1. An Organisation Built with Intent

The beliefs, principles, and operating philosophy that have shaped Groww

Our Story

It started with four.

Every big story starts small. Ours began in 2016 – with four friends, a café in Bangalore, and a question they couldn't shake.

HOW WE STARTED

It was 2016. Lalit, Harsh, Neeraj and Ishan met in a small café in Indiranagar, Bangalore, to talk about something they were all passionate about – investing.

Back then, investing wasn't for everyone. It was complicated, slow, and felt like an exclusive club for a few.

But India was changing. UPI, Aadhaar, and online platforms were booming. The country was going digital.

What if investing could be simple, accessible, and delightful – for everyone?

That question became Groww.

It started with four.
And then there were more.

1.0

GROWW IS BORN

The first step was a mutual fund investment platform.

No jargon. No hidden fees. Investors loved it.

For the first time, they could research funds on their own, decide where to put their money, and invest by themselves. They could finally take control of their wealth.

Groww quickly became the go-to platform for mutual funds.

But India wanted more.

So we launched the next big thing: Stocks. Uncomplicated, fast, and transparent.

We didn't know it then, but it would go on to change the investing landscape in India forever. Within weeks, millions of investors began buying stocks on Groww. New or experienced, young or old, we were glad to welcome everyone.

Because after all, yeh market sabka hai.

2.0

A NEW INDIA

Our mission was bigger than a platform.

We wanted to help India truly Groww, and that meant helping India understand investing, so people could make better decisions about their money.

This gave rise to an ecosystem of initiatives, from Groww Digest to our social channels to Ab India Karega Groww.

Today, close to 10 million Indians read Groww Digest every month. On YouTube, we're the go-to channel for over 5 million people who want to understand the markets, investing, and finance in multiple languages.

Ab India Karega Groww

Since 2019, Ab India Karega Groww has taken us to cities big and small across India to share what we know about investing. Along the way, we've met lakhs of investors: people who've shared their stories, their experiences, and their honest feedback with us.

3.0

ONWARDS AND UPWARDS

India's No. 1 Stock Broker

We had set out to build the best investment platform, and we did. With IPOs, ETFs, Intraday, and F&O, and features like Step-up SIP, advanced charts, events, news, pledge, and Safe Exit, we made sure investors and traders had everything they needed.

In under four years of launching stocks, we became India's No. 1 stock broker, with the highest number of active investors building their wealth toward their goals and dreams.

Saare Groww kar rahe hain.

In FY26, Groww accounted for over 43% of new SIPs created in India.

Our investors span pincodes from Srinagar to Port Blair and Jamnagar to Imphal, covering 97% of India.

4.0

A BOLD FUTURE

Somewhere along the way, as we built Groww and listened to our customers, we noticed something: there was a gap between what India had to invest in and what India actually wanted.

In 2023, we acquired Indiabulls Mutual Fund, rebranded it as Groww Mutual Fund, and set about turning it around.

Our first fund? India's first Nifty Total Market Index Fund, giving access to 750 stocks in a single investment. For many investors, that kind of diversification was revolutionary. In less than a year, it crossed ₹100 crore AUM. This was proof of something we've always believed:

When you truly understand your customers, you build products they love.

So we kept going, from thematic funds like EV, defence, and railways to core categories like small cap and multi cap.

In 2025, we took our next big step to close that gap: W.

W is a wealth-management platform built to help investors in India move beyond retail investing into PMS, AIFs, and even private markets. These were opportunities that once felt out of reach, and with W, we're opening the doors to a whole new world of investing.

And while we began by simplifying investing for millions, there was one community that needed something more – the ones who live the markets every single day, who look beyond simplicity for precision, speed, and depth.

For them, we built advanced tools like Screeners, Groww Charts, Margin Trading Facility (MTF), Option Chain, Quick Basket, and more.

Looking back, from an idea in a café to where we are today, we've come a long way. And we've loved every moment of it.

But there's still a long way to go.

Because India wants to Groww.

And we'll keep building, and growing, together.

Chairman's Message

Dear Shareholders,

I am honoured to present the first Annual Report of Billionbrains Garage Ventures Limited (Groww) as the Chairman.

Over the last decade, Groww has evolved from a simple idea to make investing accessible to every Indian into one of India's most trusted financial platforms. FY 2025-26 marks not only a year of strong financial and operational performance, but also an important milestone in our journey as a publicly listed company.

Groww's low-cost distribution platform, combined with strong operating leverage, provides the Company with a significant competitive advantage. I am pleased to report that the consolidated revenue from operations for the year stood at ₹46,446 million, showing growth of 19%. Consolidated EBITDA grew to ₹27,464 million, growing by 16% YoY. Consolidated PAT was ₹20,830 million, achieving 14% growth. During the year, we also saw sustained market share gains across multiple products. The performance for the year has been delivered despite the impact of regulatory changes introduced the previous year, owing to the Company's disciplined execution and resilient business model.

A mission aligned with Capital Market transformation

Over the last decade, Indian capital markets have undergone a significant transformation, and Groww has been at the forefront of this change.

For any economy wishing to efficiently channelise its household savings towards long-term risk capital, a vibrant capital market is a must. Traditionally, Indian household savings were first directed towards tangible assets like real estate and gold, followed by fixed-income assets, and then into equity (whether direct or via mutual funds), which came a distant third. As a consequence, many regulatory and policy changes over the last decade were designed to encourage greater household savings in equity instruments.

In 2016, Groww's founding team rightly identified this evolving landscape and changing investor preference towards equity. They simplified and democratised the mutual fund investment journey for investors, making it entirely digital. They also created a massive moat by providing investors with a single platform where low-cost direct plans from all AMCs were available.

In the decade since, the success of their platform has been reflected not only in the financial numbers but also in their coverage of over 97% of Indian pincodes. Today, Groww commands a market share of 43% in new SIPs created in FY 2025-26 and 3.4% market share in retail Mutual Fund assets as at the end of FY 2025-26. The share of direct plan assets has increased to ~28% of the equity mutual fund AUM, up from 9.6% when Groww commenced operations.

Groww has also been instrumental in multiplying India's retail participation in direct equity through discounted brokerage rates across the cash and derivatives trade, and via seamless IPO participation. The positive flywheel from all these changes has today increased the share of equity and mutual funds in annual Indian household savings to ~15% in FY 2024-25, up from ~2% a decade ago. Thus, helping India's retail investors truly participate in the country's economic progress.

Scaling governance and responsibility

Today, the Board's role has evolved from enabling rapid growth to building institutional durability, regulatory credibility, and stakeholder confidence. In financial services, trust compounds far more slowly than growth and can be lost far more quickly. As custodians of millions of investor relationships, we recognise that governance, transparency, and responsible innovation are not only enablers but also foundational to sustainable growth itself.

As a technology and platform services provider, we recognise that long-term success depends not only on innovation and scale, but also on maintaining resilient systems and high standards of accountability. Our risk management framework is centred on safeguarding data, maintaining platform resilience, promoting the responsible use of technology and analytics, and ensuring transparency in user experiences. These principles are embedded across our technology, governance, and operational processes.

A trusted platform should empower users to make better long-term financial decisions rather than merely maximise activity. As we continue to scale, our commitment remains unchanged to balance innovation with responsibility, technology with transparency, and growth with strong governance. These principles will continue to guide our efforts to build a resilient institution that delivers sustainable outcomes for all stakeholders.

Investing in communities and ecosystems

At Groww, we believe that our success entails a responsibility to contribute meaningfully to the communities and ecosystems that enable our growth. As we continue to build one of India's most trusted financial platforms, we remain equally committed to creating a positive and lasting social impact beyond our business.

I am pleased to share that during FY 2025-26, we strengthened our institutional commitment to social responsibility by incorporating the Groww Foundation, a wholly-owned Section 8 subsidiary that will serve as the primary vehicle for our long-term community initiatives. Through the Groww Foundation, we are focused on creating opportunities that can transform lives through education, promote environmental sustainability, preserve culture and heritage, and support inclusive community development.

Our CSR efforts during FY 2025-26 were directed towards initiatives that have the potential to create an enduring impact. These included the Groww Scholar Program across leading educational institutions, support for learning and skill-development initiatives, and projects aimed at enhancing environmental sustainability and urban public spaces. These interventions reflect our belief that investing in human potential and sustainable communities creates value for future generations.

Team that builds Groww

Groww's success is intrinsically linked to the success of our employees. We have built a young, dynamic, and customer-focused workforce with an average employee age of 30 years. Women constitute 30.6% of our overall workforce, reflecting our ongoing commitment to building a more diverse and inclusive organisation.

We remain focused on strengthening employee engagement and leadership development, and on creating a workplace that enables our teams to grow, innovate, and deliver exceptional outcomes for our customers and stakeholders.

Looking Ahead

For the coming year, our energies are fully focused on diversifying our revenue streams, expanding Groww's product basket, and increasing user engagement.

We will focus on making Groww a platform that integrates investing and wealth management for our users. This will help us improve user loyalty and retention across a broader base of solutions, leading to better monetisation and customer lifetime value. We will also maximise our engagement with younger, digitally-native investors, many of whom may be first-time equity participants. Additionally, we will continue to build and scale up our wealth and asset management businesses.

Artificial Intelligence may reshape how financial advice and customer engagement evolve. At Groww, we are investing thoughtfully in AI capabilities to improve personalisation, investor education, risk awareness, and decision support, while maintaining appropriate human oversight, transparency, and ethical guardrails. We are building AI-enabled advisory capabilities to provide users with greater access to insights into asset allocation, fund selection, and investing across asset classes.

Groww's first decade was marked with innovation and the exhilaration of building the unprecedented. As we celebrate our 10th anniversary, the second decade looks even more exciting, with the potential to create a meaningful impact on the country's financial landscape.

I am confident in Groww's ability to strengthen its position in a competitive and constantly evolving market. An end-to-end platform with 10+ products across users' investment lifecycle, in-house tech architecture, with 80% of new customers acquired organically, and a customer-centric culture are advantages which will compound over the time and are difficult to replicate.

Lastly, I thank all the stakeholders – our employees, customers, regulators, and partners – for their unwavering support over the last decade. I also extend a warm welcome to our new shareholders who have placed their trust in Groww through our public listing. We recognise the responsibility that comes with this trust and are committed to creating sustainable, long-term value for all of you.

Warm regards,
Gaurang Shah

2. Our Strategy

The strategic choices that position Groww at the centre of India's capital market expansion

CEO's Message

Dear Shareholders,

This year is special for us because we completed 10 years of our journey in May. We started Groww with a purpose to make investing democratic in India – we wanted to build a platform where we could ask our family and friends to build wealth.

We also identified early in our journey the core levers to build our platform. These levers were:

1. Always doing right for the customer.
2. Crafting the best user experience for customers.
3. Leveraging technology.

As we complete 10 years, we continue introspecting—what are the core levers that will continue working for us, and what new levers do we need to adopt to continue growing, with the goal to become the largest wealth management platform in the country.

Our Strategy: Platform and Product

So far our strategy was simple – keep investing in the platform to make customer experience delightful and keep launching more products to provide holistic wealth for customers.

On the platform side, we believe in building infrastructure in-house, leveraging the strength of our 600+ tech talent. And hence we build various layers, like onboarding, payments, risk management systems, customer support AI – all in-house. This enables us to provide a world-class customer experience, providing a big delta compared to alternate options. In addition, in-house software helps us in better margins because of economies of costs.

On products, we have kept our ears to the ground and sequenced products in line with customer demand. We started with mutual funds, followed by stocks, intraday trading, derivatives, IPOs, and more products. Last year, we launched MTF and commodities.

The Next Frontier

What is the next frontier for us?

1. Continuous Compounding of Trust We strongly believe in continuous compounding of trust in the platform. That means continue doing what we have been doing on both the platform and the products. Listening to customers and continuing building what they want creates a virtuous cycle for us – in customer acquisition, retention, engagement and, subsequently, in monetisation. On the platform side, we are investing in multiple areas including our OMS, our in-house charts, our data platform, and AI infrastructure. On products, we are in the process of launching bonds. In addition, 915 provides a fully customisable trading platform for power traders.

2. From Transactions to Wealth Management We are getting started with another big theme that will be our focus for the next 10 years. We will move from being just a transactional platform. We have now ~17 million customers on the platform who are emotionally connected with us. Through wealth management, we intend to help them build real wealth in the right way. This will happen through W (our HNI-focused platform) and MF Prime (our retail and affluent-focused platform). We are very early in our journey – and like other products we have built so far, we feel we will take good time to craft the Groww-level customer experience for wealth management. The Fisdom acquisition has helped us accelerate on our journey.

3. Identifying New Opportunities

Third, we can continue identifying new opportunities in the market, or unmet customer needs. These are more opportunistic bets where we do thorough analysis to explore if we can create meaningful value for customers and shareholders. We started asset management a few years back with the acquisition of an AMC for around $10m. We have signed up to raise ₹5,800 million by divesting 23% to State Street Global Advisors, Inc. – one of the largest asset managers. The primary idea of the AMC was to leverage our brand and our tech infrastructure to launch multiple products. Now with State Street, we get the expertise in passives and quant fund management and we also open the opportunity for cross-border investing. The AMC is a long-term bet for us.

Building Anti-Fragility

Another question that is asked to us frequently is the dependence of our business on macros and market cycles. While we can't comment on future market directions, we try to keep building anti-fragility in the business.

- Product Diversification: Customers' preferences keep changing based on market conditions. With our multi-product strategy, we help customers diversify their holdings across 10+ products.
- Balance Sheet Strength: Keeping a healthy balance sheet, with good amount of cash buffers, and keeping our fixed costs under control helps us navigate through any situation.

In just 10 years, we have seen Covid and multiple wars disrupting the markets and we feel your company has managed them well. We will continue to build our capabilities to be prepared for any conditions, while ensuring we are positioned to emerge as an even stronger company.

The Impact of AI

I want to end this letter with another of the frequent questions asked to us – how will AI impact our business or how are we leveraging AI. We look at AI as a great boost to businesses like ours. Well-regulated consumer franchises built on customer trust can leverage AI to continue building better experiences for customers.

In addition, AI is helping improve the productivity of people, leading to faster shipping. At Groww, we have been able to see the impact in both these ways. Through products like GR-1 and our agentic chatbot we will be able to improve customer experience significantly. On the productivity side, we have seen massive improvements.

Looking Ahead

That's all for now. We look forward to an interesting financial year ahead. Grateful to have you on this journey with us – that we feel has just started.

Warm regards,
Lalit Keshre

Built Around Ownership and Speed

Building a company that compounds for decades is not only about strategy or organisational structure, but also the culture embedded within it.

Pod-based operating model

We have a pod-based team structure, where we operate through lean cross-functional teams that have end-to-end ownership of their domain. Each pod is decentralised to support faster independent decision-making. This reduces hierarchical drag, ensures alignment of customer insights and product action, and drives business outcomes. It enables continuous experimentation and promotes a culture of innovation, resulting in expedited product, service, or app launch and adaptation to regulatory changes.

Ownership as a cultural anchor

At Groww, we operate with an entrepreneurial culture, where all employees are encouraged to take ownership and stay invested in the organisation's growth. Our ownership-driven approach is guided by ethos and values that shape our decisions. They translate ownership into consistent execution, while reinforcing a culture centred on customer trust and long-term value creation.

Vision

To empower India by making financial services simple, responsible and delightful.

3. Performance with Discipline

Delivering growth, operating leverage and capital efficiency in a structurally expanding market

CFO's Message

Dear Shareholders,

In FY 2025–26 we got listed; it's an important milestone but it comes with even more focus on value creation and groww'ing our company with financial discipline, operating efficiency, and strong governance.

During the year, our consolidated Revenue from Operations grew to ₹46,446 million, supported by higher customer activity, continued platform adoption, and growth across newer revenue streams. Total Income stood at ₹48,159 million, while Profit after Tax increased to ₹20,830 million, despite headwinds from regulatory changes and market conditions, reflecting the resilience of our business model. We focus on three things: 1) Acquiring maximum number of customers 2) Retain existing customers and growing their wealth 3) Launching products that can increase the wallet share of our customers on our platform. As our company has a heavy tech focus, we have huge operating leverage and our profitability scales with growth.

Our growth for this year has been broad-based, driven by growth in users and increasing penetration of new products. The platform continued to benefit from deeper customer engagement, with 16.7 million Active Users and Total Customer Assets of ₹2,958 billion as of March 31, 2026. At the same time, we remain focused on efficiency. Our tech-led model allows us to serve incremental customers with minimal incremental cost. We continue to invest in in-house tech platforms, AI, and reliability to keep on compounding customer trust and experience.

We also strengthened our balance sheet during the year. The successful IPO enhanced our capital position and liquidity profile, enabling us to invest in long-term opportunities while maintaining financial flexibility. Our focus remains on prudent capital allocation: investing behind products, technology, risk management, and customer trust, while ensuring that growth remains profitable and cash-conscious.

Looking ahead, our priorities are clear. We will continue to acquire customers, grow revenue streams, deepen product adoption, scale wealth and asset management. We will do this while preserving the financial discipline that has shaped Groww's journey so far. We believe this approach will help us compound value for our customers, shareholders, employees, and all stakeholders over the long term.

Warm regards,

Groww'ing with Improved Profitability

Operating Leverage and Profitability

Groww's profitability is an outcome of three principles working together, being customer-first, technology-led, and asset-light. Together, they create a model where revenue scales faster than costs, margins expand, and profit converts to cash, enabling disciplined reinvestment into product innovation, platform capabilities, and customer acquisition.

Levers to grow our revenue

1. Growing our customer base

Continued investments across a customer's investing and wealth journey, backed by sustained efforts in education, awareness, access, and simplification, have helped grow our market share. Together, they've established Groww as an all-India "pull" brand with strong household appeal and recall. These efforts also help drive organic word-of-mouth marketing.

Over 80% of new customers acquired over the last five years have come organically without any paid marketing channels. This ensures growth compounds without a proportionate increase in acquisition cost, resulting in lower Cost to Grow, shorter payback periods and stronger long-term unit economics.

2. Groww'th of our customers' wealth

As a customer's assets grow over time, their engagement on Groww tends to increase. They hold more stocks, buy and sell more frequently, invest larger amounts, and trade more actively. This leads to wallet share compounding and building steadily on Groww.

The compounding effect of our model is reflected in customers' growing activity on the platform.

Total Customer Assets at Groww

Total Customer Assets on Groww platform have grown at a CAGR of ~250% from March 31, 2018 to ₹2,957,759 Mn as of March 31, 2026. Mutual Funds accounted for 53% of the Total Customer Assets.

Affluent Active Users on Groww

37% of Total Customer Assets were held by Affluent Users, up from 20% as of March 31, 2023.

Our customer cohorts show consistent multi-year growth – for example, the FY 2021-22 cohort grew average AUM/user 5.3x by FY 2025-26, and the FY 2022-23 cohort reached 6.2x within four years. This sustained customer wealth expansion reflects deepening engagement with our existing users.

3. Groww'ing product adoption among our users

Our platform enables customers to progressively expand their financial journey through a broad range of products and services designed to meet their diverse and evolving needs. Customers typically start with a single offering and, over time, adopt additional products, which drives deeper engagement.

The average retention of Active Users who have completed 36 months on Groww, as of March 31, 2026, is 80-84% across cohorts, as shown on the right.

Customers join us when they're young, at the start of their financial journey and we equip them with content, tools / features, and products for disciplined, long-term investing. Most of our customers stay invested with us for the long term.

Previously, the default for investing was Fixed Deposits, Gold, and Real Estate. Our efforts have helped to make Mutual Fund SIPs the new default for savings. By lowering the entry barrier to as little as ₹100 and facilitating a clean, user-friendly interface, our platform has attracted Gen Z and millennial investors. We have made investing accessible to many of these students and first-time earners, long before they accumulate significant capital.

This shift is complemented by our efforts to make finance easier to understand by normalising 'Investment ki Bhaasha' in everyday language, through vernacular content across Hindi, Tamil, Telugu, and other languages. Further, through our asset-light, fully digital onboarding stack (Aadhaar, eKYC, and UPI), we have democratised access to the market, tools, and institutional-grade data for all classes of investors.

Driving Capital Markets Expansion in India

Prior to 2016, investing in India's capital markets was difficult. Products were unfamiliar, complex, and jargon-loaded. Onboarding required paperwork and physical verification. Access was concentrated in metros and dependent on intermediaries. Costs were high and opaque. Service was offline, with limited reach and limited hours. These acted as a barrier for common retail investors.

New-age digital-first platforms, with Groww at the forefront, changed this on every dimension, aided by regulations, affordable internet, smartphone penetration, and the digital India Stack. Together, these created the conditions for a structural shift in how Indians access financial markets. Physical onboarding got replaced with instant eKYC, jargon with educational content, opaque pricing with transparent fees, intermediated access with self-serve interfaces, and limited offline service with 24x7 multilingual support. This converted latent interest into active participation, driving sustained growth in investor base, market activity, and capital formation.

Taking leadership in driving market participation

Functioning as the market's primary acquisition engine, Groww has been actively expanding the entire pool. In periods where the broader retail broking industry experiences steady or flat growth, a disproportionate share of new market participants continued to choose Groww.

Management Discussion and Analysis

Economic Overview

Global Economy

The global economy entered a period of increasing complexity in 2025, with growth supported by easing inflation and investment activity, while geopolitical developments and trade uncertainties continued to weigh on the outlook. World GDP expanded by 3.4%, supported by continued investment in technology, resilient labour markets and moderating inflationary pressures. Advanced economies grew by 1.9%, while emerging market and developing economies outperformed with growth of 4.4%, led by India and China.

Real GDP Growth

P = Projections

Global inflation eased to 4.1%, reflecting the impact of restrictive monetary policies and improving supply conditions. World trade volumes grew by 5.1% during the year, supported by steady demand, strong technology-related exports and an improvement in global trade activity. Monetary policy across major economies remained cautious and data-dependent, as central banks balanced growth considerations against lingering inflation risk.

At the same time, geopolitical developments continued to shape the global outlook. The ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict and escalating tensions in West Asia remained significant sources of uncertainty for global markets. Concerns surrounding energy security, shipping routes and supply-chain disruptions contributed to volatility in commodity markets and periodic increases in crude oil and LNG prices.

Trade policy uncertainty also persisted despite signs of improved dialogue among major economies, with tariffs and geopolitical considerations continuing to influence investment and cross-border trade decisions. These factors reinforced a more cautious global operating environment and remain key downside risks to growth, inflation and international trade prospects.

The global economy is projected to move toward steady growth of 3.1% in 2026, before easing slightly to 3.2% in 2027. A move toward technology-led productivity drives this progress, as artificial intelligence becomes more integrated into industrial and medical fields. This shift helps balance the effects of trade tensions and changing political pressures.

Indian Economy

The Indian economy in 2025-26 demonstrated steady strength against a global backdrop of trade uncertainty and market swings. The Second Advance Estimates finalised real GDP growth at 7.6% and Gross Value Added at 7.7%, highlighting the durability of a growth model led by domestic demand. Strong agricultural output supported rural incomes, while urban consumption improved due to steady employment and lower inflation.

(Source: PIB)

SAE = Second Advance Estimated; P = Projections

(Source: PIB \(SAE\), PIB \(FAE\), MoSPI)

India continues to remain one of the world's fastest-growing major economies, supported by resilient domestic demand, strong investment activity, and ongoing structural reforms. The country is expected to maintain its strong growth momentum and may improve its global ranking over the medium term as economic expansion continues.

Private consumption remains a primary driver, aided by lower inflation and higher real incomes. Investments increased with public capital expenditure of ₹12.2 lakh crore (as per the Union Budget 2026-27), which enhanced infrastructure and spurred activity in manufacturing, construction, and energy. Government initiatives like Viksit Bharat 2047 promote self-reliance and capacity building despite external pressures.

(Source: PIB, PIB 2, MoSPI)

The outlook for the Indian economy remains positive and stable. For the upcoming FY 2026-27, real GDP is expected to grow between 6.8% and 7.2%. This is expected to be driven by continued government spending on infrastructure, a steady increase in private sector investment, and a strengthening manufacturing base. Additionally, the services sector is expected to maintain its consistent expansion.

The strength of domestic economic fundamentals, supported by policy continuity, infrastructure investment and rising financialisation, continued to provide a favourable backdrop for India's financial markets. However, global geopolitical developments, trade-related uncertainties and shifts in international capital flows influenced investor sentiment during the year, contributing to periodic volatility across capital market segments.

(Source: PIB)

Industry Overview

Indian Capital Market

The Indian capital markets remained resilient during FY 2025-26, supported by the strength of domestic economic fundamentals despite a challenging global environment marked by geopolitical tensions, trade-related uncertainties and fluctuating capital flows. These factors contributed to periods of market volatility and cautious investor sentiment, resulting in a moderation of new users/demat accounts and also in trading turnover and the pace of new investor additions during parts of the year. NSE active client has dropped from 49.2 million in Mar'25 to 45.7 million in Mar'26. However, the broader market ecosystem continued to strengthen. Sustained domestic participation, active fundraising and an expanding investor base helped support market activity, while the long-term outlook remains underpinned by rising financialisation of household savings, increasing equity ownership and deeper penetration of capital market products across the country.

Retail participation continued to be a key driver of market development. More than 235 lakh demat accounts were added during the year, taking the total number of demat accounts beyond 22 crore by March 2026. This growth reflects increasing investor awareness, wider adoption of digital investment platforms and growing participation from investors beyond metropolitan centres. Domestic investors continued to play an increasingly important role in market liquidity and price discovery, reducing the market's dependence on foreign capital flows.

Technology and digitalisation continued to reshape the investment landscape. Mobile-first investing platforms, simplified account opening processes, and greater access to financial education have significantly improved market accessibility. The rapid adoption of digital channels has enabled a broader section of the population to participate in equity markets, mutual funds and other investment products, accelerating the formalisation of savings and investments.

Looking ahead, India's capital markets are expected to benefit from favourable demographic trends, rising household participation in financial assets, continued digital adoption and growing investor awareness. These structural drivers are expected to support the long-term expansion of the investment ecosystem and reinforce India's position as one of the world's most dynamic retail-led capital markets.

Indian Personal Loan and Secured Loan Industry

The Indian personal loan and secured loan industry recorded healthy growth during FY 2025-26, supported by improving credit demand, easing interest rates and continued government capital expenditure. According to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), aggregate bank credit surpassed ₹213 lakh crore as of March 2026, providing a favourable environment for retail lending. The personal loan segment remained one of the key contributors to credit growth, expanding by 16.2% during the year, compared with 11.7% in FY 2024-25.

The industry's growth reflects a gradual shift towards secured lending, driven by greater borrower preference for collateral-backed financing and prudent lending practices adopted by financial institutions. The increasing share of vehicle finance and gold loans in new loan originations highlights this changing credit mix, while lenders continue to maintain a disciplined approach towards portfolio quality and risk management.

Technology continued to play an important role in strengthening the lending ecosystem. The adoption of artificial intelligence (AI), Account Aggregator-based cash flow assessment and digital collateral verification has improved underwriting capabilities, accelerated loan processing and enhanced credit assessment. These digital advancements are supporting wider access to formal credit while enabling lenders to maintain operational efficiency and asset quality.

AMC Ecosystem

The Indian Asset Management Company (AMC) industry has emerged as one of the fastest-growing segments of the financial services sector, driven by increasing financialisation of household savings, rising investor awareness, and sustained regulatory initiatives aimed at enhancing transparency and investor protection.

Digital-first platforms and fintech innovations are democratising access to professional wealth management. The integration of artificial intelligence and machine learning has moved from productivity experiments to a core operating layer for advisory services. AI-augmented advisors are now leveraging data analytics to provide personalised “next-best-action” insights, while automated back-office systems have streamlined reconciliations and exception handling.

Passive investment products, including index funds and Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs), have also gained substantial traction as low-cost alternatives for market participation. By March 2026, passive fund assets stood at approximately ₹14.12 lakh crore, reflecting a growing preference for benchmark-linked investing among both retail and institutional segments. As the AUM-to-GDP ratio in India remains below global averages, the white space for further expansion remains significant, positioning the wealth management and AMC sector as a vital engine for the nation’s economic stability and capital formation.

(Source: AMFI)

Wealth Management Landscape

India’s wealth management industry demonstrated resilience during FY2025–26 despite heightened global uncertainties, geopolitical developments, and periods of domestic equity market volatility. Structural drivers such as rising household financial savings, increasing financialisation of assets, growing retail participation, and rapid digital adoption continued to support long-term industry growth.

The mutual fund industry, a key pillar of the wealth management ecosystem, closed FY2025–26 with Assets Under Management (AUM) of ₹73.73 lakh crore, registering a 12.2% year-on-year increase despite significant market corrections during the latter part of the financial year. The moderation in growth compared to the previous year primarily reflected mark-to-market impacts rather than a slowdown in investor participation.

Retail investor engagement remained robust throughout the year. Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) contributions reached a record monthly high of ₹32,087 crore in March 2026, underscoring investors’ continued preference for disciplined, long-term investing despite volatile market conditions. Equity mutual funds recorded strong net inflows during the year, reflecting sustained confidence in India’s long-term growth prospects.

The emergence of digital -first platforms is playing a pivotal role in democratising access to capital markets. These platforms empower a broader range of investors by providing simplified information and user-friendly tools. This allows individuals to build and manage their portfolios more effectively while benefiting from transparent and accessible financial content.

Revenue from Operations

Revenue from operations increased by 19.04% to ₹46,445.79 million in FY 2025-26 from ₹39,017.23 million in FY 2024-25, driven by higher client activity across the Company's platform, continued customer acquisition and growth in lending-related income streams.

The plan was subsequently cancelled during the year ended March 31, 2025, resulting in the reversal of the accrued liability.

To the Members of Billionbrains Garage Ventures Limited (formerly known as Billionbrains Garage Ventures Private Limited)

Report on the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Opinion

We have audited the standalone financial statements of Billionbrains Garage Ventures Limited (formerly known as Billionbrains Garage Ventures Private Limited) (the "Company"), its employee welfare trust which comprise the standalone balance sheet as at March 31, 2026, and the standalone statement of profit and loss (including other comprehensive income), standalone statement of changes in equity and standalone statement of cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the standalone financial statements, including material accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid standalone financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 ("Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the state of affairs of the Company as at March 31, 2026, and its profit and other comprehensive income, changes in equity and its cash flows for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) specified under Section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those SAs are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the standalone financial statements under the provisions of the Act and the Rules thereunder, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion on the standalone financial statements.

Key Audit Matter

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the standalone financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the standalone financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

General Information Technology (IT) Environment and accuracy of Revenue

The key audit matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
The Company's primary operation is to provide its own software platform (IT systems) to its subsidiaries for their business operations and earns income from these subsidiaries, as per the agreements entered into with them. The Company's revenue from operations is dependent on revenue earned by such subsidiaries, wherein the revenue and related accounts of these subsidiaries are largely automated and rely significantly on IT systems of the Company. We have considered accuracy of revenue earned by the Company from its subsidiaries, as a key audit matter, because of existence of presumed fraud risk, complexity of IT systems and significance of volumes of data processed by IT systems in computation of revenue of these subsidiaries.	Our audit procedures to assess the IT systems and controls relating to revenue process included the following: - Performed testing of the design and implementation of General Information Technology controls ("GITCs") for the audit period, including controls over access to program and data, program changes, system changes and computer operations (such as job processing, data backup, system backup, incident management) over financial accounting and reporting systems related to revenue process (referred to as 'in-scope systems'). - Testing the operating effectiveness of GITCs for the audit period over the in-scope systems. - Performed testing of design and implementation and operating effectiveness of the internal controls relating to accuracy of revenue. - Obtained an understanding of the IT infrastructure layers supporting the in-scope systems, including operating systems and databases and tested general IT controls for such layers where relevant to operation of the IT automated controls.

The key audit matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
	- Obtained an understanding of Cybersecurity Risk Management Framework followed by the entity for information assets, including information, applications systems, databases, networks and data storage systems. - Recomputed the accuracy of revenue earned from subsidiaries to ensure those are accounted as per terms of agreement.

Other Information

The Company's Management and Board of Directors are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, but does not include the financial statements and auditor's report thereon. The annual report is expected to be made available to us after the date of this auditor's report.

Our opinion on the standalone financial statements does not cover the other information and we will not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the standalone financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above when it becomes available and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the standalone financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

When we read the annual report, if we conclude that there is a material misstatement therein, we are required to communicate the matter to those charged with governance and take necessary actions, as applicable under the relevant laws and regulations.

Management's and Board of Directors Responsibilities for the Standalone Financial Statements

The Company's Management and Board of Directors are responsible for the matters stated in Section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view of the state of affairs, profit/ loss and other comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) specified under Section 133 of the Act. The Management, Board of Directors of the Company and Board of Trustees of the employee welfare trusts ("Trust") are responsible for maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of Company and Trust and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the standalone financial statements, the Management, Board of Directors and Board of Trustees are responsible for assessing the ability of Company and Trust to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Board of Directors/Board of Trustees either intends to liquidate the Company/Trust or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Board of Directors/Board of Trustees are responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of Company/Trust.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the standalone financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these standalone financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the standalone financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under Section 143(3) (i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Management and Board of Directors.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the Management and Board of Directors use of the going concern basis of accounting in preparation of standalone financial statements and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the standalone financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the standalone financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the standalone financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance of the Company regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the standalone financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when,

in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Annexure B

to the Independent Auditor's Report on the standalone financial statements of Billionbrains Garage Ventures Limited (formerly known as Billionbrains Garage Ventures Private Limited) for the year ended March 31, 2026

Report on the internal financial controls with reference to the aforesaid standalone financial statements under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Act

(Referred to in paragraph 2(A)(g) under 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' section of our report of even date)

Opinion

We have audited the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements of Billionbrains Garage Ventures Limited (formerly known as Billionbrains Garage Ventures Private Limited) ("the Company") as of March 31, 2026 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements and such internal financial controls were operating effectively as at March 31, 2026, based on the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of such internal controls stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the "Guidance Note").

Management's and Board of Directors' Responsibilities for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's Management and the Board of Directors are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing, prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements were established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the standalone financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls with Reference to Financial Statements

A company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements include those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with Reference to Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

These standalone financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Ind AS 1- Presentation of Financial Statements as notified under the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 read with Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013.

The Balance Sheet, the Statement of Changes in Equity, the Statement of Profit and Loss and disclosures are presented in the format prescribed under Division II of Schedule III of the Companies Act, as amended from time to time that are required to comply with Ind AS. The Statement of Cash Flows has been presented as per the requirements of Ind AS 7 Statement of Cash Flows.

The financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2026 are being authorized for issue in accordance with a resolution of the directors on April 20, 2026.

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of the financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

B. Basis of Preparation

The standalone financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention and on accrual basis, except for certain financial assets and liabilities.

C. Functional and Presentation Currency

Accounting policies have been consistently applied except where newly issued accounting standard is initially adopted or a revision to an existing accounting standard requires a change in the accounting policy hitherto in use. The Company's financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees (INR)/(Rs.), which is also its functional currency and all values are rounded to the nearest millions, except when otherwise indicated.

a. Property, plant and equipment

i. Recognition and measurement

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount.

Items of property, plant and equipment are initially recorded at cost. Cost comprises acquisition cost, borrowing cost if capitalization criteria are met, and directly attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for the intended use. Subsequent expenditure relating to property, plant and equipment is capitalized only when it is probable that future economic benefit associated with these will flow with the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

Capital work-in-progress are property, plant and equipment which are not yet ready for their intended use. Advances given towards acquisition of fixed assets outstanding at each reporting date are shown as other non-financial assets. Depreciation is not recorded on capital work-in-progress until construction and installation is completed and assets are ready for its intended use.

Items of Property, plant and equipment that have been retired from active use and are held for disposal are stated at the lower of their net book value or net realisable value and are shown separately in the financial statements, if any.

ii. Depreciation

Depreciation provided on property, plant and equipment is calculated on a straight line basis using the rates arrived at based on the useful lives specified in Schedule II of the Act.

The estimated useful lives of items of property, plant and equipment for the current and comparative periods are as follows:

Asset	Useful life
Computers, laptops and peripherals	3 years
Furnitures and fixtures	10 years
Office equipments	5 years
Network equipments	6 years

Depreciation is provided on a straight line basis from the date the asset is ready for its intended use. In respect of assets sold, depreciation is provided up to the date of disposal. The residual values, estimated useful lives and methods of depreciation of property, plant and equipment are reviewed at the end of each financial year and changes if any, are accounted for on a prospective basis.

Improvements to leasehold premises are amortised over the non-cancellable period of the lease term or useful lives of the assets, whichever is lower.

iii. De-recognition

The carrying amount of an item of property, plant and equipment is derecognized on disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Gains or losses arising from de-recognition, disposal or retirement of an item of property, plant and equipment are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognised net, within "Other Income" or "Other Expenses", as the case maybe, in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the year of derecognition, disposal or retirement.

b. Intangible assets

i. Recognition and measurement

An intangible asset is recognised only when its cost can be measured reliably, and it is probable that the expected future economic benefits that are attributable to it will flow to the Company. Intangible assets are capitalised at cost of acquisition including cost attributable to readying the asset for use. Intangible assets acquired separately are measured on initial recognition at cost. Following initial recognition, intangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortization. The useful life of these intangible assets is estimated at 10 years with zero residual value.

ii. Amortisation

Amortisation is provided using the straight-line method on the cost of intangible assets over their estimated useful lives and is included in the statement of profit and loss.

c. Investment in subsidiaries

Investments in subsidiaries are measured at cost less accumulated impairment, if any.

d. Impairment of non-financial assets

The Company assesses at each balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired. An asset is impaired when the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its recoverable amount. An impairment loss is charged to the Statement of Profit and Loss in the year in which an asset is identified as impaired. An impairment loss is reversed to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined if no impairment loss had previously been recognised.

An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's or cash-generating unit's (CGU) net selling price and its value in use. The recoverable amount is determined for an individual asset, unless the asset does not generate cash inflows that are largely independent of those from other assets or groups of assets. Where the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining net selling price, recent market transactions are taken into account, if available. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used.

e. Financial instruments

i. Date of Recognition

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised in the Company's balance sheet when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

ii. Initial Measurement

Financial assets and liabilities are initially recognised on the trade date, i.e. the date on which the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Recognised financial instruments are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognised immediately in profit or loss.

iii. Classification and Subsequent Measurement

A. Financial assets

Based on the business model, the contractual characteristics of the financial assets and specific elections where appropriate, the Company classifies and measures financial assets in the following categories:

- a) Amortised cost: A financial assets is measured at amortised cost if it meets both of the following conditions and is not designated as at Fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL):
 - the asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets to collect contractual cash flows ('Asset held to collect contractual cash flows'); and
 - the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest ('SPPI') on the principal amount outstanding.

After initial measurement and based on the assessment of the business model as asset held to collect contractual cash flows and SPPI, such financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost using effective interest rate ('EIR') method. Interest income and impairment expenses are recognised in profit or loss. Interest income from these financial assets is included in finance income using the EIR method. Any gain and loss on derecognition is also recognised in profit or loss.

The EIR method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a financial instrument and of allocating interest over the relevant period. The EIR is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash flows (including all fees paid or received that form an integral part of the EIR, transaction costs and other premiums or discounts) through the expected life of the instrument, or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount on initial recognition.

- b) Fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI): Financial assets that are held within a business model whose objective is both to collect the contractual cash flows and to sell the assets, ('Contractual cash flows of assets collected through hold and sell model') and contractual cash flows that are SPPI, are subsequently measured at FVOCI. Movements in the carrying amount of such financial assets are recognised in Other Comprehensive Income ('OCI'), except interest / dividend income which is recognised in profit and loss. Amounts recorded in OCI are subsequently transferred to the statement of profit and loss in case of debt instruments however, in case of equity instruments it will be directly transferred to reserves. Equity instruments at FVOCI are not subject to an impairment assessment.
- c) Fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL): Financial assets, which do not meet the criteria for categorisation as at amortised cost or as FVOCI or either designated, are measured at FVTPL. Subsequent changes in fair value are recognised in profit or loss. The Company records investments in equity instruments and mutual funds at FVTPL.

B. Financial liabilities

Debt and equity instruments issued by the Company are classified as either financial liabilities or as equity in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangements and the definitions of a financial liability and an equity instrument.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

(a) Equity Instrument – An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of an entity after deducting all of its liabilities. Equity instruments issued by the Company is recognised at the proceeds received, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

(b) Financial Liabilities Financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost. The carrying amounts are initially recognised at fair value and subsequently determined based on the EIR method. Interest expense is recognised in profit or loss. Any gain or loss on de-recognition of financial liabilities is also recognised in profit or loss. The Company does not have any financial liability which are measured at FVTPL.

Financial liabilities are carried at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method. For trade and other payables, the carrying amount approximates the fair value due to short maturity of these instruments.

In order to show how fair values have been derived, financial instruments are classified based on a hierarchy of valuation techniques, as summarised below:

Level 1: Those where the inputs used in the valuation are unadjusted quoted prices from active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has access to at the measurement date. The Company considers markets as active only if there are sufficient trading activities with regards to the volume and liquidity of the identical assets or liabilities and when there are binding and exercisable price quotes available on the balance sheet date.

Level 2: Those where the inputs that are used for valuation and are significant, are derived from directly or indirectly observable market data available over the entire period of the instrument's life.

Level 3: Those that include one or more unobservable input that is significant to the measurement as whole.

Based on the Company's business model for managing the investments, the Company has classified its investments and securities for trade at FVTPL. Investment in subsidiaries is carried at deemed cost (previous GAAP carrying amount) as per Ind AS 27.

iv. Reclassification:

Financial assets and financial liabilities are not reclassified subsequent to their initial recognition, apart from the exceptional circumstances in which the Company acquires, disposes of, or terminates a business line or in the period the Company changes its business model for managing financial assets.

v. Derecognition:

(A) A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is derecognised when:

- The contractual rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset have expired, or
- The Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset and the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or the Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

If the Company neither transfers nor retains substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership and continues to control the transferred asset, the Company recognises its retained interest in the asset and an associated liability for the amount it may have to pay.

On derecognition of a financial asset, the difference between the carrying amount of the asset (or the carrying amount allocated to the portion of the asset derecognised) and the sum of (i) the consideration received (including any new asset obtained less any new liability assumed) and (ii) any cumulative gain or loss that had been recognised in OCI is recognised in profit or loss (except for equity instruments measured at FVOCI).

(B) A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged, cancelled or expires. Where an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as a derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. In this case, a new financial liability based on the modified

for the year ended March 31, 2026

terms is recognised at fair value. The difference between the carrying value of the original financial liability and the new financial liability with modified terms is recognised in profit or loss.

vi. Offsetting:

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount presented in the balance sheet when, and only when, the Company currently has a legally enforceable right to set off the amounts and it intends either to settle them on a net basis or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

f. Impairment of financial assets:

A. Trade receivables

The Company applies the Ind AS 109 simplified approach to measuring expected credit losses which uses a lifetime expected loss allowance (ECL) for all trade receivables. The application of simplified approach does not require the Company to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition.

To measure the expected credit losses, trade receivables have been grouped based on shared credit risk characteristics and the days past due. The expected loss rates are based on average of historical loss rate adjusted to reflect current and available forward looking information affecting the ability of the customers to settle the receivables.

B. Other Financial Assets

A financial asset is written off when there is no reasonable expectation of recovering the contractual cash flows.

The gross carrying amount of a financial asset is written off (either partially or in full) to the extent that there is no realistic prospect of recovery. This is generally the case when the Company determines that the debtor does not have assets or sources of income that could generate sufficient cash flows to repay the amounts subject to the write - off. However, financial assets that are written off could still be subject to enforcement activities under the Company's recovery procedures, taking into account legal advice where appropriate. Any recoveries made are recognised in profit or loss

g. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents includes cash on hand and balance with bank in current accounts, demand deposits with banks, other short-term highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents and short-term deposits are considered integral part of the Company's cash management.

h. Bank balances other than cash and cash equivalents

Bank balances other than cash and cash equivalents includes fixed deposits with banks with original maturities of twelve months or less.

i. Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

A provision is recognised when the Company has a present obligation as a result of a past event and it is probable that an outflow of embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and there is a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation. Provisions are measured at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the Balance sheet date. Provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows (representing the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the balance sheet date) at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. Provisions are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to effect current management estimates.

Contingent liabilities are not recognised but are disclosed in the notes forming part of standalone financial statements. A Contingent liability is a possible obligation arising from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Company or a present obligation that arises from past events but is not recognised because it is not probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation; or the amount of the obligation cannot be measured with sufficient reliability. Contingent assets are neither recognised nor disclosed in the standalone financial statements.

j. Borrowing costs

Expenses related to borrowing cost are accounted using effective interest rate. Borrowing costs are interest and other costs (including exchange differences relating to foreign currency borrowings to the extent that they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs) incurred in connection with the borrowing of funds. Borrowing costs directly attributable to acquisition or construction of an asset which necessarily take a substantial period of time to get ready for their intended use are capitalised as part of the cost of that asset. Other borrowing costs are recognised as an expense in the period in which they are incurred. The difference between the discounted amount mobilised and redemption value of commercial papers is recognised in the statement of profit and loss over the life of the instrument using the EIR.

k. Leases

The determination of whether an arrangement is a lease, or contains a lease, is based on the substance of the arrangement and requires an assessment of whether the fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets or whether the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset. The Company assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified assets, the Company assess whether (i) the contract involves the use of an identified assets; (ii) the Company has substantially all the economic benefits from use of the assets through the period of the lease and (iii) the Company has the right to direct the use of the asset.

At the date of commencement of the lease, the Company recognises a right-of-use assets (ROU) and a corresponding lease liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of 12 month or less (short-term leases) and low value leases. For these short-term and low value leases, the Company recognises the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

Certain lease arrangements includes the options to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease term. ROU assets and lease liabilities includes these options when it is reasonably certain that they will be exercised.

The cost of the right-of-use assets comprises the amount of the initial measurement of the lease liability, any lease payments made at or before the inception date of the lease, less any lease incentives received. Subsequently, the right-of-use assets is measured at cost less any accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. The right-of-use assets is depreciated using the straight line method from the commencement date over the shorter of lease term or useful life of right-of-use assets.

For lease liabilities at inception, the Company measures the lease liability at the present value of the lease payments that are not paid at that date. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease, if that rate is readily determined. If that rate is not readily determined the lease payments are discounted using the incremental borrowing rate.

Lease liabilities and ROU asset has been separately presented in the Balance Sheet and lease payments have been classified as financing activities in statement of cash flows.

l. Revenue from contracts with customers

Revenue is measured at transaction price (net of variable consideration, if any). Revenue from contracts with customers is recognised when control of the goods or services are transferred to the customer at an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services.

The Company recognises revenue from the following sources:

- (a) Income from tech platform services, support services and fees and commission income is recognised upon completion of services, in accordance with the terms of contract which is satisfied at a point in time.
- (b) The Company has the right to consideration which is unconditional but an invoice for the same has not been raised accordingly it is classified as unbilled revenue under trade receivable

Advances received from customers in respect of contracts are treated as liabilities and adjusted against billing as per terms of the contract.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

m. Other income

- (a) Interest income on a financial asset carried at amortised cost is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the effective interest rate ('EIR'). The EIR is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash flows of the financial assets through the expected life of the financial asset or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount of the financial instrument. The internal rate of return on financial assets after netting off the fees received and cost incurred approximates the effective interest rate method of return for the financial asset. The future cash flows are estimated taking into account all the contractual terms of the instrument.

The interest income is calculated by applying the EIR to the gross carrying amount of non-credit impaired financial assets (i.e. at the amortised cost of the financial asset before adjusting for any expected credit loss allowance). For credit-impaired financial assets the interest income is calculated by applying the EIR to the amortised cost of the credit-impaired financial assets (i.e. the gross carrying amount less the allowance for ECLs).

- (b) Financial assets at fair value through profit and loss are measured at fair value at the end of each reporting period, with any gains or losses arising on re-measurement recognised in the standalone statement of profit and loss.

n. Foreign exchange transactions

Transactions in foreign currencies are recorded at the rate of exchange prevailing on the date of the transaction. Exchange differences arising on settlement of revenue transactions are recognised in the statement of profit and loss. Monetary assets and liabilities contracted in foreign currencies are restated at the rate of exchange ruling at the Balance Sheet date. Non-monetary assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value in a foreign currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rate when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary assets and liabilities that are measured based on historical cost in a foreign currency are translated at the exchange rate at the date of the transaction.

o. Employee Benefits

i. Short-term employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits include salaries and short-term bonus. A liability is recognised if the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past service provided by the employee, and the obligation can be estimated reliably. These costs are recognised as an expense in the Statement of Profit and Loss at the undiscounted amount expected to be paid over the period of services rendered by the employees to the Company.

ii. Gratuity

The Company provides for gratuity for employees in India as per the Code on Social Security 2020. Employees who are in continuous service for a period of 5 years and fixed term employees who has rendered service under the contract for the period of 1 year are eligible for gratuity. The amount of gratuity payable on retirement/termination is the employees last drawn wage per month computed proportionately for 15 days salary multiplied for the number of years of service.

The Company's gratuity scheme is a defined benefit plan. The Company's net obligation in respect of the gratuity benefit scheme is calculated by estimating the amount of future benefit that the employees have earned in return for their service in the current and prior period. Such benefit is discounted to determine its present value, and the fair value of any plan assets, if any, is deducted.

The present value of the obligation under such benefit plan is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method which recognises each period of services as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation.

The obligation is measured at present values of estimated future cash flows. The discounted rates used for determining the present value are based on the market yields on Government Securities as at the balance sheet date.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

Remeasurement gains and losses arising from experience adjustments and changes in actuarial assumptions are recognised in the period in which they occur, directly in other comprehensive income. They are included in retained earnings in the statement of changes in equity and in the balance sheet.

iii. Provident fund

The contribution to provident fund is considered as defined contribution plan. The Company has no obligation, other than the contribution payable to the provident fund. The Company recognises contribution payable to the provident fund scheme as an expense, when an employee renders the related service.

iv. Share based payment arrangements

The grant date fair value of equity-settled share-based payment arrangements granted to employees is measured by reference to the fair value of the options using option pricing model at the date on which the options are granted and generally recognised as an employee benefits expense, with a corresponding increase in equity, over the vesting period of the awards. The amount recognised as an expense is adjusted to reflect the number of awards for which the related service conditions are expected to be met, such that the amount ultimately recognised is based on the number of awards that meet the related service conditions at the vesting date.

v. Long term employee benefits

The long term employee benefits is measured by reference to the fair value of the benefits using generally accepted valuation methodologies which takes into account performance based conditions subject to continuous service.

p. Treasury shares

The Company has created a Groww Employee Welfare Trust ("ESOP trust"). The Company uses Groww Employee Welfare Trust as a vehicle for distributing shares to employees under the employee stock option schemes. The Company treats the ESOP trust as its extension and shares held by the ESOP trust are treated as treasury shares. Own equity instruments that are held by the trust are recognized at cost and deducted from equity. No gain or loss is recognized in profit or loss on the purchase, sale, issue or cancellation of the Company's own equity instruments. Any difference between the carrying amount and the consideration, if reissued, is recognized in the other equity.

q. Share issue expenses

Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of equity shares will be adjusted with securities premium.

r. Income Tax

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. It is recognised in statement of profit and loss except to the extent that it relates to items recognised directly in equity or in OCI.

(i) Current Tax

Current tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid in respect of taxable income using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date. Current tax comprises the expected tax payable on the taxable income or loss for the year and any adjustment to the tax payable in respect of previous years.

Current income tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity). Current tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and establishes provisions where appropriate.

Current tax assets and current tax liabilities are offset only if the Company has a legally enforceable right to set off the recognised amounts, and it intends to realise the asset and settle the liability on a net basis or simultaneously.

(ii) Deferred Tax

Deferred tax is recognised in respect on temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the financial statements.

Deferred tax assets arising mainly on account of carry forward losses and unabsorbed depreciation under tax laws are recognised only if there is reasonable certainty of its realisation, supported by convincing evidence.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

Deferred tax assets on account of other temporary differences are recognised only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the Balance Sheet date. Changes in deferred tax assets / liabilities on account of changes in enacted tax rates are given effect to in the standalone statement of profit and loss in the period of the change. The carrying amount of deferred tax assets are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are off set when there is a legally enforceable right to set-off assets against liabilities representing current tax and where the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

(iii) Uncertain income tax treatments

The determination of the Company's income tax expense and credit involves significant judgment in respect of uncertain income tax treatments. The Company evaluates its tax positions at each reporting date in accordance with Ind AS 12 – Income Taxes, including the guidance on uncertainty over income tax treatments.

The Company considers whether it is probable that a taxation authority will accept an uncertain tax treatment. Where it is not probable, the Company reflects the effect of the uncertainty in determining taxable profits, tax bases, unused tax losses and taxes recoverable/assets using either the most likely amount or the expected value, depending on which method better predicts the resolution of the uncertainty.

Interest and penalties (if any) related to income tax matters are recognized as a component of income tax expense.

s. Earnings per share

equity share have been computed by dividing the net profit attributable to the equity share holders after giving impact of dilutive potential equity shares for the year by the weighted average number of equity shares and dilutive potential equity shares outstanding during the year, except where the results are anti-dilutive.

t. Segment reporting

The company prepares the consolidated financial statements. In accordance with Ind AS 108 on operating segments, the Company has not disclosed the segments information in the standalone financial statements.

u. Cash flow statement

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, whereby profit before tax is adjusted for the effects of transactions of a non-cash nature and any deferrals or accruals of past or future cash receipts or payments. The cash flows from regular revenue generating, investing and financing activities of the Company are segregated.

v. Business combinations

"Business combinations are accounted for by applying the acquisition method as at the date of acquisition, which is the date on which control is transferred to the Company. Identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed in a business combination are measured initially at their fair values at the acquisition date. When the Company acquires a business, it assess the financial assets and liabilities assumed for appropriate classification and designation. In accordance with contractual terms, economic circumstances, and pertinent conditions as at acquisition date. The excess of the cost of acquisition over the interest in the fair value of the identifiable net assets acquired and attributable to the owners of the Company is recorded as goodwill. The cost of an acquisition is measured as the aggregate of the consideration transferred, which is measured at the acquisition date fair value and the amount of a non-controlling interest in the acquire. Transaction costs incurred in connection with a business acquisition are expensed as and when incurred. Any contingent consideration payable is measured at fair value at the acquisition date. Subsequent changes in the fair value of contingent consideration are recognised in Standalone Statement of Profit and Loss. Contingent consideration that is classified as equity is not remeasured and subsequent settlement is accounted for within equity.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

Business combinations involving entities or businesses under common control shall be accounted for using the pooling of interest method

If a business combination is achieved in stages, any previously held equity interest in the acquiree is re-measured at its acquisition date fair value and any resulting gain or loss is recognised in profit or loss or OCI, as appropriate.

Goodwill is tested for impairment annually or when events or circumstances indicate that the implied fair value is less than its carrying amount.

w. Use of estimates and judgements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires that the management make estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Any revision to accounting estimates is recognized prospectively in current and future years. In particular, information about areas of significant estimation uncertainty and critical judgements in applying accounting policies that have a significant effect on the amounts recognized in the financial statements are included below:

(i) Depreciation and amortization

Depreciation and amortisation is based on management estimates of the future useful lives of the property, plant and equipment and intangible assets. Estimates may change due to technological developments, competition, changes in market conditions and other factors and may result in changes in the estimated useful life and in the depreciation and amortisation charges.

(ii) Recognition and measurement of defined benefit obligations

The obligation arising from defined benefit plan is determined on the basis of actuarial assumptions. Key actuarial assumptions include discount rate, trends in salary escalation, actuarial rates and life expectancy. The discount rate is determined by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on government bonds. The period to maturity of the underlying bonds correspond to the probable maturity of the post-employment benefit obligations. Due to complexities involved in the valuation and its long term nature, defined benefit obligation is sensitive to changes in these assumptions.

(iii) Fair value of financial instruments

Financial instruments are required to be fair valued as at the balance sheet date as provided in Ind AS 109 and Ind AS 113. Being a critical estimate, judgement is exercised to determine the carrying values. The fair value of financial instruments that are unlisted and not traded in an active market is determined at fair values assessed based on recent transactions entered into with third parties, based on valuation done by external appraisers etc., as applicable.

(iv) Expected credit losses on financial assets

The Company recognizes loss allowances for expected credit losses on its financial assets measured at amortized cost. At each reporting date, the Company assesses whether financial assets carried at amortized cost are credit-impaired. A financial asset is 'credit impaired' when one or more events that have a detrimental impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset have occurred.

(v) Taxes

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying values of assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets are recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable income will be available against which the deductible temporary differences could be utilized. Further details are disclosed in Note 24.

In assessing uncertain income tax treatments, management applies judgment in determining the probability of acceptance of tax positions by the relevant tax authorities and in estimating the amounts expected to be paid.

(vi) Uncertain income tax treatments

In assessing uncertain income tax treatments, management applies judgment in determining the probability of acceptance of tax positions by the relevant tax authorities and in estimating the amounts expected to be paid.

Notes to the Standalone Financial Statements

for the year ended March 31, 2026

(vii) Provision and contingencies

The recognition and measurement of other provisions are based on the assessment of the probability of an outflow of resources, and on past experience and circumstances known at the reporting date. The actual outflow of resources at a future date may therefore, vary from the amount included in other provisions.

(viii) Share based payments

Estimating fair value for share based payment requires determination of the most appropriate valuation model. The estimate also requires determination of the most appropriate inputs to the valuation model including the expected life of the option, volatility and dividend yield and making assumptions about them. The assumptions and models used for estimating fair value for share based payments transactions are discussed in Note 30 "Share based payments".

(ix) Leases

In determining whether an arrangement is, or contains a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement at the inception of the lease. The arrangement is, or contains, a lease date if fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets and the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset, even if that right is not explicitly specified in the arrangement.

(x) Operating cycle

Based on the time involved between acquisition of assets for processing and their realisation in cash and cash equivalents, the Company has identified twelve months as its operating cycle for determining current and non-current classification of assets and liabilities in the balance sheet, accordingly assets and liabilities which are expected to realise within a period of twelve months are treated as current and beyond twelve months are treated as non current.

x. Recent pronouncements

Ministry of Corporate Affairs ("MCA") notifies new standards or amendments to the existing standards under Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules as issued from time to time. For the year ended March 31, 2026, MCA has notified amendments to Ind AS 21 The Effects of Changes in Foreign Exchange Rates, Ind AS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements. Further, MCA has notified Ind AS 118 Presentation and Disclosure in Financial Statements which is applicable w.e.f April 1, 2027. The Company has reviewed the new pronouncements and based on its evaluation has determined that it does not have any impact in its financial statements.

4 Leases

A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration.

Company as a lessee

The Company's lease asset classes primarily consist of leases for premises and leasehold improvements. The Company assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Company assesses whether: (i) the contract involves the use of an identified asset (ii) the Company has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease and (iii) the Company has the right to direct the use of the asset.

At the date of commencement of the lease, the Company recognizes a right-of-use asset ("ROU") and a corresponding lease liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of twelve months or less (short-term leases) and low value leases.

For these short-term and low value leases, the Company recognizes the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease. The Company has not recognised any short term leases.

Certain lease arrangements include the option to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease term. ROU assets and lease liabilities includes these options when it is reasonably certain that they will be exercised.

The ROU are initially recognized at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any prepaid lease plus any initial direct costs. They are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation.

ROU assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

The lease liability is initially measured at amortized cost at the present value of the future lease payments. The lease payments are discounted using the incremental borrowing rate of the company. Lease liabilities are re-measured with a corresponding adjustment to the related right of use asset if the Company changes its assessment on whether it will exercise an extension or a termination option.

Lease liability and ROU asset have been separately presented in the Balance Sheet and lease payments of INR 213.36 Millions (March 31, 2025: INR 151.86 Millions) have been classified as cash flow generated from financing activity.

26 Financial instruments - Fair values and risk management (Contd.)

For investments measured at FVOCI (Level 3), the Company has considered the fair value as on March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 based on the latest available valuation or most recent market transaction price.

Significant unobservable inputs used in comparable companies multiple valuation of level 3 fair values

Significant unobservable inputs	Sensitivity of input to fair value measurement
Enterprise value to EBITDA multiple	A 5% increase in EBITDA multiple would have led to approximately INR 66.30 Millions gain in the consolidated financial statements. A 5% decrease in EBITDA multiple would have led to approximately INR 66.40 Millions loss in the consolidated financial statements.
Enterprise value to revenue multiple	A 5% increase in revenue multiple would have led to approximately INR 2.80 Millions gain in the consolidated financial statements. A 5% decrease in revenue multiple would have led to approximately INR 2.80 Millions loss in the consolidated financial statements.

B. Valuation technique used to determine fair values

Specific valuation technique to value financial instruments like:

- Use of quoted market prices for financial instruments traded in active markets.
- Comparable company multiple/discounted cash flow analysis for other financial instruments.
- The fair values for financial assets and liabilities other than investments are disclosed at their carrying value as their carrying amounts are a reasonable approximation of the fair values.

C. Financial risk management

The Company has exposure to the following risks arising from financial instruments:

- Credit risk;
- Liquidity risk
- Market risk; and
- Price Risk

Risk management framework

The Company's board of directors has overall responsibility for the establishment and oversight of the Company's risk management framework. The Company's risk management policies are established to identify and analyse the risks faced by the Company, to set appropriate risk limits and controls and to monitor risks and adherence to limits. Risk management policies and systems are reviewed regularly to reflect changes in market conditions and the Company's activities. The Company, through its training and management standards and procedures, aims to maintain a disciplined and constructive control environment in which all employees understand their roles and obligations.

i. Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the Company if a customer or counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its contractual obligations, and arises principally from the Company's receivables from customers. Credit risk arises from cash held with banks and financial institutions, as well as credit exposure to clients, including trade receivable. The maximum exposure to credit risk is equal to the carrying value of the financial assets. The objective of managing counterparty credit risk is to prevent losses in financial assets. The Company assesses the credit quality of the counterparties, taking into account their financial position, past experience and other factors.

26 Financial instruments - Fair values and risk management (Contd.)

Cash and cash equivalents

Credit risk on cash and cash equivalents and other bank balances is limited as the Company generally invests in deposits with banks and financial institutions with high credit ratings assigned by domestic credit rating agencies.

Trade Receivables and Other receivables

The Company applies the Ind AS 109 simplified approach to measure expected credit losses which uses a lifetime expected loss allowance (ECL) for all trade receivables.

The application of a simplified approach does not require the Company to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition.

Trade and other receivables from related parties are evaluated separately, considering the nature of the relationship, historical settlement patterns, financial strength of the counterparty, and management's ability and intent to settle the balances.

The Company does not recognise any expected credit loss provision on related party receivables where:

The amounts are recoverable on demand or settled regularly;

There is no history of defaults or delays in settlement;

The related party has sufficient financial capacity to meet its obligations;

There is no significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition; and

There are no adverse business, legal, or economic indicators impacting recoverability.

Based on the above assessment and management judgment, the credit risk on such related party receivables is considered insignificant, and hence Lifetime ECL is assessed as nil at the reporting date.

The Company continues to monitor these receivables on an ongoing basis and will recognise impairment losses if credit risk indicators emerge in future periods.

ii. Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting the obligations associated with its financial liabilities that are settled by delivering cash or another financial asset. The Company's approach to managing liquidity is to ensure, as far as possible, that it will have sufficient liquidity to meet its liabilities when they are due, under both normal and stressed conditions, without incurring unacceptable losses or risking damage to the Company's reputation.

The Company's principal sources of liquidity are cash and cash equivalents, and the cash flow that is generated from operations. The Company has managed its liquidity and working capital requirements through cash generated from operations and through intermittent short term borrowings. The Company has sufficient short term fund based lines, which provides healthy liquidity and these carry highest credit quality rating from reputed credit rating agency, hence no liquidity risk is perceived.

iii. Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises of three types of risks: interest rate risk, price risk and currency risk. Financial instruments affected by market risk includes trade receivable/payable, other financial assets and liabilities. The Company is not exposed to any significant market risks.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The interest rate risk can also impact the provision for retiral benefits. The Company generally invests in fixed rate deposits, commercial papers, non convertible debentures, etc and therefore not subject to interest rate risk, since neither the carrying amount nor the future cash flows will fluctuate because of change in the market interest rates. The Company is not exposed to significant interest rate risk as at the respective reporting dates.

Currency risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of an exposure will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. Exposures can arise on account of the various assets and liabilities which are denominated in currencies other than Indian Rupee.

iv. Price Risk

The Company invests in debt and hybrid mutual fund schemes of leading fund houses. Such investments are susceptible to market price risks that arise mainly from changes in interest rate which may impact the return and value of such investments. However, given the relatively short tenure of underlying portfolio of the mutual fund schemes in which the Company has invested, such price risk is not significant.

D. Capital Management

The Company's policy is to maintain a strong capital base so as to maintain investor, creditor and market confidence and to sustain future development of the business. The Company monitors the return on capital and its objective when managing capital is to maintain an optimal structure so as to maximize shareholder value.

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, and based on the consideration of reports of the other auditors on separate financial statements of such subsidiaries and an associate as were audited by the other auditors, the aforesaid consolidated financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 ("Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the consolidated state of affairs of the Group, and its associate as at March 31, 2026, of its consolidated profit and other comprehensive income, consolidated changes in equity and consolidated cash flows for the year then ended.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) specified under Section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those SAs are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group, and its associate in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the consolidated financial statements in terms of the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the relevant provisions of the Act, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence obtained by us along with the consideration of reports of the other auditors referred to in paragraph (a) of the "Other Matters" section below, is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion on the consolidated financial statements.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment and based on the consideration of reports of other auditors on separate financial statements of components audited by them, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Measurement of an intangible assets acquired in a business combination

See Note 33 to consolidated financial statements

The key audit matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
During the year, the Group has completed the acquisition of Fisdrom Group comprising four legal entities namely, Finwizard Technology Private Limited, Finwizard Securities Private Limited, Finwizard Technology Services Private Limited and Winiin Taxscope Private Limited on October 03, 2025. The Group acquired the control on September 29, 2025 by holding 99.72% of share capital of Fisdrom Group and acquired 100% shareholding on October 03, 2025.	In view of the significance of the matter, we performed the following audit procedures in this area, amongst others to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence: - Evaluated the acquisition agreement to understand the key terms and conditions, determination of purchase consideration and to determine identifiable assets (including intangible assets). - Tested the design, implementation and operating effectiveness of the internal controls relating to accounting for business combinations in the consolidated financial statements including purchase price allocation process.

The key audit matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
Accounting for business combination requires the Group and their independent external valuation specialist to exercise judgement with respect to identification and valuation of intangible assets acquired as part of the business combination. A significant portion of the purchase price for the business combination has been attributed to intangible assets and goodwill. The valuation of intangible assets such as Customer Relationships and Brand is dependent on valuation methodology applied, which includes estimates about cash flow forecasts including future business growth, expected synergies and application of a discount rate, which are inherently subjective estimates. The measurement of goodwill depends upon valuation of abovementioned intangible assets i.e. Customer Relationships and Brand. Considering the level of estimate involved in fair value measurements of identified intangible assets, this are considered to be a key audit matter.	- Evaluated the competence, capabilities and objectivity of the independent external specialist engaged by the Group for determining fair value of identified intangible assets. - We, along with our valuation specialists, evaluated the appropriateness of the valuation methodology and verified the reasonableness of the key assumptions used by the Group viz. discount rate, in determining the value of the intangible assets. - Obtained and assessed the cash flow forecasts used in valuation of the intangible assets if these are computed after taking into account the historical financial performance, possible business growth and expected synergies. - Tested the source information underlying the determination of the discount rate, tested the mathematical accuracy of the calculation and developed a range of independent estimates and comparing those to the discount rate selected and relied upon by the Group. - Assessed the adequacy of disclosures made in the Consolidated Financial Statements.

General Information Technology (IT) controls and application controls specific to key revenue process

The key audit matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
The material subsidiary's revenue process is highly dependent on IT systems and IT controls to process significant transaction volumes. As a result, there exists a risk that gaps in the IT control environment could result in the revenue from broking and related accounts are being materially misstated. Appropriate IT environment controls including IT governance, IT application controls and general IT controls over program development and changes, access to programs and data and IT operations, are required to be designed and operate effectively for accurate accounting of revenue from broking and related accounts. Therefore, due to the complexity of the IT environment, level of automation and its impact on the financial records for revenue from broking and related accounts, the general IT controls and the application controls specific to the key revenue process is considered to be a key audit matter.	Our audit procedures to assess the IT system and controls relating to revenue process included the following: - Performed testing of the design and implementation of General Information Technology Controls ("GITCs") for the audit period, including controls over access to program and data, program changes, system changes and computer operations (such as job processing, data backup, system backup, incident management) over financial accounting and reporting system for revenue process (referred to as 'in-scope systems'). - Testing the operating effectiveness of GITCs for the audit period over the in-scope systems. - Obtained an understanding of, and tested the design and implementation and operating effectiveness of IT application controls for the audit period, including controls over interfaces, configurations and system processing for revenue from broking and related accounts identified during our risk assessment. Additionally, we tested the change management controls to determine whether standard process was followed. - Obtained an understanding of the IT infrastructure layers supporting the in-scope systems, including operating systems and databases, and tested general IT controls for such layers where relevant to operation of the IT automated controls. - Obtained an understanding of the Cybersecurity Risk Management Framework followed by the entity for information assets, including information, applications systems, databases, networks and data storage systems.

The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, but does not include the financial statements and auditor's reports thereon. The annual report is expected to be made available to us after the date of this auditor's report.

Our opinion on the consolidated financial statements does not cover the other information and we will not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the consolidated financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above when it becomes available and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the consolidated financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

When we read the annual report, if we conclude that there is a material misstatement therein, we are required to communicate the matter to those charged with governance and take necessary actions, as applicable under the relevant laws and regulations.

Management's and Board of Directors' Responsibilities for the Consolidated Financial Statements

The Holding Company's Management and Board of Directors are responsible for the preparation and presentation of these consolidated financial statements in term of the requirements of the Act that give a true and fair view of the consolidated state of affairs, consolidated profit/ loss and other comprehensive income, consolidated statement of changes in equity and consolidated cash flows of the Group including its associate in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) specified under Section 133 of the Act. The respective Management and Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its associate are responsible for maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of each company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; the selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the consolidated financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, which have been used for the purpose of preparation of the consolidated financial statements by the Management and Board of Directors of the Holding Company, as aforesaid.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, the respective Management and Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its associate are responsible for assessing the ability of each company to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the respective Board of Directors either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its associate are responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of each company.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under Section 143(3) (i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Management and Board of Directors.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of the Management and Board of Directors use of the going concern basis of accounting in preparation of consolidated financial statements and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the appropriateness of this assumption. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group and its associate to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial statements of such entities or business activities within the Group and its associate to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit of the financial statements of such entities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors. For the other entities included in the consolidated financial statements, which have been audited by other auditors, such other auditors remain responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audits carried out by them. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion. Our responsibilities in this regard are further described in paragraph (a) of the section titled "Other Matters" in this audit report.

We communicate with those charged with governance of the Holding Company and such other entities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Annexure B

to the Independent Auditor's Report on the consolidated financial statements of Billionbrains Garage Ventures Limited (formerly known as Billionbrains Garage Ventures Private Limited) for the year ended March 31, 2026

Report on the internal financial controls with reference to the aforesaid consolidated financial statements under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Act

(Referred to in paragraph 2(A)(g) under 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' section of our report of even date)

Opinion

In conjunction with our audit of the consolidated financial statements of Billionbrains Garage Ventures Limited (formerly known as Billionbrains Garage Ventures Private Limited) (hereinafter referred to as "the Holding Company") as of and for the year ended March 31, 2026, we have audited the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements of the Holding Company and such companies incorporated in India under the Act which are its subsidiary companies an associate, as of that date.

In our opinion and based on the consideration of reports of the other auditors on internal financial controls with reference to financial statements of subsidiary companies, as were audited by the other auditors, the Holding Company and such companies incorporated in India which are its subsidiary companies and an associate, have, in all material respects, adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements and such internal financial controls were operating effectively as at March 31, 2026, based on the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements criteria established by such companies considering the essential components of such internal controls stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the "Guidance Note").

Management's and Board of Directors' Responsibilities for Internal Financial Controls

The respective Company's Management and the Board of Directors are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements criteria established by the respective company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the respective company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing, prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements were established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained and the audit evidence obtained by the other auditors of the relevant subsidiary companies an associate in terms of their reports referred to in the Other Matter paragraph below, is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls with Reference to Financial Statements

A company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements include those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with Reference to Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Other Matter

Our aforesaid report under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act on the adequacy and operating effectiveness of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements insofar as it relates to ten subsidiary companies and an associate, which is a company incorporated in India, is based on the corresponding report of the auditors of such companies incorporated in India.

Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of the financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

Basis of Consolidation

Subsidiaries

The consolidated financial statements comprise the financial information of the Company and its subsidiaries, over which the Group has control. The Group controls an entity when the Group is exposed to, or has rights to, variable returns from its involvement with the entity and has the ability to affect those returns through its power to direct

Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

the relevant activities of the entity. The financial statements of subsidiaries are included in the consolidated financial statements from the date on which control commences until the date on which control ceases.

The Group combines the financial statements of the Holding Company and its subsidiaries line by line adding together like items of assets, liabilities, equity, income and expenses. Intercompany transactions, balances and unrealised gains on transactions within the Group are eliminated. Unrealised losses are also eliminated unless the transaction provides evidence of an impairment of the transferred asset.

Non-controlling interests in the results and equity of subsidiaries are shown separately in the consolidated statement of profit and loss, consolidated statement of changes in equity and consolidated statement of assets and liabilities respectively. Consolidated statement of profit and loss including Other comprehensive income (OCI) is attributable to the equity holders of the holding Company and to the non-controlling interest basis the respective ownership interest and such balance is attributed even if this results in controlling interest is having a deficit balance.

Associates

Associates are all entities over which the Group has significant influence but not control. Investments in associates are accounted for using the equity method of accounting, after initially being recognised at cost.

Under the equity method of accounting, the investments are initially recognised at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognise the Group's share of the post-acquisition profits or losses of the investee in profit or loss, and the Group's share of other comprehensive income of the investee in other comprehensive income. Dividends received or receivable from associates are recognised as a reduction in the carrying amount of the investment.

When the Group's share of losses in an equity-accounted investment equals or exceeds its interest in the entity, including any other unsecured long-term receivables, the Group does not recognise further losses, unless it has incurred obligations or made payments on behalf of the other entity.

Unrealised gains on transactions between the Group and its associates are eliminated to the extent of the Group's interest in these entities. Unrealised losses are also eliminated unless the transaction provides evidence of an impairment of the asset transferred. Accounting policies of equity accounted investees have been changed wherever necessary to ensure consistency with the policies adopted by the Group.

Changes in ownership interests

The Group treats transactions with non-controlling interests that do not result in a loss of control as transactions with equity owners of the Group. A change in ownership interest results in an adjustment between the carrying amounts of the controlling and non-controlling interests to reflect their relative interests in the subsidiary. Any difference between the amount of the adjustment to non-controlling interests and any consideration paid or received is recognised within equity.

When the Group ceases to consolidate because of a loss of control or equity method of accounting investment because of loss of significant influence, any retained interest in the entity is re-measured to its fair value with the change in carrying amount recognised in profit or loss. This fair value becomes the initial carrying amount for the purposes of subsequently accounting for the retained interest as an associate or financial asset. In addition, any amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income in respect of that entity are accounted for as if the Group had directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities. This may mean that amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income are reclassified to profit or loss. If the ownership interest in an associate is reduced but significant influence is retained, only a proportionate share of the amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income are reclassified to profit or loss where appropriate.

Details of subsidiaries and associates

Following subsidiary companies and associate entities have been considered in the preparation of the consolidated financial statements

a. Property, plant and equipment

i. Recognition and measurement

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount.

Items of property, plant and equipment are initially recorded at cost. Cost comprises acquisition cost, borrowing cost if capitalization criteria are met, and directly attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for the intended use. Subsequent expenditure relating to property, plant and equipment is capitalized only when it is probable that future economic benefit associated with these will flow with the Group and the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

Capital work-in-progress are property, plant and equipment which are not yet ready for their intended use. Advances given towards acquisition of fixed assets outstanding at each reporting date are shown as other non-financial assets. Depreciation is not recorded on capital work-in progress until construction and installation is completed and assets are ready for its intended use.

Items of Property, plant and equipment that have been retired from active use and are held for disposal are stated at the lower of their net book value or net realisable value and are shown separately in the consolidated financial statement, if any.

ii. Depreciation

Depreciation provided on property, plant and equipment is calculated on a straight-line basis using the rates arrived at based on the useful lives specified in Schedule II of the Act.

The estimated useful lives of items of property, plant and equipment for the current and comparative periods are as follows:

Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

for the year ended March 31, 2026

Asset	Useful life
Computers, laptops and peripherals	3 years
Furniture and fixtures	10 years
Office equipments	5 years
Networking equipments	6 years

Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis from the date the asset is ready for its intended use. In respect of assets sold, depreciation is provided up to the date of disposal. The residual values, estimated useful lives and methods of depreciation of property, plant and equipment are reviewed at the end of each financial year and changes if any, are accounted for on a prospective basis.

Improvements to leasehold premises are amortised over the non-cancellable period of lease term or useful lives of the assets, whichever is lower.

iii. De-recognition

The carrying amount of an item of property, plant and equipment is derecognized on disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Gains or losses arising from de-recognition, disposal or retirement of an item of property, plant and equipment are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognised net, within "Other Income" or "Other Expenses", as the case maybe, in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the year of derecognition, disposal or retirement.

b. Intangible assets

i. Recognition and measurement

An intangible asset is recognised only when its cost can be measured reliably, and it is probable that the expected future economic benefits that are attributable to it will flow to the Group. Intangible assets are capitalised at cost of acquisition including cost attributable to readying the asset for use. Intangible assets acquired separately are measured on initial recognition at cost. Following initial recognition, intangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortisation. The estimated useful lives of items of intangible assets for the current and comparative periods are as follows:

Asset	Useful life
Software	2 - 10 years
License	Indefinite life tested impairment annually
Customer relationships	3 - 11 years
Brand	5 years

Subsequent expenditure is capitalised only when it increases the future economic benefits embodied in the specific assets to which it relates, and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably. All other expenditure, including expenditure on internally generated goodwill is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss as incurred.

ii. Amortisation

Amortisation is provided for software using the straight-line method on the cost of intangible assets over their estimated useful lives and is included in the consolidated statement of profit and loss.

c. Business Combination

Business combinations are accounted for by applying the acquisition method as at the date of acquisition, which is the date on which control is transferred to the Company. Identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed in a business combination are measured initially at their fair values at the acquisition date. When the Company acquires a business, it assesses the financial assets and liabilities assumed for appropriate classification and designation. In accordance with contractual terms, economic circumstances, and pertinent conditions as at acquisition date. The excess of the cost of acquisition over the interest in the fair value of the identifiable net assets acquired and attributable to the owners of the Company is recorded as goodwill. The cost of an acquisition is measured as the aggregate of the consideration transferred, which is measured at the acquisition date fair value and the amount of a non-controlling interest in the acquire. Transaction costs incurred in connection with a business acquisition are expensed as and when incurred. Any contingent consideration payable is measured at fair value at the acquisition date. Subsequent changes in the fair value of contingent consideration are recognised in Standalone

for the year ended March 31, 2026

Statement of Profit and Loss. Contingent consideration that is classified as equity is not remeasured and subsequent settlement is accounted for within equity.

Business combinations involving entities or businesses under common control shall be accounted for using the pooling of interest method.

If a business combination is achieved in stages, any previously held equity interest in the acquiree is re-measured at its acquisition date fair value and any resulting gain or loss is recognised in profit or loss or OCI, as appropriate.

Goodwill is tested for impairment annually or when events or circumstances indicate that the implied fair value is less than its carrying amount.

d. Impairment of non-financial assets

The Group assesses at each balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired. An asset is impaired when the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its recoverable amount. An impairment loss is charged to the consolidated statement of profit and loss in the year in which an asset is identified as impaired. An impairment loss is reversed to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined if no impairment loss had previously been recognised.

An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's or cash-generating unit's (CGU) net selling price and its value in use. The recoverable amount is determined for an individual asset, unless the asset does not generate cash inflows that are largely independent of those from other assets or groups of assets. Where the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining net selling price, recent market transactions are taken into account, if available. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used.

e. Leases

The determination of whether an arrangement is a lease, or contains a lease, is based on the substance of the arrangement and requires an assessment of whether the fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets or whether the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset. The Group assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified assets, the Group assess whether (i) the contract involves the use of an identified assets; (ii) the Group has substantially all the economic benefits from use of the assets through the period of the lease and (iii) the Group has the right to direct the use of the asset.

At the date of commencement of the lease, the Group recognises a right-of-use assets (ROU) and a corresponding lease liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of 12 month or less (short-term leases) and low value leases. For these short-term and low value leases, the Group recognises the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

Certain lease arrangements include the options to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease term. ROU assets and lease liabilities includes these options when it is reasonably certain that they will be exercised.

The cost of the right-of-use assets comprises the amount of the initial measurement of the lease liability, any lease payments made at or before the inception date of the lease, less any lease incentives received. Subsequently, the right-of-use assets is measured at cost less any accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. The right-of-use assets is depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement date over the shorter of lease term or useful life of right-of-use assets.

For lease liabilities at inception, the Group measures the lease liability at the present value of the fixed lease payments that are not paid at that date. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease, if that rate is readily determined. If that rate is not readily determined the lease payments are discounted using the incremental borrowing rate.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

Lease liabilities and ROU asset has been separately presented in the consolidated statement of assets and liabilities and lease payments have been classified as financing activities in statement of cash flows.

f. Financial instruments

i. Date of Recognition

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised in the Group's consolidated statement of assets and liabilities when the group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

ii. Initial Measurement

Financial assets and liabilities are initially recognised on the trade date, i.e. the date on which the Group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Recognised financial instruments are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognised immediately in profit or loss.

iii. Classification and Subsequent Measurement

A. Financial assets

Based on the business model, the contractual characteristics of the financial assets and specific elections where appropriate, the Group classifies and measures financial assets in the following categories :

a) Amortised cost: A financial asset is measured at amortised cost if it meets both of the following conditions and is not designated as at Fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL):

- the asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets to collect contractual cash flows ('Asset held to collect contractual cash flows'); and

- the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest ('SPPI') on the principal amount outstanding.

After initial measurement and based on the assessment of the business model as asset held to collect contractual cash flows and SPPI, such financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost using effective interest rate ('EIR') method. Interest income and impairment expenses are recognised in profit or loss. Interest income from these financial assets is included in finance income using the EIR method. Any gain and loss on derecognition are also recognised in profit or loss.

The EIR method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a financial instrument and of allocating interest over the relevant period. The EIR is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash flows (including all fees paid or received that form an integral part of the EIR, transaction costs and other premiums or discounts) through the expected life of the instrument, or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount on initial recognition.

b) Fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI):

Financial assets that are held within a business model whose objective is both to collect the contractual cash flows and to sell the assets, ('Contractual cash flows of assets collected through hold and sell model') and contractual cash flows that are SPPI, are subsequently measured at FVOCI. Movements in the carrying amount of such financial assets are recognised in Other Comprehensive Income ('OCI'), except interest / dividend income which is consolidated statement of profit and loss. Amounts recorded in OCI are subsequently transferred to the consolidated statement of profit and loss in case of debt instruments however, in case of equity instruments it will be directly transferred to reserves. Equity instruments at FVOCI are not subject to an impairment assessment.

c) Fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL):

Financial assets, which do not meet the criteria for categorisation as at amortised cost or as FVOCI or either designated, are measured at FVTPL. Subsequent changes in fair value are recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss. The Group records investments in equity instruments and mutual funds at FVTPL.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

Based on the Group's business model for managing the investments, the Group has classified its investments and securities for trade at FVTPL. Investment in subsidiaries is carried at deemed cost as per Ind AS 27.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

B. Financial liabilities

Debt and equity instruments issued by the Group are classified as either financial liabilities or as equity in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangements and the definitions of a financial liability and an equity instrument.

- (a) Equity Instrument - An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of an entity after deducting all of its liabilities. Equity instruments issued by the Group is recognised at the value of proceeds received, net of directly attributable transaction costs.
- (b) Financial Liabilities - Financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost. The carrying amounts are initially recognised at fair value and subsequently determined based on the EIR method. Interest expense is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss. Any gain or loss on de-recognition of financial liabilities is also recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss. The Group does not have any financial liability which are measured at FVTPL.

Financial liabilities are carried at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method. For trade and other payables, the carrying amount approximates the fair value due to short maturity of these instruments.

In order to show how fair values have been derived, financial instruments are classified based on a hierarchy of valuation techniques, as summarised below:

Level 1 : Those where the inputs used in the valuation are unadjusted quoted prices from active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Group has access to at the measurement date. The Group considers markets as active only if there are sufficient trading activities with regards to the volume and liquidity of the identical assets or liabilities and when there are binding and exercisable price quotes available on the balance sheet date.

Level 2 : Those where the inputs that are used for valuation and are significant, are derived from directly or indirectly observable market data available over the entire period of the instrument's life.

Level 3 : Those that include one or more unobservable input that is significant to the measurement as whole.

iv. Reclassification:

Financial assets and liabilities are not reclassified subsequent to their initial recognition, apart from the exceptional circumstances in which the Group acquires, disposes of, or terminates a business line or in the period the Group changes its business model for managing financial assets and liabilities.

v. Derecognition:

(A) A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is derecognised when:

- The contractual rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset have expired, or
- The Group has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset and the Group has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or the Group has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset but has transferred control of the asset.

If the Group neither transfers nor retains substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership and continues to control the transferred asset, the Group recognises its retained interest in the asset and an associated liability for the amount it may have to pay.

On derecognition of a financial asset, the difference between the carrying amount of the asset (or the carrying amount allocated to the portion of the asset derecognised) and the sum of (i) the consideration received (including any new asset obtained less any new liability assumed) and (ii)

any cumulative gain or loss that had been recognised in OCI is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss (except for equity instruments measured at FVOCI).

- (B) A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged, cancelled or expires. Where an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as a derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. In this case, a new financial liability based on the modified terms is recognised at fair value. The difference between the carrying value of the original financial liability and the new financial liability with modified terms is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

vi. Offsetting:

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset, and the net amount is presented in the consolidated statement of assets and liabilities when, and only when, the Group currently has a legally enforceable right to set off the amounts and it intends either to settle them on a net basis or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

vii. Impairment of financial assets:

A. Trade receivables

The Group applies the Ind AS 109 simplified approach to measure expected credit losses which uses a lifetime expected loss allowance (ECL) for all trade receivables. The application of a simplified approach does not require the Group to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECL at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition. To measure the expected credit losses, trade receivables have been grouped based on shared credit risk characteristics and the days past due. The expected loss rates are based on an average of historical loss rate adjusted to reflect current and available forward looking information affecting the ability of the customers to settle the receivables.

B. Loans

For financial services business, the Group recognises lifetime ECL when there has been a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition. If, on the other hand, the credit risk on the financial instrument has not increased significantly since initial recognition, the Group measures the loss allowance for that financial instrument at an amount equal to 12 month ECL. The assessment of whether lifetime ECL should be recognised is based on significant increases in the likelihood or risk of a default occurring since initial recognition. A 12 month ECL represents the portion of lifetime ECL that is expected to result from default events on a financial instrument that are possible within 12 months after the reporting date.

C. Other Financial Assets

A financial asset is written off when there is no reasonable expectation of recovering the contractual cash flows.

The gross carrying amount of a financial asset is written off (either partially or in full) to the extent that there is no realistic prospect of recovery. This is generally the case when the Group determines that the debtor does not have assets or sources of income that could generate sufficient cash flows to repay the amounts subject to the write - off. However, financial assets that are written off could still be subject to enforcement activities under the Group's recovery procedures, taking into account legal advice where appropriate. Any recoveries made are recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

g. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents includes cash on hand and balance with bank in current accounts, demand deposits with banks, other short-term highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents and short-term deposits are considered integral part of the Group's cash management.

h. Share issue expenses

Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of equity shares will be adjusted with securities premium.

i. Revenue from contracts with customers

Revenue is measured at transaction price (net of variable consideration, if any). Revenue from contracts with customers is recognised when control of the goods or services are transferred to the customer at an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Group expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services.

Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

for the year ended March 31, 2026

The Group recognises revenue from the following sources:

- (a) Income from services rendered as a broker is recognised upon rendering of the services on a trade date basis, in accordance with the terms of contract. The execution of the trade and settlement of the transaction is the only performance obligation which is satisfied at a point in time.
- (b) Interest income on a financial asset including loans, margin trading funding and deposits carried at amortised cost is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the effective interest rate ('EIR'). The EIR is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash flows of the financial assets through the expected life of the financial asset or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount of the financial instrument. The internal rate of return on financial assets after netting off the fees received, and cost incurred approximates the effective interest rate method of return for the financial asset. The future cash flows are estimated taking into account all the contractual terms of the instrument.

The interest income is calculated by applying the EIR to the gross carrying amount of non-credit impaired financial assets (i.e. at the amortised cost of the financial asset before adjusting for any expected credit loss allowance). For credit-impaired financial assets the interest income is calculated by applying the EIR to the amortised cost of the credit-impaired financial assets (i.e. the gross carrying amount less the allowance for ECLs).

- (c) The subsidiary of the Company has been appointed as the investment manager to Groww Mutual Fund which receives investment management fees from the mutual fund which is charged as a percent of the Assets Under Management (AUM) and is recognised on accrual basis. The maximum amount of management fee that can be charged is subject to applicable SEBI regulations. The contract includes a single performance obligation (series of distinct services) that is satisfied over time and the investment management fees earned are considered as variable consideration. Invoices becomes payable when the bills are issued to the customer.
- (d) Income from fees earned by asset management company is recognised over period of time, in accordance with the terms of contract.

- (e) The Group has the right to consideration which is unconditional but an invoice for the same has not been raised accordingly it is classified as unbilled revenue under trade receivable.

Advances received from customers in respect of contracts are treated as liabilities and adjusted against billing as per terms of the contract.

j. Other Income

- (a) Interest income on a financial asset carried at amortised cost is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the effective interest rate ('EIR'). The EIR is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash flows of the financial assets through the expected life of the financial asset or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount of the financial instrument. The internal rate of return on financial assets after netting off the fees received and cost incurred approximates the effective interest rate method of return for the financial asset. The future cash flows are estimated taking into account all the contractual terms of the instrument.

The interest income is calculated by applying the EIR to the gross carrying amount of non-credit impaired financial assets (i.e. at the amortised cost of the financial asset before adjusting for any expected credit loss allowance). For credit-impaired financial assets the interest income is calculated by applying the EIR to the amortised cost of the credit-impaired financial assets (i.e. the gross carrying amount less the allowance for ECLs).

- (b) Financial assets at fair value through profit and loss are measured at fair value at the end of each reporting period, with any gains or losses arising on re-measurement recognised in the standalone statement of profit and loss.

k. Employee Benefits

i. Short-term employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits include salaries, allowances and bonus. A liability is recognised if the Group has a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past service provided by the employee, and the obligation can be estimated reliably. These costs are

for the year ended March 31, 2026

recognised as an expense in the Statement of Profit and Loss at the undiscounted amount expected to be paid over the period of services rendered by the employees to the Group.

ii. Gratuity

The Group provides for gratuity for employees in India as per the Code on Social Security 2020. Employees who are in continuous service for a period of 5 years and fixed term employees who has rendered service under the contract for the period of 1 year are eligible for gratuity. The amount of gratuity payable on retirement/termination is the employees last drawn wage per month computed proportionately for 15 days salary multiplied for the number of years of service.

The Group's gratuity scheme is a defined benefit plan. The Group's net obligation in respect of the gratuity benefit scheme is calculated by estimating the amount of future benefit that the employees have earned in return for their service in the current and prior period. Such benefit is discounted to determine its present value, and the fair value of any plan assets, if any, is deducted.

The present value of the obligation under such benefit plan is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit credit Method which recognises each period of services as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation.

The obligation is measured at present values of estimated future cash flows. The discounted rates used for determining the present value are based on the market yields on Government Securities as at the balance sheet date.

Remeasurement gains and losses arising from experience adjustments and changes in actuarial assumptions are recognised in the period in which they occur, directly in other comprehensive income. They are included in retained earnings in the statement of changes in equity and in the consolidated statement of assets and liabilities.

iii. Provident fund

The contribution to provident fund is considered as defined contribution plan. The Group has no obligation, other than the contribution payable to the provident fund. The Group recognises contribution payable to the provident fund scheme as an expense, when an employee renders the related service.

iv. Share based payment arrangements

The grant date fair value of equity-settled share-based payment arrangements granted to employees is measured by reference to the fair value of the options using option pricing model at the date on which the options are granted and generally recognised as an employee benefits expense, with a corresponding increase in equity, over the vesting period of the awards. The amount recognised as an expense is adjusted to reflect the number of awards for which the related service conditions are expected to be met, such that the amount ultimately recognised is based on the number of awards that meet the related service conditions at the vesting date.

v. Long term employee benefits

The long term employee benefits is measured by reference to the fair value of the benefits using generally accepted valuation methodologies which takes into account performance based conditions subject to continuous service.

vi. Treasury shares

The Company has created a Groww Employee Welfare Trust ("ESOP trust"). The Company uses Groww Employee Welfare Trust as a vehicle for distributing shares to employees under the employee stock option schemes. The Company treats the ESOP trust as its extension and shares held by the ESOP trust are treated as treasury shares. Own equity instruments that are held by the trust are recognized at cost and deducted from equity. No gain or loss is recognized in profit or loss on the purchase, sale, issue or cancellation of the Company's own equity instruments. Any difference between the carrying amount and the consideration, if reissued, is recognized in the other equity.

I. Borrowing costs

Expenses related to borrowing cost are accounted for using an effective interest rate. Borrowing costs are interest, processing fees and other costs (including exchange differences relating to foreign currency borrowings to the extent that they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs) incurred in connection with the borrowing of funds. Borrowing costs directly attributable to acquisition or construction of an asset which necessarily take a substantial period of time to get ready for their intended use are capitalised as part of the cost of that asset. Other

for the year ended March 31, 2026

borrowing costs are recognised as an expense in the period in which they are incurred. The difference between the discounted amount mobilised and redemption value of commercial papers is recognised in the consolidated statement of profit and loss over the life of the instrument using the EIR.

m. Transactions in foreign currency

Transactions in foreign currencies are recorded at the rate of exchange prevailing on the date of the transaction. Exchange differences arising on settlement of revenue transactions are recognised in the consolidated statement of profit and loss. Monetary assets and liabilities contracted in foreign currencies are restated at the rate of exchange ruling at the Balance Sheet date. Non-monetary assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value in a foreign currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rate when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary assets and liabilities that are measured based on historical cost in a foreign currency are translated at the exchange rate at the date of the transaction.

n. Income Tax

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. It is recognised in statement of profit and loss except to the extent that it relates to items recognised directly in equity or in OCI.

(i) Current Tax

Current tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid in respect of taxable income using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date. Current tax comprises the expected tax payable on the taxable income or loss for the year and any adjustment to the tax payable in respect of previous years.

Current income tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity). Current tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and establishes provisions where appropriate.

Current tax assets and current tax liabilities are offset only if the Group has a legally enforceable right to set off the recognised amounts, and it intends to realise the asset and settle the liability on a net basis or simultaneously.

(ii) Deferred Tax

Deferred tax is recognised in respect on temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the consolidated financial statements.

Deferred tax assets arising mainly on account of carry forward losses and unabsorbed depreciation under tax laws are recognised only if there is reasonable certainty of its realisation, supported by convincing evidence.

Deferred tax assets on account of other temporary differences are recognised only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the Balance Sheet date. Changes in deferred tax assets / liabilities on account of changes in enacted tax rates are given effect to in the standalone statement of profit and loss in the period of the change. The carrying amount of deferred tax assets are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are off set when there is a legally enforceable right to set-off assets against liabilities representing current tax and where the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

(iii) Uncertain income tax treatments

The determination of the Company's income tax expense and credit involves significant judgment in respect of uncertain income tax treatments. The Group evaluates its tax positions at each reporting date in accordance with Ind AS 12 – Income Taxes, including the guidance on uncertainty over income tax treatments.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

The Group considers whether it is probable that a taxation authority will accept an uncertain tax treatment. Where it is not probable, the Group reflects the effect of the uncertainty in determining taxable profits, tax bases, unused tax losses and taxes recoverable/assets using either the most likely amount or the expected value, depending on which method better predicts the resolution of the uncertainty.

Interest and penalties (if any) related to income tax matters are recognized as a component of income tax expense.

o. Earnings per share

Basic earnings per equity share have been computed by dividing net profit/loss attributable to the equity shareholders for the year by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year. Diluted earnings per equity share have been computed by dividing the net profit attributable to the equity shareholders after giving impact of dilutive potential equity shares for the year by the weighted average number of equity shares and dilutive potential equity shares outstanding during the period/year, except where the results are anti-dilutive.

p. Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

A provision is recognised when the Group has a present obligation as a result of a past event and it is probable that an outflow of embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and there is a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation. Provisions are measured at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the Balance sheet date. Provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows (representing the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the balance sheet date) at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. Provisions are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to effect current management estimates.

Contingent liabilities are not recognised but are disclosed in the notes forming part of consolidated financial statements. A Contingent liability is a possible obligation arising from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Group or a present obligation that arises from past events but is not recognised because it is not probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation; or the amount of the obligation cannot be measured with sufficient reliability. Contingent assets are neither recognised nor disclosed in the consolidated financial statements.

q. Statement of cashflows

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, whereby profit before tax is adjusted for the effects of transactions of a non-cash nature and any deferrals or accruals of past or future cash receipts or payments. The cash flows from regular revenue generating, investing and financing activities of the Group are segregated.

r. Segment reporting

An operating segment is a component of the Group that engages in business activities from which it may earn revenues and incur expenses, whose operating results are regularly reviewed by the Group's Chief Operating Decision Maker ("CODM") to make decisions for which discrete financial information is available.

The Board of Directors (chief operating decision maker) reviews the results when making decision about allocating resources and assessing performance of the Group as a whole and hence, the Group has only one reportable segment.

s. Use of estimates and judgements

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires that the management make estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Any revision to accounting estimates is recognized prospectively in current and future years. In particular, information about areas of significant estimation uncertainty and critical judgements in applying accounting policies that have a significant effect on the amounts recognized in the consolidated financial statements are included below:

Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

for the year ended March 31, 2026

(i) Depreciation and amortisation

Depreciation and amortisation is based on management estimates of the future useful lives of the property, plant and equipment and intangible assets. Estimates may change due to technological developments, competition, changes in market conditions and other factors and may result in changes in the estimated useful life and in the depreciation and amortisation charges.

(ii) Recognition and measurement of defined benefit obligations

The obligation arising from defined benefit plan is determined on the basis of actuarial assumptions. Key actuarial assumptions include discount rate, trends in salary escalation, attrition rates and life expectancy. The discount rate is determined by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on government bonds. The period to maturity of the underlying bonds correspond to the probable maturity of the post-employment benefit obligations. Due to complexities involved in the valuation and its long term nature, defined benefit obligation is sensitive to changes in these assumptions.

(iii) Fair value of financial instruments

Financial instruments are required to be fair valued as at the balance sheet date as provided in Ind AS 109 and Ind AS 113. Being a critical estimate, judgement is exercised to determine the carrying values. The fair value of financial instruments that are unlisted and not traded in an active market is determined at fair values assessed based on recent transactions entered into with third parties, based on valuation done by external appraisers etc., as applicable.

(iv) Expected credit losses on financial assets

The Group recognizes loss allowances for expected credit losses on its financial assets measured at amortized cost. At each reporting date, the Group assesses whether financial assets carried at amortized cost are credit- impaired. A financial asset is 'credit impaired' when one or more events that have a detrimental impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset have occurred.

(v) Deferred Tax

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying values of assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets are recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable income will be available against which the deductible temporary differences could be utilized.

(vi) Uncertain income tax treatments

In assessing uncertain income tax treatments, management applies judgment in determining the probability of acceptance of tax positions by the relevant tax authorities and in estimating the amounts expected to be paid.

(vii) Provision and contingencies

The recognition and measurement of other provisions are based on the assessment of the probability of an outflow of resources, and on past experience and circumstances known at the reporting date. The actual outflow of resources at a future date may vary from the amount included in other provisions.

(viii) Share based payments

Estimating fair value for share based payment requires determination of the most appropriate valuation model. The estimate also requires determination of the most appropriate inputs to the valuation model including the expected life of the option, volatility and dividend yield and making assumptions about them. The assumptions and models used for estimating fair value for share based payments transactions are discussed in Note 31 "Employee stock option plan" (ESOP).

Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

for the year ended March 31, 2026

(ix) Leases

In determining whether an arrangement is, or contains a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement at the inception of the lease. The arrangement is, or contains, a lease date if fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets and the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset, even if that right is not explicitly specified in the arrangement.

t. Operating cycle

Based on the time involved between acquisition of assets for processing and their realisation in cash and cash equivalents, the Group has identified twelve months as its operating cycle for determining current and non-current classification of assets and liabilities in the balance sheet, accordingly assets and liabilities which are expected to realise within a period of twelve months are treated as current and beyond twelve months are treated as non current.

u. Recent Pronouncements

Ministry of Corporate Affairs ("MCA") notifies new standards or amendments to the existing standards under Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules as issued from time to time. For the year ended 31 March 2026, MCA has notified amendments to Ind AS 21 The Effects of Changes in Foreign Exchange Rates, Ind AS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements. Further, MCA has notified Ind AS 118 Presentation and Disclosure in Financial Statements which is applicable w.e.f 01-Apr-2027. The Group has reviewed the new pronouncements and based on its evaluation has determined that it does not have any impact in its financial statements.

Goodwill	3,186.89	-	-	3,186.89

Impairment assessment: Goodwill is attributed to acquisition of Groww Invest Tech Private Limited (Formerly known as Nextbillion Technology Private Limited), Groww Asset Management Limited (Formerly known as Indiabulls Asset Management Company Limited), Groww Creditserve Technology Private Limited and Finwizard Technology Private Limited. Goodwill represents the cost of acquired business as established at the date of acquisition of the business in excess of the acquirer's interest in the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities. Goodwill and license are tested for impairment annually or when events or circumstances indicate that the implied fair value is less than its carrying amount. In the assessment of recoverable value the concept of materiality applies and the Group need not re-estimate the asset's recoverable amount if the same is significantly greater than its carrying value and if no events have occurred that would eliminate the difference. The Group has tested goodwill and license for impairment and in the process has noted that recoverable value significantly exceeds carrying value nor any event has occurred that would eliminate the difference and accordingly has not re-estimated the same. The previously used assumptions in computation of recoverable value include:

- Estimated cash flow based on management projections ranging between five to ten years.
- A terminal value arrived at by extrapolating the last forecasted year cash flows to perpetuity, using growth rate ranging from 4% to 5%. This long term growth rate takes into consideration external macroeconomic sources of data. Such long-term growth rate considered does not exceed that of the relevant business and industry sector.
- The discount rate used in evaluation was ranging between 13.3% - 29.7% as applicable to respective business.
- The Group believes that any reasonably possible change in the key assumptions on which a recoverable amount is based would not cause the aggregate carrying amount to exceed the aggregate recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit.

The above assumptions have been considered in performing of impairment assessment for the year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025.

Notes:

- 1 The group does not hold any benami property and no proceedings have been initiated or are pending against it under the Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988.
- 2 The group has not revalued its property, plant and equipment (including right-of-use assets) or intangible assets or both.

4 Leases

A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration.

Group as a lessee

The Group's lease asset classes consist of leases for premises. The Group assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Group assesses whether: (i) the contract involves the use of an identified asset (ii) the Group has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease and (iii) the Group has the right to direct the use of the asset.

At the date of commencement of the lease, the Group recognizes a right of use asset ("ROU") and a corresponding lease liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of twelve months or less (short-term leases) and low value leases.

For these short-term and low value leases, the Group recognizes the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

Certain lease arrangements include the option to extend or terminate the lease before the end of the lease term. ROU assets and lease liabilities includes these options when it is reasonably certain that they will be exercised.

The right of use assets are initially recognized at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any prepaid lease plus any initial direct costs. They are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation.

Right of use assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

The lease liability is initially measured at amortized cost at the present value of the future lease payments. The lease payments are discounted using the incremental borrowing rate of the Group. Lease liabilities are re-measured with a corresponding adjustment to the related right of use asset if the Group changes its assessment on whether it will exercise an extension or a termination option.

The Company does not face a liquidity risk with regard to its lease liabilities as the current assets are sufficient to meet the obligations related to lease liabilities as and when they fall due.

The weighted average incremental borrowing rate applied to lease liabilities is 8% to 11%.

The aggregate depreciation on right-of-use assets has been included under depreciation and amortisation expense in the consolidated statement of profit and loss.

Lease liability and ROU asset have been separately presented in the consolidated balance sheet and lease payments of INR 258.42 Millions (March 31, 2025: 170.69 Millions) have been classified as cash flow generated from financing activity.

The above sensitivity analysis are based on a change in an assumption while holding all other assumptions constant. In practice, this is unlikely to occur, and changes in some of the assumptions may be correlated. When calculating the sensitivity of the defined benefit obligation to significant actuarial assumptions the same method (present value of the defined benefit obligation calculated with the projected unit credit method at the end of the reporting period) has been applied as when calculating the defined benefit liability recognised in the statement of assets and liabilities.

The mortality does not have a significant impact on the Liability, hence are not considered a significant actuarial assumption for the purpose of sensitivity analysis.

The methods and types of assumptions used in preparing the sensitivity analysis did not change compared to the prior year.

Level 1 - Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

Level 2 - Inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (i.e. as prices) or indirectly (i.e. derived from prices)

The following table shows the carrying amounts and fair values of financial assets and financial liabilities, including their levels in the fair value hierarchy

B. Valuation technique used to determine fair values

Specific valuation technique to value financial instruments like:

- Use of quoted market prices for financial instruments traded in active markets.
- Comparable company multiple/discounted cash flow analysis for other financial instruments.
- The fair values for financial assets and liabilities other than investments are disclosed at their carrying value as their carrying amounts are a reasonable approximation of the fair values.

C. Financial risk management

The Group has exposure to the following risks arising from financial instruments:

- Credit risk;
- Liquidity risk
- Market risk; and
- Price risk

Risk management framework

The Group's board of directors has overall responsibility for the establishment and oversight of the Group's risk management framework. The Group's risk management policies are established to identify and analyse the risks faced by the Group, to set appropriate risk limits and controls and to monitor risks and adherence to limits. Risk management policies and systems are reviewed regularly to reflect changes in market conditions and the Group's activities. The Group, through its training and management standards and procedures, aims to maintain a disciplined and constructive control environment in which all employees understand their roles and obligations.

i. Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the Group if a customer or counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its contractual obligations, and arises principally from the Group's receivables from customers. Credit risk arises from cash held with banks and financial institutions, as well as credit exposure to clients, including trade receivable. The maximum exposure to credit risk is equal to the carrying value of the financial assets. The objective of managing counterparty credit risk is to prevent losses in financial assets. The Group assesses the credit quality of the counterparties, taking into account their financial position, past experience and other factors.

Cash and cash equivalents

Credit risk on cash and cash equivalents and other bank balances is limited as the Group generally invests in deposits with banks and financial institutions with high credit ratings assigned by domestic credit rating agencies.

Trade Receivables

The Group applies the Ind AS 109 simplified approach to measure expected credit losses which uses a lifetime expected loss allowance (ECL) for all trade receivables.

The application of a simplified approach does not require the Group to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition.

To measure the expected credit losses, trade receivables have been grouped based on shared credit risk characteristics as follow:

- Receivable from Exchange (Unsecured)
- Receivable from Brokerage and depository (Secured by collaterals mainly in form of Securities of listed Company)
- Receivable from other customers (Unsecured)

Receivable from Exchange (Unsecured): There are no historical loss incurred in respect of Receivable from exchange. Entire exposure/receivable as at each reporting period is received and settled within 7 days from reporting period. Therefore, no ECL is recognised in respect of receivable from exchange.

Receivable from Brokerage and depository: Group has large number of customer base with shared credit risk characteristics. As per policy of the Group, trade receivable to the extent not covered by collateral (i.e. unsecured trade receivable) or is not subsequently collected is considered as default and are fully provided for as loss allowances against respective trade receivables and the amount is recognised in the consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss. Trade receivable of the Group are of short duration, and in case of delay in collection, the Group has right to charges interest (commonly referred as delayed payment charges) on overdue amount for the overdue period. However, in case of receivable from depository, the Group doesn't have right to charge interest. Though credit period given to customer in respect of receivable from depository are of short duration. The Group has computed expected credit loss due to delay in collection.

Receivable from other customers (Unsecured): As per policy of the Group, trade receivable to the extent not received for greater than one year is considered as default and are fully provided for as loss allowances against respective trade receivables and the amount is recognised in the consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss.

Further, for wealth customers the expected loss rates are based on the payment profiles of sales over a period of 36 months before the reporting date and the corresponding historical credit losses experienced within this period. The historical loss rates are adjusted to reflect current and forward-looking information on macroeconomic factors affecting the ability of the customers to settle the receivables.

The allowance for lifetime expected credit loss on trade receivables for year ended March 31, 2026 and March 31, 2025 was INR 575.64 and INR 96.85 respectively. The reconciliation of allowance for doubtful trade receivables is as follows:

Particulars	For the year ended March 31, 2026	For the year ended March 31, 2025

Margin Trading funding

The Group applies the Ind AS 109 simplified approach to measure expected credit losses which uses a lifetime expected loss allowance (ECL) for all margin trading funding.

Margin trading funding are secured by collaterals. The Group has large number of customer base with shared credit risk characteristics. As per policy of the Group, margin trading funding to the extent covered by collateral and servicing interest on a regular basis is not considered as due/default. Further, margin trading funding to the extent not covered by collateral is considered as default and are fully provided for as loss allowances against respective customers and the amount is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

As per Ind AS 109, the maximum period to consider when measuring expected credit losses is the maximum contractual period (including extension options) over which the entity is exposed to credit risk and not a longer period, even if that longer period is consistent with business practice. Therefore, the maximum period to consider when measuring expected credit losses for these trading facilities is the maximum contractual period (i.e. on demand/one day).

The provision for loss allowance in this regard is Nil for respective period/years

Instrument Type	Principal type of collateral held	Percentage of exposure that is subject to collateral

Loans

The Group is engaged in the business of providing loans and access to credit to the customers. The Group uses expected credit loss for the measurement of credit risk.

Measurement of ECL

Measurement of ECL

Expected Credit Loss or ECL is measured in the following manner. The Company calculates ECL based on probability-weighted scenarios to measure the expected cash shortfalls, discounted at an approximation to the EIR. A cash shortfall is the difference between the cash flows that are due to the Company in accordance with the contract and the cash flows that the Company expects to receive.

Stage 1 - Σ EADs * 12 month PDs * LGDs

Stage 2 - Σ EADs * Lifetime PDs * LGDs

Stage 3 - Σ EADs * Lifetime PDs * LGDs

Each item is defined as follows: -

ECL - Expected credit loss Present value of difference between contractual cash flows and actual cash flows expected to be received over a given time horizon.

PD - Probability of default - The Probability of default is an estimate of the likelihood of default over a given time horizon. A default may only happen at a certain time over the assessed period, if the facility has not been previously derecognised and is still in the portfolio.

for the year ended March 31, 2026

(All amounts are in INR Millions, unless otherwise stated)

27 Financial instruments - Fair values and risk management (Contd.)

LGD - Loss given default - The Loss Given Default is an estimate of the loss arising in the case where a default occurs at a given time. It is based on the difference between the contractual cash flows due and those that the Company would expect to receive, including from the realisation of any collateral. It is usually expressed as a percentage of the EAD.

EAD- Exposure at default - Cash flows that are at risk of default over a given time horizon, The Exposure at Default is an estimate of the exposure at a future default date.

PD% has been calculated on basis of historical data available with the company and as for the loans of unsecured nature LGD is considered at 100% and for secured loans LGD is considered at 25%.

ii. Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Group will encounter difficulty in meeting the obligations associated with its financial liabilities that are settled by delivering cash or another financial asset. The Group's approach to managing liquidity is to ensure, as far as possible, that it will have sufficient liquidity to meet its liabilities when they are due, under both normal and stressed conditions, without incurring unacceptable losses or risking damage to the Group's reputation.

The Group's principal sources of liquidity are cash and cash equivalents, and the cash flow that is generated from operations. The Group has managed its liquidity and working capital requirements through cash generated from operations and through intermittent short term borrowings. The Group has sufficient short term fund based lines, which provides healthy liquidity and these carry the highest credit quality rating from reputed credit rating agencies, hence no liquidity risk is perceived.

iii. Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risks: interest rate risk, price risk and currency risk. Financial instruments affected by market risk include trade receivable/payable, other financial assets and liabilities. The Group is not exposed to any significant market risks.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. 34 Segment reporting

The Group does not distinguish revenues, costs and expenses between segments in its internal reporting, and report costs and expenses by nature as a whole. The Board of Directors (Chief Operating Decision Maker ("CODM")) reviews the Consolidated Financial information when making decisions about allocating resources and assessing performance of the Group as a whole and hence, the Group has only one reportable segment. The Group operates and manages its business as a single segment mainly through the sale of financial services through web & app based technology platform. The Group operates in one geographic segment namely "within India" and hence no separate information for geographic segment wise disclosure is required.

- 35 As at March 31, 2026, management has evaluated the tax treatment of certain expenses incurred in relation to mergers and amalgamations and the changes in the fair market value of the employee stock options. Given the uncertainty regarding the tax treatment of these expenses, management has concluded that it is not appropriate to recognise an income tax asset amounting to INR 4,448.00 Million (March 31, 2025: INR Nil) in the balance sheet.
