Dynastic politics biggest enemy of democracy: PM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 12 January

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday blasted dynastic politics as the “biggest enemy” of democracy and said it gives rise to a new form of “dictatorship” and burdens the country with “incompetence”.

Addressing the valedictory function of the second National Youth Parliament Festival, Modi launched an all out attack on dynastic parties, saying those who rise due to their dynasties have no respect and fear of law as they believe if their previous generations were not accounted for corruption, none can touch them as well.

“They see such examples in their own families. So they have neither respect nor fear of law,” he said, asking youngsters to join politics as this is “necessary” to save it. Though he did not name any party but he has in the past often hit out at Opposition parties, including the Congress, for being run by families.

He said: “It is true that (in politics) the fortunes of those who have been winning elections on the basis of surnames are dwindling. But in politics, this disease of dynastic politics is not completely finished.” They, he said in a reference to these dynasties, are also a very big reason behind political and social corruption in the country.

Though people have now been supporting honesty and performance, and the legacy of “corruption” of those in dynastic politics have become a burden for them, but the “disease of dynastic politics” has not been fully eradicated, the prime minister said.

“There are still people whose conduct, ideas and goals are all aimed at saving their family politics and their families in politics. Dynastic politics gives rise to a new form of dictatorship in democracy and burdens the country with incompetence. Dynastic politics only strengthens the sentiment of ‘me and my family’ instead of ‘nation first,’” he said.

Modi, however, added that things have changed from a time when people associated politics with “violence, corruption, and loot” and thought it cannot change. A youngster joining politics was seen as someone who has gone astray, he said. People are now so aware that they stand with honest people in politics and give them a chance, he said, asserting that honesty and performance have become “first essential requirements of today’s politics”.

This has happened due to pressure created by the awareness in the country, he said, before noting that some changes are still required and highlighting dynastic politics as the “biggest enemy” of democracy.

“The biggest enemy of democracy still exists and that is dynastic politics. Dynastic politics is such a challenge before the country that has to be rooted out,” he said. Exhorting youngsters to join politics in his virtual address, the prime minister said the “poison of dynastic politics” will continue to weaken democracy unless they enter it.

The nation’s politics like any other sector needs them and their new thoughts, energy, ideas and dreams a lot, he said. Referring to dynastic politics, he said this can be changed through awareness and the young generation joining politics.

His government has been organising and promoting youth-related events, including holding mock parliament, to prepare the young generation in this regard, Modi said.

Nifty...

According to the data from the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), the combined m-cap of all BSE-listed companies was ₹3.23 trillion at the end of March 1992 and ₹4.35 trillion at the end of March 1995. This has now ballooned to ₹197.5 trillion as of Tuesday. The underlying corporate and economic fundamentals have, however, not kept pace with the surge in stock valuation on the bourses in the past nine months.

For example, while the Nifty valuations touched a new high on Tuesday, the index underlying EPS — that tracks the combined earnings of 50 index companies — is still down nearly 20 per cent from the highs reached in January this year.

Similarly, the index companies’ return on equity (RoE) continues to hover around record lows and is down nearly 310 basis points since the beginning of calendar year 2020. One basis point is one-hundredth of a per cent.

The index companies’ RoE is 10.2 per cent on average, currently down from 13.3 per cent at the end of December 2019. For comparison, the Sensex RoE was around 18 per cent in April 1992 at the height of the Harshad Mehta rally and 14.4 per cent in October 1994.

On Monday, the RBI governor raised concerns over the growing disconnect between the financial markets and the real economy, saying stretched valuations posed a risk to financial stability. The International Monetary Fund has raised similar concerns in its Financial Stability Report published in June 2020.

Market analysts, however, say there no ceiling on the market on the upside, given the gush of liquidity at the bourses.

“The stock price and valuations will continue to rise as long as liquidity remains benign. Foreign investors are pumping in fresh capital of ₹2,000-3,000 crore a day on the Indian bourses, pushing markets to new highs,” says Dhananjay Sinha, head-research, Systematix Institutional Equities. According to him, the markets will cool only when the central bank tightens liquidity due to fears of hyper-inflation. But this scenario looks remote right now.

SC stays...

“The implementation of the three farm laws -- Farmers’ Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Act, Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act, and Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement on Price Assurance and Farm Services Act — will stand stayed until further orders,” it said.

The Bench said it deemed fit to pass the interim order “with the hope and expectation that both parties will take this in the right spirit and attempt to arrive at a fair, equitable and just solution to the problems”.

The Bench lauded the farmers for carrying out their agitation against the farm laws peacefully.

“While we may not stifle a peaceful protest, we think that this extraordinary order of stay of implementation of the farm laws will be perceived as an achievement of the purpose of such protest at least for the present and will encourage the farmers bodies to convince their members to get back to their livelihood, both in order to protect their own lives and health and in order to protect the lives and properties of others,” the Bench said and posted the matter for further hearing after eight weeks.

Covid vaccine...

The air cargo terminals at the airport would work 24x7 to support the vaccine movement. As the Spicejet aircraft landed in Delhi after a two-hour flight, the vaccine boxes were transported by cool dollies to warehouses which can maintain a capacity of 5.7 million vials a day.

After the first lot of doses landed in four major zonal centres—Delhi, Kolkata, Bengaluru and Chennai—these were trucked to hospitals from where it would be distributed to thousands of nursing homes, hospitals and dispensaries across 718 districts. Vaccines arriving in Delhi and other hubs get the fast-lane treatment meant for priority packages, with an early delivery commitment the following day. That’s part of the logistics worked out for the vaccine transportation.

Kunal Agarwal, co-founder at Kool-Ex Cold Chain, however, said, “for us, carrying this vaccine is just a new product in our business which we have been doing for years. Whether Serum or Bharat Biotech, these are our old clients. Our trucks are bulk carriers of vaccines and are meant for long haul transport.” Truck fleets that work with pharmaceutical companies typically go through quality audits and certifications. On a day with back to back vaccine-related activities, a Kool-Ex truck carried the vials from Delhi Airport to the Rajiv Gandhi Super Specialty Hospital (RGSSH), some 36 km away from the airport in the afternoon.

RGSSH, a key Covid facility in Delhi, is doubling up as a vaccine storage centre. “We have installed 90 deep freeze refrigerators in the last one month which will help us to maintain temperature between 2 and 8 degree Celsius. The freezers will give a warning beep sound in case temperature rises above 8 degree,” said Dr Chhavi Gupta, spokesperson at RGSSH.

Unlike the Pfizer vaccine requiring ultra low temperature, the Serum vaccine can be stored at 2-8 degrees. Even so, dry ice or refrigerant gel packs are a must. Nirbhik Narang, head of cargo division for state-owned Air India, which flew 23 boxes of vaccines to Ahmedabad, explained, “we are packing the vaccines in gel packs as that is sufficient to maintain the required temperature for Covishield. When they are exported internationally, we may have to use dry ice,” he said.

As the vaccination day nears, planning is being stepped up for a complicated supply chain network comprising factory workers, truck drivers, pilots, bureaucrats, police, pharmacists and health-care workers to converge seamlessly, officials said.

But, there are worries around a patchy internet network—a hurdle for the Co-Win platform that’s at the core of tracking the vaccine delivery. As a doctor from a public hospital in Ghaziabad pointed out, the dry run had to be halted due to internet glitches.

There could be other issues as well like weather or mechanical problems. The process will become more complex as distribution moves from large urban and suburban areas to more remote locations with smaller populations, as was the case in Agartala, capital of Tripura, on Tuesday. It received only 100 dosages as one of the flights that was supposed to carry the vaccine was cancelled due to poor weather, a state government official said. But the day one of the vaccine movement was termed successful by bureaucrats.

“We can say that we have won the first round. Flights out of Pune have seamlessly transported out the vaccines. Priority take-off and landing status was given. Vaccines were loaded last, so that it can be unloaded first at the destination airport. Now off to the second stage,” said an official involved in the logistics process.

Tesla opens...

No location has yet been finalised for Tesla to set a manufacturing plant in the state, he added. Gaurav Gupta, principal secretary to the government of Karnataka, said the state had been in regular touch with Tesla for the last few months.

Vaibhav Taneja, Venkat-rangam Sreeram, and David Jon Feinstein will be the three directors of the new company.

Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari had in December said that Tesla would be arriving in India in early 2021. Tesla CEO Elon Musk too had last year announced on Twitter that his company would enter India in 2021. The world’s most valuable auto company is likely to make its debut in India with the more affordable Tesla Model 3. Expected to cost around ₹60 lakh, the fully electric vehicle is powered by a 60kw hour lithium-ion battery pack with a range of 500 km. The sedan has a top speed of around 250 km and goes from 0 to 60mph in only 3.1 seconds.

To begin with, Tesla will take an imported route for its initial innings and therefore attract high duties. It will also not be eligible for the FAME scheme.

Karnataka is currently a hub of several EV makers such as Ather Energy and Mahindra Electric. In December, electric mobility solutions and services company SUN Mobility had also announced plans to roll out 100 battery swapping stations in Bengaluru by the end of 2021.

Dynastic politics biggest enemy of democracy: PM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 12 January

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday blasted dynastic politics as the “biggest enemy” of democracy and said it gives rise to a new form of “dictatorship” and burdens the country with “incompetence”.

Addressing the valedictory function of the second National Youth Parliament Festival, Modi launched an all out attack on dynastic parties, saying those who rise due to their dynasties have no respect and fear of law as they believe if their previous generations were not accounted for corruption, none can touch them as well.

“They see such examples in their own families. So they have neither respect nor fear of law,” he said, asking youngsters to join politics as this is “necessary” to save it. Though he did not name any party but he has in the past often hit out at Opposition parties, including the Congress, for being run by families.

He said: “It is true that (in politics) the fortunes of those who have been winning elections on the basis of surnames are dwindling. But in politics, this disease of dynastic politics is not completely finished.” They, he said in a reference to these dynasties, are also a very big reason behind political and social corruption in the country.

Though people have now been supporting honesty and performance, and the legacy of “corruption” of those in dynastic politics have become a burden for them, but the “disease of dynastic politics” has not been fully eradicated, the prime minister said.

“There are still people whose conduct, ideas and goals are all aimed at saving their family politics and their families in politics. Dynastic politics gives rise to a new form of dictatorship in democracy and burdens the country with incompetence. Dynastic politics only strengthens the sentiment of ‘me and my family’ instead of ‘nation first,’” he said.

Modi, however, added that things have changed from a time when people associated politics with “violence, corruption, and loot” and thought it cannot change. A youngster joining politics was seen as someone who has gone astray, he said. People are now so aware that they stand with honest people in politics and give them a chance, he said, asserting that honesty and performance have become “first essential requirements of today’s politics”.

This has happened due to pressure created by the awareness in the country, he said, before noting that some changes are still required and highlighting dynastic politics as the “biggest enemy” of democracy.

“The biggest enemy of democracy still exists and that is dynastic politics. Dynastic politics is such a challenge before the country that has to be rooted out,” he said. Exhorting youngsters to join politics in his virtual address, the prime minister said the “poison of dynastic politics” will continue to weaken democracy unless they enter it.

The nation’s politics like any other sector needs them and their new thoughts, energy, ideas and dreams a lot, he said. Referring to dynastic politics, he said this can be changed through awareness and the young generation joining politics.

His government has been organising and promoting youth-related events, including holding mock parliament, to prepare the young generation in this regard, Modi said.

Nifty...

According to the data from the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), the combined m-cap of all BSE-listed companies was $3.23 trillion at the end of March 1992 and $4.35 trillion at the end of March 1995. This has now ballooned to $197.5 trillion as of Tuesday. The underlying corporate and economic fundamentals have, however, not kept pace with the surge in stock valuation on the bourses in the past nine months.

For example, while the Nifty valuations touched a new high on Tuesday, the index underlying EPS — that tracks the combined earnings of 50 index companies — is still down nearly 20 per cent from the highs reached in January this year.

Similarly, the index companies’ return on equity (RoE) continues to hover around record lows and is down nearly 310 basis points since the beginning of calendar year 2020. One basis point is one-hundredth of a per cent.

The index companies’ RoE is 10.2 per cent on average, currently down from 13.3 per cent at the end of December 2019. For comparison, the Sensex RoE was around 18 per cent in April 1992 at the height of the Harshad Mehta rally and 14.4 per cent in October 1994.

On Monday, the RBI governor raised concerns over the growing disconnect between the financial markets and the real economy, saying stretched valuations posed a risk to financial stability. The International Monetary Fund has raised similar concerns in its Financial Stability Report published in June 2020.

Market analysts, however, say there no ceiling on the market on the upside, given the gush of liquidity at the bourses.

“The stock price and valuations will continue to rise as long as liquidity remains benign. Foreign investors are pumping in fresh capital of $2,000-3,000 crore a day on the Indian bourses, pushing markets to new highs,” says Dhananjay Sinha, head-research, Systematix Institutional Equities. According to him, the markets will cool only when the central bank tightens liquidity due to fears of hyperinflation. But this scenario looks remote right now.

SC stays...

“The implementation of the three farm laws -- Farmers’ Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Act, Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act, and Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement on Price Assurance and Farm Services Act — will stand stayed until further orders,” it said.

The Bench said it deemed fit to pass the interim order “with the hope and expectation that both parties will take this in the right spirit and attempt to arrive at a fair, equitable and just solution to the problems”.

The Bench lauded the farmers for carrying out their agitation against the farm laws peacefully.

“While we may not stifle a peaceful protest, we think that this extraordinary order of stay of implementation of the farm laws will be perceived as an achievement of the purpose of such protest at least for the present and will encourage the farmers bodies to convince their members to get back to their livelihood, both in order to protect their own lives and health and in order to protect the lives and properties of others,” the Bench said and posted the matter for further hearing after eight weeks.

Covid vaccine...

The air cargo terminals at the airport would work 24x7 to support the vaccine movement. As the Spicejet aircraft landed in Delhi after a two-hour flight, the vaccine boxes were transported by cool dollies to warehouses which can maintain a capacity of 5.7 million vials a day.

After the first lot of doses landed in four major zonal centres—Delhi, Kolkata, Bengaluru and Chennai—these were trucked to hospitals from where it would be distributed to thousands of nursing homes, hospitals and dispensaries across 718 districts. Vaccines arriving in Delhi and other hubs get the fast-lane treatment meant for priority packages, with an early delivery commitment the following day. That’s part of the logistics worked out for the vaccine transportation.

Kunal Agarwal, co-founder at Kool-Ex Cold Chain, however, said, “for us, carrying this vaccine is just a new product in our business which we have been doing for years. Whether Serum or Bharat Biotech, these are our old clients. Our trucks are bulk carriers of vaccines and are meant for long haul transport.” Truck fleets that work with pharmaceutical companies typically go through quality audits and certifications. On a day with back to back vaccine-related activities, a Kool-Ex truck carried the vials from Delhi Airport to the Rajiv Gandhi Super Specialty Hospital (RGSSH), some 36 km away from the airport in the afternoon.

RGSSH, a key Covid facility in Delhi, is doubling up as a vaccine storage centre. “We have installed 90 deep freeze refrigerators in the last one month which will help us to maintain temperature between 2 and 8 degree Celsius. The freezers will give a warning beep sound in case temperature rises above 8 degree,” said Dr Chhavi Gupta, spokesperson at RGSSH.

Unlike the Pfizer vaccine requiring ultra low temperature, the Serum vaccine can be stored at 2-8 degrees. Even so, dry ice or refrigerant gel packs are a must. Nirbhik Narang, head of cargo division for state-owned Air India, which flew 23 boxes of vaccines to Ahmedabad, explained, “we are packing the vaccines in gel packs as that is sufficient to maintain the required temperature for Covishield. When they are exported internationally, we may have to use dry ice,” he said.

As the vaccination day nears, planning is being stepped up for a complicated supply chain network comprising factory workers, truck drivers, pilots, bureaucrats, police, pharmacists and health-care workers to converge seamlessly, officials said.

But, there are worries around a patchy internet network—a hurdle for the Co-Win platform that’s at the core of tracking the vaccine delivery. As a doctor from a public hospital in Ghaziabad pointed out, the dry run had to be halted due to internet glitches.

There could be other issues as well like weather or mechanical problems. The process will become more complex as distribution moves from large urban and suburban areas to more remote locations with smaller populations, as was the case in Agartala, capital of Tripura, on Tuesday. It received only 100 dosages as one of the flights that was supposed to carry the vaccine was cancelled due to poor weather, a state government official said. But the day one of the vaccine movement was termed successful by bureaucrats.

“We can say that we have won the first round. Flights out of Pune have seamlessly transported out the vaccines. Priority take-off and landing status was given. Vaccines were loaded last, so that it can be unloaded first at the destination airport. Now off to the second stage,” said an official involved in the logistics process.

Tesla opens...

No location has yet been finalised for Tesla to set a manufacturing plant in the state, he added. Gaurav Gupta, principal secretary to the government of Karnataka, said the state had been in regular touch with Tesla for the last few months.

Vaibhav Taneja, Venkat-rangam Sreeram, and David Jon Feinstein will be the three directors of the new company.

Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari had in December said that Tesla would be arriving in India in early 2021. Tesla CEO Elon Musk too had last year announced on Twitter that his company would enter India in 2021. The world’s most valuable auto company is likely to make its debut in India with the more affordable Tesla Model 3. Expected to cost around ₹60 lakh, the fully electric vehicle is powered by a 60kw hour lithium-ion battery pack with a range of 500 km. The sedan has a top speed of around 250 km and goes from 0 to 60mph in only 3.1 seconds.

To begin with, Tesla will take an imported route for its initial innings and therefore attract high duties. It will also not be eligible for the FAME scheme.

Karnataka is currently a hub of several EV makers such as Ather Energy and Mahindra Electric. In December, electric mobility solutions and services company SUN Mobility had also announced plans to roll out 100 battery swapping stations in Bengaluru by the end of 2021.

Whether Serum or Bharat Biotech, these are our old clients. Our trucks are bulk carriers of vaccines and are meant for long haul transport.” Truck fleets that work with pharmaceutical companies typically go through quality audits and certifications. On a day with back to back vaccine-related activities, a Kool-Ex truck carried the vials from Delhi Airport to the Rajiv Gandhi Super Specialty Hospital (RGSSH), some 36 km away from the airport in the afternoon.

RGSSH, a key Covid facility in Delhi, is doubling up as a vaccine storage centre. “We have installed 90 deep freeze refrigerators in the last one month which will help us to maintain temperature between 2 and 8 degree Celsius. The freezers will give a warning beep sound in case temperature rises above 8 degree,” said Dr Chhavi Gupta, spokesperson at RGSSH.

Unlike the Pfizer vaccine requiring ultra low temperature, the Serum vaccine can be stored at 2-8 degrees. Even so, dry ice or refrigerant gel packs are a must. Nirbhik Narang, head of cargo division for state-owned Air India, which flew 23 boxes of vaccines to Ahmedabad, explained, “we are packing the vaccines in gel packs as that is sufficient to maintain the required temperature for Covishield. When they are exported internationally, we may have to use dry ice,” he said.

As the vaccination day nears, planning is being stepped up for a complicated supply chain network comprising factory workers, truck drivers, pilots, bureaucrats, police, pharmacists and health-care workers to converge seamlessly, officials said.

But, there are worries around a patchy internet network—a hurdle for the Co-Win platform that’s at the core of tracking the vaccine delivery. As a doctor from a public hospital in Ghaziabad pointed out, the dry run had to be halted due to internet glitches.

There could be other issues as well like weather or mechanical problems. The process will become more complex as distribution moves from large urban and suburban areas to more remote locations with smaller populations, as was the case in Agartala, capital of Tripura, on Tuesday. It received only 100 dosages as one of the flights that was supposed to carry the vaccine was cancelled due to poor weather, a state government official said. But the day one of the vaccine movement was termed successful by bureaucrats.

“We can say that we have won the first round. Flights out of Pune have seamlessly transported out the vaccines. Priority take-off and landing status was given. Vaccines were loaded last, so that it can be unloaded first at the destination airport. Now off to the second stage,” said an official involved in the logistics process.

Tesla opens...

No location has yet been finalised for Tesla to set a manufacturing plant in the state, he added. Gaurav Gupta, principal secretary to the government of Karnataka, said the state had been in regular touch with Tesla for the last few months.

Vaibhav Taneja, Venkat-rangam Sreeram, and David Jon Feinstein will be the three directors of the new company.

Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari had in December said that Tesla would be arriving in India in early 2021. Tesla CEO Elon Musk too had last year announced on Twitter that his company would enter India in 2021. The world’s most valuable auto company is likely to make its debut in India with the more affordable Tesla Model 3. Expected to cost around ₹60 lakh, the fully electric vehicle is powered by a 60kw hour lithium-ion battery pack with a range of 500 km. The sedan has a top speed of around 250 km and goes from 0 to 60mph in only 3.1 seconds.

To begin with, Tesla will take an imported route for its initial innings and therefore attract high duties. It will also not be eligible for the FAME scheme.

Karnataka is currently a hub of several EV makers such as Ather Energy and Mahindra Electric. In December, electric mobility solutions and services company SUN Mobility had also announced plans to roll out 100 battery swapping stations in Bengaluru by the end of 2021.
