This is in response to your email and letter dated November 12, 2025 in relation to the news item which appeared in the "Website www.economictimes.com" on November 12, 2025 regarding "Adani plans India's biggest battery storage in Gujarat".

In this regard, it may be noted that Battery Energy Storage Systems ("BESS") are being developed under the Adani Group's integrated utility platform, which includes Adani Green Energy Limited ("AGEL"), Adani Energy Solutions Limited ("AESL") and Adani Power Limited ("APL").

To our knowledge, currently, AGEL will implement Adani's first BESS project, with a capacity of 1,126 MW / 3,530 MWh. As such, at this stage, there is no event which triggers any disclosure requirements for the Company, under the applicable regulations.

Given the integration with transmission and distribution assets, and the transformative potential of BESS for the grid and power sector, the Adani Group, in the future, will evaluate opportunities for the Company and APL to contribute their expertise and add value to this initiative as part of AGEL's 50 GW renewable energy roadmap by 2030.
