Government of India has set an ambitious target of doubling the farmers income by 2022. However, farming is no more lucrative because of increase input cost and faulty marketing mechanism. With the division of joint families, maximum farmers have holding of less than 5 acres of land and modern farming is not viable at this scale at all.

The main focus of Government of India is to encourage the allied farming businesses like dairy farming and fish farming. India is on top in the world in the dairy sector with 6.3% annual growth and over 175 million tonnes of production is largest producer of milk but still far behind the global average yield of milk per animal and per capita milk consumption. A study conducted by ICAR found that bridging the yield gap by way of scientific feeding of TMR (Total Mixed Ration) alone can increase milk productivity by 41.2% which will have great impact on increasing milk production and translate in much more money in the hands of farmer.

Animal feed accounts 70% cost of milk. Till date balanced cattle feed usage is limited to 11% of the total daily feed requirement. The availability of quality feed and adoption of balanced ratio feeding therefore, present a lucrative option for the industry and boosting farmer income as well.
