Announcing this at a media briefing today, S. Ravneet Singh Bittu Union Minister of State for Railways and Food Processing Industries, said that the project holds strategic and economic importance, significantly reducing the distance between Ferozpur and Amritsar from 196 km to about 100 km, and shortening the Jammu–Ferozpur–Fazilka–Mumbai corridor by 236 km. It will serve as a crucial link between the Malwa and Majha regions of Punjab, enhancing regional mobility and logistics efficiency. Thanking Hon’ Prime Minister of India Sh. Narendra Modi ji, Home Minister Sh. Amit Shah ji, Railway Minister Sh. Ashwini Vaishnaw ji for this historic gift to Punjab, Bittu said that the new rail line will connect the Jalandhar–Ferozpur and Patti–Khemkaran routes, providing a direct and alternative connection close to the international border. Passing through areas of strategic defence significance, it will facilitate rapid movement of defence personnel, equipment, and supplies. Ravneet said that Beyond strategic benefits, the project promises significant socio-economic gains, benefiting nearly 10 lakh people and creating approximately 2.5 lakh employment opportunities. Rising Tides: Understanding the Surge in Divorce Rates

Vinod Chandrashekhar Dixit

(dixitpatrakar@yahoo.in)

towards divorce is a part of the process of secularization in Indian society. Secularization refers to the declining influence of religion. Divorce is not a happy option for couples. Marriage is considered to be an unbreakable union of life according to Hindu scriptures, regardless of its success or failure. Divorce means the termination of marital relations. It means dissolution of the marital bond. Technically speaking, divorce means a decree of dissolution of marriage. Divorce is a process through which marital bond ceases to be in existence as per law and the couple can no longer be called the husband or the wife. Hindu marriage is regarded as sacred because it is a bond of indissoluble nature. In any society when the married persons feel that they cannot live together, they have no other alternative but to dissolve the marriage. Divorce is the final dissolution of marriage. As far as Hindus are concerned, the bond of matrimony was regarded as permanent bond and dissolution of marriage was generally not regarded as proper. When couples divorce, the greatest causality is not the relationship but the children. It also shows that marriage is no longer a sacred word and divorce no longer a dirty one. A marriage is a union of two families, not just two individuals. There have been steady rises in divorce rates in India throughout recent decades. The causes of marital breakdown in the form of divorce or separation in India are different from that of the Western countries. However, many factors are associated with the rise in divorce rate in India. The changing attitudes towards divorce have been institutionalized by various changes in laws which have made room for divorce. Divorce legislations were influenced by the notion of suffering and unhappiness of the adults trapped in the so called 'empty-shell' marriages, where the spouses live together but their marriages exist in name only. These legislations provided grounds for divorce and made divorce considerably easier.

Divorce , today, has gone to an average home which is generally the last line of defence for any society like ours. It is rightly pointed out that "The impact of divorce on children can be deep and life long". Marriage is now no longer a sacred word and divorces no longer a dirty one. Marriages are changing because women are changing-both in the metropolis and in the smaller towns. A significantly growing number of Indians are flooding the divorce courts to escape from unhappy marriages and assert their newfound independence. The number of broken families has increased after became easy. Society has treated divorce as taboo for long. There are a thousand reasons for a marriage to break. But there is one more reason for a compromise. Marriages survive on account of moral fear. Change in attitudes

According to the World Press review finding (1987), divorces are on the increase to such an extent that all major cities of India have had to create reconciliation bureaus" to help estranged couples. For better or for worse, divorce has become the way out. The pati-parmeshwar has rudely and gradually been brought down to earth. Moreover, most children of divorced parents lead a volleyball existence that is thrown from one side to the other without a safety net for their emotions. In many cases, men seeking divorce are prepared to return whatever they have received as dowry. The question is how to bring an end to this practice? Will divorces continue for ever? If so, a day will come when our society as we see it today will cease to exist. (B-15 Jyoti-Kalash Society, Jodhpur Tekra, Satellite, Ahmedabad - 380 015)

Gujarat's Energy dept to use data-driven forecasting for future planning

Ahmedabad, Gujarat Energy Minister Rushikesh Patel launched the Urja Samvardhanam, a new digital platform that marks a major technological leap for the state's power sector. The portal will store detailed data from all substations, sub-divisions and consumer categories across the state, enabling real-time tracking of electricity demand and precise forecasting of future consumption trends. Speaking at the launch, Minister Patel said the initiative aligns with Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel's vision of long-term, technology-driven infrastructure planning. The portal will allow authorities to monitor when and where electricity is being used, track outages and shutdowns, and assess consumption patterns at a granular level information that will help improve customer services and ensure faster response to faults.

Officials said the system will be crucial for data-driven decision-making, helping the department identify regions where demand is rising and plan new substations, transmission lines and upgrades accordingly. In the next phase, energy-generation data will also be integrated into the platform, allowing the state to strengthen power sourcing, diversify energy supply and build a more robust distribution network. Meanwhile, Minister Patel also inspected a series of critical power sector facilities, emphasising the need to scale up automation across electricity distribution, monitoring and customer service to enhance efficiency and quality of service. This was his first major review visit to Vadodara after taking charge of the state's Energy Department in the newly formed cabinet.
