Summary description of key risk factors based on materiality

- The success of our products depends on our ability, as well as that of our customers, to anticipate market trends and understand customer preferences early on, leveraging this information successfully. Failure to do so could negatively impact our cash flows, business performance, financial condition, and overall operational results.
- Success in our fragrances and flavor business relies on a limited pool of highly specialized employees, making recruitment and retention critical to our ability to compete and achieve strategic objectives.
- A significant portion of our revenues is dependent on a few key customers, with whom we do not have firm commitments. The loss of any one or more of these major customers could have a material adverse effect on our business, cash flows, results of operations, and financial condition.
- Increasingly stringent regulatory environment with regard to food, cosmetic ingredients and FMCG could result in stricter standards being applied to our products, which could cause us to incur substantial costs, which may have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.
- Disproportionate increases in raw materials prices and significant dependence on a limited number of suppliers for unique raw materials could adversely affect our business, results of operations and cash flows
- Our operations could be adversely affected by strikes, work stoppages or increased wage demands by our employees or any other kind of disputes with our employees.
- There have been instances of delays of certain forms which were required to be filed as per the reporting requirements under the Companies Act, 2013 to ROC
- Increasing competition and industry consolidation may adversely impact our business.
- Intense competition and consolidation in the FMCG industry may lead to increased price pressure on our customers. If we are unable to compete effectively, our sales and results of operations will suffer.
- Our ability to successfully implement our growth strategy is subject to various internal and external factors that may impact our expansion plans, operational efficiency, and overall business performance
