inform the market participants that NSE has launched the NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts today. NSE has been the trusted exchange of market participants for close to three decades, due to its robust technology platform with high levels of safety and resilience for trading," Sriram Krishnan, Chief Business Development Officer at NSE said, commenting on the development.

"With NCL providing settlement guarantee and ease of collateral fungibility across all NSE market segments, we hope that these two contracts will provide market participants with an efficient avenue to hedge their price risk and meet their trading objectives," Krishnan added.

The National Stock Exchange (NSE) on Monday launched the rupee denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts, expanded its product offering in the energy basket and overall commodity segment.

The stock exchange had received Securities & Exchange Board of India's (SEBI) approval to introduce these futures contracts in March this year.

NSE had earlier signed a data licensing agreement with CME Group allowing NSE to list, trade and settle rupee denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas derivatives contracts on its platform.

The launch of these contracts will provide effective trading and hedging opportunities to the market participants, with the availability of key energy products on a single trading platform, the bourse said.

"With NSE Clearing Ltd providing settlement guarantee and ease of collateral fungibility across all NSE market segments, we hope that these two contracts will provide market participants with an efficient avenue to hedge their price risk and meet their trading objectives," said Shri Sriram Krishnan, Chief Business Development Officer, NSE.

Analysts believe the development will enhance trading in the commodity and energy markets and will help investors at large.

"MCX has a strong presence in commodity and energy derivatives trading. With the entry of NSE, the competition in the market is set to rise which will ultimately benefit retail traders and investors," said Ajay Kedia, Director, Kedia Advisory.

While expecting no immediate major impact on MCX volumes, Kedia said that NSE can get an advantage of its huge equity client base.

"NSE has a huge equity client base and it can leverage this to its advantage. Moreover investors will now also get an arbitrage opportunity while trading in these contracts," Kedia said.

Moreover, with the foreign portfolio investors (FPIs) now allowed to participate in cash settled non-agricultural commodity derivative contracts and indices, it would benefit the overall commodity derivatives market, he added.

Headline: NSE Announced Launch of WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas Futures Contracts

<https://www.oilmonster.com/article/nse-announced-launch-of-wti-crude-oil-and-natural-gas-futures-contracts/4512>

The National Stock Exchange (NSE) Commodity Derivatives Segment announced the launch of rupee denominated futures contracts on underlying NYMEX WTI crude oil and natural gas. The exchange had received nod from the markets regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) in March this year.

The launch of new futures contracts provides market participants with effective trading and hedging opportunities on a wider range of products using a single platform. It has delivered significant expansion to the exchange's product offering in the overall commodity segment. The launch of the contracts will provide its customers with an effective means to hedge their price risk and meet their trading risks, said Sriram Krishnan, Chief Business Development Officer of the Exchange.

The data licensing agreement signed by the NSE with CME Group in February this year allows it to list and trade rupee denominated NYMEX WTI crude oil and natural gas derivatives contracts on its platform. It must be noted that WTI is the underlying commodity of the New York Mercantile Exchange's (NYMEX) oil futures contract. Also, the Brent as well as WTI crude oil derivatives are the products with highest trading volume in the commodity derivative space.

National Stock Exchange (NSE) has launched the rupee-denominated WTI crude oil and natural gas futures contracts in its commodity derivatives segment, the leading stock exchange said on Monday. West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude oil is a specific grade of crude oil and one of the main three benchmarks in oil pricing markets, along with Brent and Dubai Crude. The addition of these contracts has expanded NSE's product offering in the energy basket as well as its overall commodity segment.

The launch of these contracts will provide effective trading and hedging opportunities to the market participants, with the availability of key energy products on a single trading platform. The National Stock Exchange (NSE), on May 15, 2023 (Monday) launched its rupee-denominated futures contracts on underlying NYMEX WTI crude oil and Natural Gas in its commodity derivatives segment.

This event reportedly came after the exchange received approval market regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) to launch these contracts in March.

The addition of these contracts has expanded NSE's product offering in the energy basket as well as its overall commodity segment. With the launch of these contracts, it will now provide effective trading and hedging opportunities to the market participants, with the availability of key energy products on a single trading platform.

In a bid to woo investors, NSE has waived off transaction charges in both these contracts till October-end.

Meanwhile, Shri Sriram Krishnan, Chief Business Development Officer, NSE commented: "It gives us immense pleasure to inform the market participants that NSE has launched the NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts today. NSE has been the trusted exchange of market participants for close to three decades, due to its robust technology platform with high levels of safety and resilience for trading. With NCL providing settlement guarantee and ease of collateral fungibility across all NSE market segments, we hope that these two contracts will provide market participants with an efficient avenue to hedge their price risk and meet their trading objectives."

If NSE succeeds in attracting investors in new contracts, it will also pave way to boost liquidity in other commodities traded on the exchange. The NSE WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas contracts will be settled based on the NYMEX front-month contract's settlement price.

Headline: EXPLAINER: Why the launch of WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts by NSE is important

<https://energy.economictimes.indiatimes.com/news/oil-and-gas/explainer-why-the-launch-of-wti-crude-oil-and-natural-gas-futures-contracts-by-nse-is-important/100285095>

National Stock Exchange (NSE), the world's largest derivatives exchange by trading volume, on Monday launched Rupee-denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts in its commodity derivatives segment. This will be an addition to the basket of energy and commodity products of the exchange which already has a Brent crude oil contract product. The new contracts would be based on global benchmarks from the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (CME) Group. NYMEX, which is part of CME, is the global leader in price discovery for these products, and NSE will use their benchmarks for trading and settlement of the new products. A few years back, SEBI had guided the exchanges to have all the products and commodity derivatives in delivery mode of settlement, except a few contracts where delivery settlement could not be handled. Because managing the logistics is challenging in case of crude oil delivery, both crude and natural gas contracts are permitted to be cash settled. It would help in attracting all the categories of market participants, including the financial market participants. These two products are reflected in the top 5 globally traded commodity derivatives, and they now also be available on the Indian exchanges. They have been tailored on the lines of the existing products at NSE for the ease of market participants. However, there is a key differentiator as NSE is aiming for a diverse liquidity pool of participants. SEBI had earlier permitted the participation of FPIs in commodity derivatives. They have been permitted for non-agri cash-settled products. It is a fact that NSE has seen less traction from FPI participants in the existing products and believes that with the availability of the new contracts, it would see good traction from the FPI community. NSE has very liquid and active other asset classes traded on the exchange platform in which the FPI ecosystem is already connected. Most of the FPIs are already connected via, and settling their transactions through, NSE Clearing Ltd which clears and gives settlement guarantee for equity derivative transactions. This settlement guarantee feature will also be available for the new crude and natural gas products. That is expected to give confidence to entities like FPIs. As far as the new products are concerned, all the FPI categories will be permitted for transaction on NSE. This will help build liquidity for the new products too. NSE is already among one the largest derivative exchanges globally across asset classes, and the market on its platform for equity and equity derivatives is quite liquid. The top two traded products on the index option globally -- The BANKNIFTY and the Nifty 50 options -- are NSE products. So, while NSE, the largest stock exchange in India in terms of total and average daily turnover for equity shares, is a leader for equity derivatives and currency derivatives, it has now introduced the two new energy/commodity derivatives products on the exchange. With this, participants would now get access to commodity products too for trading. What are the advantages for participants? SEBI has provided stringent risk management frameworks based on which the clearing corporation NSE Clearing conducts risk management and participants have to manage collaterals with it. With the launch of the new products, the collateral available with NSE Clearing would be utilised efficiently by market participants, as the development would make collateral fungibility possible across segments. That means market participants who have unutilised collateral available with the clearing corporation of NSE would be able to use it for transaction activity in the new crude oil and natural gas products. This ease of collateral fungibility will be available across asset classes. Also, equity derivatives are transacted on NSE from 9:15 am to 3:30 pm, and the currency derivatives on the exchange are transacted till 5:00 pm. So, if a participant has provided collateral for transaction activity on equity derivatives, and if there is some unutilised collateral available after 3:30 pm, it would be used in the commodity market trade that runs upto 11:30 pm. As far as energy is concerned, currently NSE has only Brent crude oil futures available for trading on its platform, apart from the precious metals basket related to energy. It is unique because as a product Brent crude oil futures is not available on any other commodity derivatives exchanges in India for trading. When it comes to physical consumption of oil, Brent is the main quality of oil imported in India, but when it comes to transaction activity, most of the price directions are done based on WTI crude. That explains why NSE has now tied up with CME Group for the new products and get their global benchmark. The development is also significant for market participants from the point of view of trading strategy as they would now be able to conduct both Brent and WTI crude oil transactions on the same platform.

NSE launches WTI crude oil and natural gas futures contracts

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The National Stock Exchange (NSE) on Monday launched rupee denominated futures contracts on underlying NYMEX WTI crude oil and natural gas in its commodity derivatives segment. This came after the exchange, in March, received approval from markets regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) to launch these contracts.

The addition of these contracts has expanded NSE's product offering in the energy basket as well as its overall commodity segment. The launch of these contracts will provide effective trading and hedging opportunities to the market participants, with the availability of key energy products on a single trading platform.

"It gives us immense pleasure to inform the market participants that NSE has launched the NYMEX WTI crude oil and natural gas futures contracts today," Sriram Krishnan, Chief Business Development Officer, NSE said.

India's NSE launches rupee-denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts to broaden its energy basket offerings and provide efficient trading and hedging opportunities.

The National Stock Exchange (NSE), India's leading stock exchange, has recently launched the rupee denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts in its Commodity derivatives segment after receiving approval from the Securities & Exchange Board of India (SEBI) on May 15, 2023. In order to list, trade and settle rupee denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas derivatives contracts on its platform, NSE had previously entered into a data licensing agreement with CME Group. By launching these contracts, NSE has broadened its Energy basket offerings and overall commodity segment. Consequently, market participants can benefit from effective trading and hedging opportunities with the availability of key energy products on a single platform.

Sriram Krishnan, NSE's Chief Business Development Officer, expressed his happiness regarding the launch of the NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts. He stated that NSE has been a trusted exchange for almost three decades, thanks to its robust technology platform with high levels of safety and resilience for trading. Moreover, with the NCL providing settlement guarantee and ease of collateral fungibility across all NSE market segments, it is expected that these two contracts will provide market participants with an efficient avenue to hedge their price risk and meet their trading objectives.

नेशनल स्टॉक एक्सचेंज (NSE) ने बोर्ड मीटिंग के बाद बताया कि उसने निवेशकों को मार्च 2023 में खत्म वित्त वर्ष के लिए 80 रुपये प्रति शेयर (8000 %) फाइनल डिविडेंड का ऐलान किया है।

नेशनल स्टॉक एक्सचेंज (NSE) ने बोर्ड मीटिंग के बाद बताया कि उसने निवेशकों को मार्च 2023 में खत्म वित्त वर्ष के लिए 80 रुपये प्रति शेयर (8000 %) फाइनल डिविडेंड का ऐलान किया है। बोर्ड बैठक में वित्तवर्ष के फाइनैशियल पर विचार करने के बाद यह फैसला लिया गया। कहा गया है कि यदि आगामी एजीएम में शेयरधारकों द्वारा मंजूरी दी जाती है तो पात्र शेयरधारकों को एनुअल जनरल मीटिंग की तारीख से 30वें दिन या उससे पहले भुगतान किया जाएगा।

इससे पहले नेशनल स्टॉक एक्सचेंज (NSE) ने 6 मई 2022 को हुई बैठक में ₹42 प्रति इक्विटी शेयर के अंतिम डिविडेंड की सिफारिश की थी। बाजार आज सोमवार को तेजी के साथ बंद हुआ। निप्पटी 18,398.85 पर बंद हुआ।

IPO लाने की तैयारी

नेशनल स्टॉक एक्सचेंज ऑफ इंडिया IPO लाने की तैयारी कर रहा है। हालांकि अभी तक मार्केट रेगुलेटर से मंजूरी नहीं मिली है। NSE कॉन्ट्रैक्ट्स ट्रेड के मामले में दुनिया का सबसे बड़ा डेरिवेटिव एक्सचेंज भी है, और इसके मुख्य शेयरधारकों में भारतीय जीवन बीमा निगम, भारतीय स्टेट बैंक, कनाडा पेंशन प्लान इन्वेस्टमेंट बोर्ड, टाइगर ग्लोबल फंड और मॉर्गन स्टेनली फंड शामिल हैं।

क्या है डिविडेंड

कुछ कंपनियां समय-समय पर शेयरधारकों को अपने मुनाफे का कुछ हिस्सा देती रहती हैं। मुनाफे का यह हिस्सा डिविडेंड कहलाता है। डिविडेंड देने वाले शेयरों को डिविडेंड स्टॉक या डिविडेंड यील्ड भी कहा जाता है। बहुत से लोगों को इस बारे में जानकारी नहीं होती कि अपने शेयर बाजार में वह इस दूसरे तरीके से भी मुनाफा कमा सकते हैं।

नया फ्यूचर्स कॉन्ट्रैक्ट्स लॉन्च

NSE ने WTI कूड, नेचुरल गैस ((Natural Gas) फ्यूचर्स कॉन्ट्रैक्ट्स लॉन्च कर दिया है। यानी अब आप फ्यूचर एंड ऑप्शन के तहत कूड और गैस में ट्रेड कर सकेंगे। मार्केट रेगुलेटर सेबी ने इसके लिए एनएसई को मार्च में मंजूरी दी थी। पिछले महीने NSE ने जानकारी दी थी कि वह 15 मई से कमोडिटी डेरिवेटिव्स सेक्शन में WTI कूड और नेचुरल गैस पर फ्यूचर्स कॉन्ट्रैक्ट की शुरुआत करने जा रहा है।

In its commodity derivatives division, the National Stock Exchange (NSE) introduced futures contracts in rupees on the underlying NYMEX WTI crude oil and natural gas. Following the exchange's receipt of the Securities and Exchange Board of India's (Sebi) approval to debut these contracts in March, this took place. These contracts have increased both the product selection for NSE's energy basket and its entire commodity segment. With the availability of essential energy products on a single trading platform, the introduction of these contracts will offer market players efficient trading and hedging opportunities. According to Sriram Krishnan, chief business development officer of NSE, "We are extremely happy to inform the market participants that NSE has today launched the NYMEX WTI crude oil and natural gas futures contracts."

"We expect that these two contracts will give market players with an effective avenue to hedge their price risk and accomplish their trading objectives," he continued. "NSE Clearing Ltd. provides settlement assurance and ease of collateral fungibility across all NSE market segments."

The oil futures contract on the New York Mercantile Exchange (NYMEX) is based on the WTI commodity. Furthermore, the most traded goods in the field of commodity derivatives are derivatives of crude oil (Brent and WTI). All categories of Foreign Portfolio Investors (FPIs), including individual, family office, and corporate FPIs, are allowed to trade. NSE and CME Group had signed a data licencing deal in February. The agreement allows the exchange to list, trade, and settle natural gas and NYMEX WTI crude oil derivatives denominated in rupees.

NSEમાં WTI ક્રૂડ ઓઇલ અને નેચરલ ગેસ ફ્યુચર્સ કોન્ટ્રેક્ટ્સના ટ્રેડિંગનો આરંભ

નેશનલ સ્ટોક એક્સચેન્જ (NSE)ના ડેરિવેટિવ સેગમેન્ટમાં સોમવારથી WTI (વેસ્ટ ટેક્સસ ઇન્ટરમીડિએટ્સ) ક્રૂડ અને નેચરલ ગેસ ફ્યુચર્સ કોન્ટ્રેક્ટ લોન્ચ કરવામાં આવ્યા હતા. અમને બજારના સહભાગીઓને એની જાણ કરતાં અત્યંત આનંદ થઈ રહ્યો છે કે NSEએ ન્યુ યોર્ક મર્કન્ટાઇલ એક્સચેન્જના WTI ક્રૂડ ઓઇલ અને નેચરલ ગેસ ફ્યુચર્સ કોન્ટ્રેક્ટ્સ લોન્ચ કર્યા છે એમ NSEના ચીફ બિઝનેસ ડેવલપમેન્ટ ઓફિસર શ્રીરામ કૃષ્ણને કહ્યું હતું.

રૂપિયામાં ટ્રેડ થનાર આ બે કોન્ટ્રેક્ટ્સના લોન્ચિંગ સાથે NSEની એનર્જી પ્રોડક્ટ્સની શ્રેણીનો વિસ્તાર થયો છે, અમે આશા રાખીએ છીએ કે આ બે કોન્ટ્રેક્ટ્સ બજારના સહભાગીઓને તેમના ભાવોના જોખમને અંકુશમાં રાખવા અને ટ્રેડિંગ હેતુઓ પૂરા કરવા માટેનો કાર્યક્ષમ વિકલ્પ પૂરો પાડશે એમ તેમણે ઉમેર્યું હતું. યુએસ ડેલાઇટ સેવિંગ ટાઇમ પિરિયડના આધારે આનું ટ્રેડિંગ સેશન સોમથી શુક્રવાર સવારે ૯.૦૦થી રાતના ૧૧.૩૦/૧૧.૫૫ રહેશે.

Headline: NSE launches WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts

<https://www.hellenicshippingnews.com/nse-launches-wti-crude-oil-and-natural-gas-futures-contracts/>

The National Stock Exchange (NSE) on Monday launched the rupee denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts, expanded its product offering in the energy basket and overall commodity segment.

The stock exchange had received Securities & Exchange Board of India's (SEBI) approval to introduce these futures contracts in March this year.

NSE had earlier signed a data licensing agreement with CME Group allowing NSE to list, trade and settle rupee denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas derivatives contracts on its platform.

The launch of these contracts will provide effective trading and hedging opportunities to the market participants, with the availability of key energy products on a single trading platform, the bourse said.

"With NSE Clearing Ltd providing settlement guarantee and ease of collateral fungibility across all NSE market segments, we hope that these two contracts will provide market participants with an efficient avenue to hedge their price risk and meet their trading objectives," said Shri Sriram Krishnan, Chief Business Development Officer, NSE.

Analysts believe the development will enhance trading in the commodity and energy markets and will help investors at large.

"MCX has a strong presence in commodity and energy derivatives trading. With the entry of NSE, the competition in the market is set to rise which will ultimately benefit retail traders and investors," said Ajay Kedia, Director, Kedia Advisory.

While expecting no immediate major impact on MCX volumes, Kedia said that NSE can get an advantage of its huge equity client base.

"NSE has a huge equity client base and it can leverage this to its advantage. Moreover investors will now also get an arbitrage opportunity while trading in these contracts," Kedia said.

Moreover, with the foreign portfolio investors (FPIs) now allowed to participate in cash settled non-agricultural commodity derivative contracts and indices, it would benefit the overall commodity derivatives market, he added.

WTI is the underlying commodity of the New York Mercantile Exchange's (NYMEX) oil futures contract. The crude oil derivatives, Brent and WTI, are the most traded products in the commodity derivative space.

Headline: NSE Introduces Futures Contracts for WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas

<https://thenfapost.com/nse-introduces-futures-contracts-for-wti-crude-oil-and-natural-gas/>

The National Stock Exchange (NSE), India's leading stock exchange, has recently launched rupee-denominated NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts in its Commodity derivatives segment. This move follows the approval received from the Securities & Exchange Board of India (SEBI) and a data licensing agreement signed with CME Group, which allows NSE to list, trade, and settle these derivative contracts on its platform. By adding these contracts, NSE has expanded its product offering in the Energy basket as well as its overall commodity segment.

The introduction of these futures contracts aims to provide market participants with effective trading and hedging opportunities by offering key energy products on a single trading platform. This move is expected to benefit traders and investors by allowing them to manage price risk and meet their trading objectives more efficiently. NSE has established itself as a trusted exchange over the past three decades, thanks to its robust technology platform that ensures high levels of safety and resilience for trading. Furthermore, the National Clearing Limited (NCL) provides settlement guarantee and collateral fungibility across all NSE market segments, enhancing convenience for market participants.

Shri Sriram Krishnan, Chief Business Development Officer at NSE, expressed his pleasure in announcing the launch of the NYMEX WTI Crude Oil and Natural Gas futures contracts. He emphasized NSE's commitment to providing a reliable platform for market participants and highlighted the potential benefits these contracts offer. Traders and investors are interested in further details about contract specifications, participation by Foreign Portfolio Investors (FPIs), transaction charges, and other relevant information can refer to the latest circulars issued by the Exchange and Clearing Corporation.
