7th round of India talks ends in a de

AJAI SHUKLA
New Delhi, 13 October

On Tuesday evening, New Delhi and Beijing signed off on a joint press release to describe the previous day's talks between senior military commanders of the two sides, in which there was no agreement to disengage or de-escalate.

All that the joint release on the seventh round of talks at Chushul could claim was a "sincere, in-depth and constructive exchange of views on disengagement along the Line of Actual Control (LAC)... [which] enhanced understanding of each other's positions."

In fact, after six previous rounds of talks that began in early June, both sides already had a complete understanding of each other's positions, which remained unchanged from the preceding sixth rounds held on September 21.

India's core demand remains a troop pull-back by China to positions both sides held in April, before the People's Liberation Army (PLA) trespassed across the LAC into the Galwan, Hot Springs, Pangong Tso and Depsang sectors.

China's position, on the other hand, remains that it will only discuss a pull back after the Indian Army vacates the tactically dominating positions it occupied south of Pangong Tso at the end of August.

Suggesting a hardening of

The border infrastructure development is "the root cause of the tension between the two sides", Zhao Lijian, a spokesman for China's Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said on Tuesday.

stance, Tuesday's media release is silent on concrete steps to mitigate the confrontation. The September 21 statement had resolved to "strengthen communication on the ground, avoid misunderstandings and misjudgments, stop sending more troops to the frontline, refrain from unilaterally changing the situation on the ground, and avoid taking any actions that may complicate the situation".

In the absence of any tactical agreements, Tuesday's media release, like the September 21 statement, adopted a standard Chinese formulation: "Both sides agreed to earnestly implement the important understandings reached by the leaders of the two countries, not to turn differences into disputes, and jointly guard peace and tranquility in the border areas."

As of now, it is unclear whether any utility is an eighth round of military talks. The September 21 statement had "agreed to hold a round of military commander-level meeting as soon as possible", Tuesday's release only "agreed to maintain dialogue and communication through military diplomatic channels".

China analysts do not "give" in Beijing. Yun Sun of the Washington DC Stimson Centre believes Delhi is missing some mental aspects of the personality of President Xi Jinping.
