Adani Energy Solutions is World #1 ESG-Scored Utility

Ahmedabad, 1st September 2026: Adani Energy Solutions (AESL), India's largest private transmission and distribution company, today said that it has achieved the distinction of being the highest ESG-scored company globally in the Utilities sector as assessed by S&P Global, following the completion of S&P Global's latest Media and Stakeholder Analysis (MSA) review.

Following the review, the governance-related assessment that had previously been impacted was corrected thereby, resulting in significant enhancement of the company's ESG standing. As a result, AESL has secured an ESG Score of 90 out of 100, placing it at the top of the global utilities sector, against the industry average of 41. Prior to this review, AESL's score was at 81. The company's disclosure-based Corporate Sustainability Assessment (CSA) score has also increased by 17 points year-on-year to being at 90.

AESL's performance reflects strong outcomes across all three ESG dimensions, with Environmental scoring at 93, Social at 89, and Governance & Economic at 84, significantly outperforming industry averages. Key drivers of AESL's performance include Product Stewardship, Climate Strategy, and Human Capital Management.

"Being recognized as the highest ESG-scored utility company globally by S&P Global is a proud milestone for AESL and a strong validation of our commitment to sustainable growth. At AESL, sustainability is integrated into our everyday decision-making processes. This achievement reflects the dedication of our teams across the organization, who continuously work to strengthen our environmental performance, social impact, governance standards, and disclosure practices," said Mr. Kandarp Patel, CEO, AESL.
