The following discussion with the Company's financial statements included herein and the notes thereto:

INDUSTRY STRUCTRE AND DEVELOPMENTS

Gold has always been an integral part of the socio-economic ethos of the Indian household. As a commodity, it has always carried with it the tendency of invoking a sense of cultural and sentimental attachment, making its consumption and investment in India very different from that of other countries.

Indian gold market is primarily driven by the domestic consumption and jewellery demand for the purpose of exports. This in turn contributes largely to the economic value addition and generation of employment

Gold jewellery is the most preferred form of jewellery in India as it is considered auspicious to purchase gold on major occasions like festivals, marriage, birth etc. India is one of the world's largest consumer of gold, accounting for over 20 per cent of the global gold consumption.

The Gems and jewelry sector in India plays a significant role in the Indian economy, contributing around 6-7 per cent of the country's GDP. Considered among the fastest growing sector, Indian gems and jewellery industry is extremely export oriented and labour intensive. The government of India has declared the sector as a focus area for export promotion based on its potential for growth and value addition. Government of India has undertaken various measures to promote investments and to upgrade technology and skills to promote brand Make in India in the international market.

Global Scenario

Negative investor sentiment and net outflows have plagued the gold market more than any other commodity during the year under review. Unlike 2013, when physical demand for gold at the global level surged in reaction to slumping prices, the year under review has been dominated by restrained demand from key gold consumers.

During FY 2014-15, world gold demand both in terms of bullion and jewellery has seen a drop. According to reports from World Gold Council, global gold demand stood at 3,924 tonnes (t), and global jewellery demand reported at 2153 tonnes, down by 4% and 10% respectively in comparison to previous year. Bars and coin demand have also declined from record highs of 2013 mainly due to negative returns and slower purchases from China and India.

As per analysts, gold continued to decline owing to a strong Dollar and higher US equities posing a better alternative in terms of investment avenue. Seasonal demand from India and China during last quarter of 2014-15, speculative buying interest in futures market and a decline in US equities helped gold to recover marginally.

Indian Scenario

In 2014-15, Indian jewelley market had posted phenomenal growth recording 662.1 tonnes, surpassing previous year's total by 8% owing to festival and wedding related buying. This is in contrast with several government measures undertaken to restrict import of gold and stabilizing the gap in current account deficit.

As against record domestic purchase of jewellery in India, the exports have been impacted due to geopolitical unrest in Middle East, Europe, China and Russia which are the major destinations of Indian jewellery. However, the Indian gems and jewellery industry could sustain its levels despite the downtrend in outlook.

Domestic gold demand for investment purposes has declined due to negative outlook as against better outlook in equities and debt instruments.

The negative outlook in gold has also played a major role in subdued bars and coin demand in domestic markets inspite of the import restrictions being abolished by government.

As regards imports, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has liberalised gold import norms. With this, star and premier export houses can import gold, while banks and nominated agencies can offer gold for domestic use as loans. In India, gold imports were subdued at the start of the year, but then rose gradually as the RBI eased the 80-20 gold import norm before erasing it altogether in the month of November 2014.

The government has further simplified the process of dore imports by refiners supporting the development of domestic refineries. This move has shown results by multifold increase in import of dore which is one of the staple raw material for a refinery. This is relevant more so since India produces negligible mined gold indigenously.

With government regulations and procedural controls there has been a realignment of the local demand and supply position. Imported supplies have been replaced and substituted by domestic recycling through liquidation of excess stock. In the short term, the demand gap has been adequately met by the local refineries and traders at every level.

OVERVIEW SGRL

Shirpur Gold Refinery Limited, a part of the Essel group, is the first and the largest gold and silver refinery in India with installed capacity to refine 217 MT p.a. of gold and silver respectively with technical capability of achieving fineness of upto 999.9 parts per thousand for gold and silver and casting the refined bullion into bars of various denominations.

The principal business of the Company is refining of gold and manufacturing marketable products. The products manufactured are gold bars of 100g, 1 kg. gold and silver coins or different denominations of different purities as per market demand. The finished products are marketed throughout the country by its network of dealers. The company is manufacturing gold jewellery for domestic as well as international markets. The company is also in the business of minting coins in gold and silver to the highest specifications of world standards.

THE STATE OF COMPANY'S AFFAIRS/ DEVELOPMENTS

Keeping in line with the ever changing gold scenario, the Company has upgraded and augmented its manufacturing capabilities. These efforts have brought about greater efficiencies in the production process as well as added to the range of products being made available in the market. These additions and supplementations to the existing facilities of the Company are of the state of the art technology with the support of the best technical knowledge available in the industry.

Gold business has seen radical changes with reference to the government regulations and controls. The Gold industry suffered substantial restrictions and limitations in the last fiscal year. Most of these restrictions have now been reversed with a change of attitude from government. The positive approach adopted by government not only led to removal of restrictions but provided encouraging impetus to the Gold Refinery industry. The focus on bringing to the fore the household gold stock is a huge positive for the domestic refinery industry where the current raw materials supplies will be augmented by the domestic scrap for refining demand. These efforts would also give about liquidity of stock in the market at a lesser cost of investment.

The Company is well poised to gain full advantage of all the three opportunities in refining domestic gold sector, minting of coins and making of jewellery with the reduction of inventory cost and availability of raw material in larger quantities. The company would be able to increase the volumes in all 3 segments in the domestic market as well as sales of jewellery and minted products in the international market. The directional impetus provided by the Government, through the budget also opened avenues of ease of trade with reference to imports and exports.

B) Opportunities

Traditional demand for gold, rising buyer incomes and the safe-haven concept drive domestic demand for gold. Similarly, India's competitiveness in the export market depends on availability of inexpensive and skilled labour, government support and product diversification. Jewellery demand is expected to see material gains as consumers take advantage of the lower price environment to rebuild personal stocks.

Indian gems and jewellery industry had a market size of ₹ 251,000 crore (US$ 40.45 billion) in 2013, and has the potential to grow to ₹ 500,000–530,000 crore (US$ 80.59-85.43 billion) by 2018, according to a study by a leading industry body. The study also projected that the country's gems and jewellery market could double in the next five years. The growth will be driven by a healthy business environment and the government's investor friendly policies. India is deemed to be the hub of the global jewellery market because of its low costs and availability of high-skilled labour. India's gems and jewellery sector has been contributing in a big way to the country's foreign exchange earnings (FEEs). The Government of India has viewed the sector as a thrust area for export promotion. In FY14, India's gems and jewellery sector contributed US$ 34,746.90 million to the country's

FEEs.

The relaxation of restrictions of gold import is likely to provide a fillip to the industry. The improvement in availability along with the reintroduction of low cost gold metal loans and likely stabilisation of gold prices at lower levels is expected to drive volume growth for jewellers over short to medium term. The demand for jewellery is expected to be significantly supported by the recent positive developments in the industry.

The Budget announcements for the current year has indicated a very positive outlook for the Gold, Gems & Jewellery sector. Coupled with " Make in India " concept and the relaxations of restrictions from the Government will provide ease of trade and greater opportunity for growth in the segment. The Gold monetization scheme announced in the Union Budget 2015-16 will increase the supply and help in reducing imports of the precious metal in addition to keep the Current Account Deficit (CAD) under check. The proposal to develop a sovereign gold bond, to introduce a gold monetisation scheme and India made gold coins will all ease the supply of gold in the domestic market. The Government has also released most of the restrictions on the import of the metal which is a huge relief to the trade. With additional efforts by the Government to bring the stored household gold into the market will further open avenues of maximum installed capacity.

The draft gold monetization scheme floated by government of India offers opportunity to NABL accredited refiners in terms of refining scrap gold from Indian households to enter the regularized market. SGRL being one of the largest refiner accredited by NABL to capitalize this opportunity in terms of first movers advantage.

C) Threats

Availability of raw materials at cheaper rate, unorganized and fragmented players, illegal imports, volatility of gold prices, Government regulations, a slow down of global economy which may have impact on per capita income, are some of the major threats to the domestic and international gems and jewellery industry.

D) Risks & Concerns:

Market Risks

The Company is largely dependents on domestic customers. The Company continues to work towards diversifying its customer mix and to focus on building relationships with customers spread geographically.

Regulatory Risks

The Company is exposed to regulatory uncertainties facing the gems and jewellery industry in India. Any changes in the duty, rules and regulations, Import and Export policies or requirements by the Government of India may require the Company to revise business strategies which may impact its financial position adversely. The Company in order to reduce loss of revenue and market share due to any changes in the policies of the Government of India, has diversified sales mix, product range and raw material mix. The Company has approached the relevant forums including regulatory authorities through the Refiners Association and put across the views / suggestions.. However, the management cannot totally eliminate the risks involved in such volatile trades.

Operational Risks

The Company adopts a sustainable production platform. Continuous availability of gold dore and scrap is critical for the production plans of the company. The company tied up with global miners for continuous supply of gold dore. The Company is also in process of entering into off-take agreements with miners for supply of gold dore. The Company is also procuring SR bars and scrap materials from local markets. However, the management cannot totally eliminate the risks involved in such volatile trades.

Commodity Price Risks

The prices of Gold and Silver are largely governed by movements at major precious metal exchanges of London, New York, Tokyo and others. The local precious metal prices are an algorithm of these movements on 'spot' basis and Indian currency Rates. Prices may fluctuate widely for all products affecting demands in the market. The Company has adopted adequate hedging mechanisms to effectively counter the risk that arises during operations. However, the management cannot totally eliminate the risks involved in such volatile trades.

Currency Risk

This exposes the Company to metal and foreign exchange risks. The Company has established a dealing room and placed hedging policies and procedures for mitigating the risks in gold prices and foreign exchange transactions. However, the management cannot totally eliminate the risks involved in such volatile trades.

Competition Risk

Significant additional competition in the gold trade may result in reduced off-take and thereby negatively affect the Company's revenues and profitability. The Company may also face competition arising from new technology/automation leading to new products acceptable to customers. For maintaining or increasing the market share, Company has taken initiatives of effective marketing, ability to improve processes, introducing new products & technology.

Internal Control Systems

The company follows a standard operating procedure in all its operations, documentation and trades which is best as per industry standards. The management ensure all the activities and operations are well informed to the concerned and risk management policies are followed in all its endeavors.

Attrition Risk

The Company has a strong management and technical team to oversee the operations and growth of its business. The Company's ability to sustain its growth largely depends, on its ability to attract, train, motivate and retain high skilled employees. An increase in the rate of attrition of experienced employees, would adversely affect the Company business. In view of above, to curtail attrition of high potential employees, the Company always strives to create conducive work environment, platform for innovation & creativity, creation of learning & growth opportunity and sense of belongingness. As a part of its retention strategy the Company is putting its endeavor to identify & ring fence of "High Potential Employees".

SEGMENTAL PERFORMANCE

The Company is in the business of refining, manufacturing and marketing of precious metal which is considered as the only reportable segment.

OUTLOOK

The 'Make in India' initiative taken by the Government of India would help the players in the industry to consolidate and grow on the infrastructures created. The gold refining industry is looking forward to a modified gold deposit scheme from the RBI to mobilize a portion of the 25000 tonnes of gold held by the general public. The scheme can offer an opportunity of domestic supplies of scrap for refining and SGRL stands to gain maximum benefit from this scheme. Launching of initiatives of the gold deposit scheme and India coin shows the government efforts to regularize gold. Additional procedural reforms and the ease of imports of the raw material would eventually add to efficiency of the company.

2) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements, in accordance with the Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the year. Actual results could differ from estimates. Any revision to estimates is recognized prospectively in current and future periods.

3) Revenue Recognition

The reduction is treated as an impairment loss and is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss.
- An assessment is also done at each Balance Sheet date as to whether there is an indication that if a previously assessed impairment loss, no longer exists or may have decreased, the recoverable amount is reassessed and the asset is reflected at revised estimate of its recoverable amount, so that the increased carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years. A reversal of impairment loss is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss.
- After recognition of impairment loss or reversal of impairment loss as applicable, the depreciation charge for the asset is adjusted in future periods to allocate the asset's revised carrying amount, less its residual value (if any), on method of depreciation followed for the assets concerned over its remaining useful life.
