Gold can become a key pillar of India’s growth story, says WGC

bl.interview

Suresh P Iyengar
Mumbai

The demand for gold among Indian consumers has remained stable despite the sharp rise in prices in recent months. While demand in the June quarter fell 6 per cent year-on-year, consumer spending on the precious metal surged 50 per cent to ₹1.98 lakh crore, driven by higher prices. After an exceptional rally over the past two years and in early 2026, prices moderated in the second quarter, though they remained 59 per cent higher year-on-year. The government had raised the import duty to 15 per cent and urged consumers to reduce gold purchases to curb imports. The World Gold Council, which represents the world’s leading gold mining companies, has prepared a report on making gold a growth driver for the Indian economy. Sachin Jain, Regional CEO, India, World Gold Council, speaks about the future of gold in India. Edited excerpts: What is the idea behind

Like the diamond industry, gold jewellery manufacturing must modernise and target global consumers, not just the Indian diaspora

SACHIN JAIN
Regional CEO-India, WGC

the ‘Swarna Bharat 2047’ report? The report presents a roadmap for the gold industry, aligned with the vision of Viksit Bharat 2047. If India becomes a $25-trillion economy, what role can gold play? We believe the precious metal can become a major contributor to India’s long-term growth. The report was prepared after consultations with industry bodies, leading companies and government departments, including the PMO, the Ministries of Finance, Commerce, Consumer Affairs and Mines, the RBI and Invest India. What are the key pillars of the roadmap? The first is domestic gold mining. India could eventually meet 10-20 per cent of its gold demand through local production, generating investment and employment. The second is exports. India imports 700-800 tonnes of gold annually but exports only about 100 tonnes in the form of value-added jewellery. We believe exports can rise to 300-400 tonnes over 5-10 years through better manufacturing and innovation. The third is financialising household gold. The fourth focuses on younger consumers. With a median age of 28 and rising incomes, the industry must develop new products and digital-first retail experiences. The fifth is expanding gold’s role in technology. We also see opportunities in cultural tourism and in strengthening India’s position in global gold markets. Why does the report recommend a Gold Board of India? Gold-related policy is currently spread across several Ministries, resulting in fragmented decision-making. We recommend a single co-ordinating body, similar to the Tea Board, to streamline policy. What is needed to boost jewellery exports? India has world-class design talent but needs stronger manufacturing. Like the diamond industry, jewellery manufacturing must modernise and target global consumers, not just Indian diaspora. Gold is also a critical input for semiconductors, electronics and aerospace. As India builds manufacturing capacity in these sectors, demand for gold will increase. The industry must, therefore, look beyond jewellery and investment. We recommend three task forces covering financialisation, mining and manufacturing and exports. They will bring together government and industry to drive implementation. The World Gold Council will act as a catalyst.

India ranks fifth in GenAI patent filings; China at top

SURAJEET DAS GUPTA
New Delhi, 14 August

India ranks fifth globally in generative AI (GenAI) patent filings, driven by a 64 per cent compound annual growth rate (CAGR) between 2024 and 2025, said a recent report by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), an agency of the United Nations.

The push for patents illustrates how companies are moving from experimentation to large commercial deployment of AI. India published 929 generative AI patents in 2024 and 2025 alone — equating to nearly 70 per cent of the 1,350 patents it published over the entire previous decade (2014–2023).

China led the global rankings with 43,383 AI patent filings in 2024 and 2025 — surpassing its total output of 38,210 over the previous decade. The country now accounts for over 70 per cent of all GenAI patents published worldwide, illustrating its innovation prowess.

The United States follows with a 10 per cent share of global GenAI patents over the past two years. Its filings expanded at a 92 per cent CAGR, reflecting how fast commercial enterprise is driving patenting activity in that country.

Japan took third place with a 6.5 per cent share of published patents over the last two years, posting a staggering 230 per cent CAGR. This surge was largely driven by SoftBank, which emerged as the single

Kiwi broadens UPI play with credit line launch

AJINKYA KAWALE
Mumbai, 14 August

Fintech firm Kiwi is expanding its credit offerings on India's real-time payments network with the launch of a credit line on Unified Payments Interface (UPI) in partnership with Yes Bank. The firm has tied up with four credit card issuers since its launch in 2023.

A credit line on UPI is a pre-approved borrowing facility that is directly linked to a UPI ID.

The fintech expects to onboard at least 5 million users on the platform to access products like credit line and credit cards on UPI over the next five years, said Sumeet Basrani, chief business officer (CBO), Kiwi.

The partnership with Yes Bank, called Kiwi Postpaid, is the first for the company. Eligible users can access credit lines of up to ₹50,000 through the Kiwi app. It has partnered with AU Small Finance Bank, Yes Bank, Axis Bank and Punjab

National Bank for co-branded credit cards.

"There are users with a solid income and track record of other credit forms but they don't necessarily own a credit card. They have (credit) bureau presence. How do you give them access to credit for consumption, which can be used anywhere in UPI is what Kiwi Postpaid is really trying to solve for," Basrani, who joined the firm as CBO in March 2026, told Business Standard.

Credit line on UPI was launched by the National Payments Corporation of India in 2023.

Despite limited adoption, banks and fintechs are beginning to embrace the product as they look to expand credit distribution through the UPI network. "As more platforms start distributing this product and more and more users start getting access to the product, education will improve on both the user side and merchant side," he said.

"There's generally a lot of interest in growing credit on UPI because now it's proven that consumers need (it), there are inherent benefits of doing credit on UPI versus not doing it. So, whatever be the form factor, there are more and more lenders that we know are very keen to expand it," he said.
