CSR Activities

Aries Agro Limited, 50 years old Company has always strived to help farmers and rural area development in all way possible. We are proud to say that 2% of our Profits goes in our CSR activities:

Aries Green cups

Aries Greencups was an effort to introduce urban and semi-urban children to the concept of 'grow your own food'. A unique concept of soil-less cultivation, Greencups reached out to school students and their teachers directly.

Farmer call centre

Our call centre in Vijayawada continue to provide answers to farmer's queries and provided direct interaction with consumers

Scholarships

Aries have provided learning materials and supported children with monetary and nonmonetary incentives in schools across India. We have been doing this since the last 17 years in the name of our founder, Late Bala Mirchandani.

CSR Activities

Aries Well on Wheels

Aries Well on Wheels is an endeavor to effectively deliver potable water over long distances. It is particularly useful in areas women search for water and carry it back home for their families.

Soil testing services

The Company has organized during the year soil testing camps in North Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh and Telangana using Mobile Soil Testing Kits which analyze 10 parameters including pH, EC, NPK levels in soil, micro nutrient levels including Zinc, Ferrous, Boron, Organic Carbon, etc.

Sahi Chuno – Election Campaign

Aries organized SAHI CHUNO campaign where farmer had to show the inked finger to the dealer for the discount of the Aries Products.

We got positive response from the farmers.

CSR Activities

Aries GOLDEN JUBILEE Annadanam

On the occasion of our Golden Jubilee i.e 50 years to Aries Agro Limited (27th Nov 2020) we did this Annadanam activity across India.

Aries Agro's Coffee Table Book Launch

Foundation & Family: Company's inception, building the foundation of one nation

Future Perfect

Introduction

Over the course of several decades, the Green Revolution spread and brought food security for a young nation, and also prosperity. Many discourses emerged on land use, irrigation, and the bridging of vast socio-economic gaps as farmers became more empowered, in supporting India's economy. While these discourses recount the movement, few chronicle the stories of people who drove this revolution.

This book narrates the story of our family: Aries Agro Limited, and our people. It is an attempt to recount the 50-year odyssey that has led the Aries brand through triumphs and grueling times, from the heights of going public to the immense gravity of people building a company of their own dreams and sweat. When you look at Aries Agro, it would be harsh to conclude that it is simply a contemporary expansion of a family-owned business established in the early days of the Green Revolution. It is anything but.

Today, we, at Aries Agro Limited, have thrived beyond expectations, guided by the vision of our founders, the ambitious, Dr. T. B. Mirchandani and Mrs. Bala Mirchandani. This is much more than a simple chronology of a pioneering organization in Agriculture. It is a human story that follows the narratives of dreams. By any standard, it is beyond a story of heroes. It doesn't glorify milestones or enumerate awards. It is but, a recollection of the little acts of perseverance, loyalty, and commitment.

It is a story of being prosperity to India's core economy-driver - the farmer.

Aries Agro Limited can certainly make some bold claims about working with farmers.

India was dependent on external food supplies in the early 1960s. To meet the growing demands for food, fodder, and fuel, high-yielding cultivars were introduced during the early days of the Green Revolution in India. However, these varieties exhausted the soil of nutrients and minerals.

Aries co-founders, Dr. T. B. Mirchandani and Mrs. Bala Mirchandani saw the potential in helping farmers get more from a nutrient-deficient soil, reliant on the benevolence of the monsoon. They laid the groundwork on the application of micronutrient fertilizers to mitigate soil deficiency. Aries Agro pioneered the concept of agricultural chelates that helped farmers ascertain soil quality and assisted in decision-making for planning crop nutrition cycles.

Aries Agro is a stellar example of prosperity in Indian agriculture. An Indian-born multinational, its story mirrors the success stories of farmers who use its 84 different products today. As an industry pioneer, it sets benchmarks to create world-class agri-productivity levels. It's not just about products that improve yield, but also about bridging the farmer's decision-making pattern with crop management methods and delivering knowledge-based agronomy solutions.

The credit for this success must go first to the 1,200-strong family of Aries Agro. A well-knit and loyal family, it prides on ownership not just in words, but deeds. They have been unfailingly supportive and industrious in carrying the yoke of innovation and responsibilities towards their family, their customer, the farmers, and citizens of India.

We're all stories in the end, and this book attempts to bring together all stories that trace Aries' legacy. A good story that acknowledges and expresses gratitude to each stakeholder.

Leading Sustainably: words to deeds

As we celebrate 50 years of transforming Indian agriculture, we are mindful of the role and responsibility we have in working towards a sustainable future for India, the planet, and communities we serve. India is home to one-sixth of all humanity. Technology and innovation, are key to creating food security for the future.

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are an ambitious universal development agenda agreed by all member states of the United Nations. They are an opportunity for all of us to improve our world collectively.

Aries Agro is proud have aligned our business in furthering the SDGs in India. Our products directly affect India's food security. The growing number of harvests to meet the rising food demand over the past decades has led to the depletion of nutrients naturally present in the soil. When Aries Agro pioneered micronutrients, it was a boon for Indian farmers and crop productivity.

Knowing how valuable technology can be applied to the future of food, we encourage any and every possible innovation in agriculture and allied fields to secure a better future for all.

This is a snapshot of how Aries Agro is furthering the SDGs through our own initiatives and spheres of influence especially in promoting farmers' welfare.

- Double farmer income by focusing on more on income security
- Increase farming efficiency to free people to enter other industries

- Increase farm productivity through systemic use of high-quality agro-chemicals
- Improve soil fertility through advanced products

- Enhance nutritional levels of vegetables by improving nutrient uptake via Aries Agro's micronutrient water-soluble formulations
- Farmer insurance

- Support meritorious students through various scholarship programs
- Enable farmer education & skill-training through various training programs by specialized Extension Teams

- Actively promote equal access to decent work and representation to women through advocacy, knowledge creation, on-ground interventions
- In our Hyderabad and Chhatral units, women factory workers outnumber men
- Mumbai head office has a greater ratio of women in empowered and important positions especially Research & Development, Purchase, and Accounts

- Aries Agro installed water filters & new washrooms for access to clean sanitation

- Hyderabad manufacturing run by Solar Power Generation System
- Exclusive use of CNG for manufacturing at Chhatral ensuring a reduction in emissions and pollution

- Support progress of agricultural communities by improved yield
- Make agriculture an engine of employment and pro-poor economic growth for small landowners and agrarian communities

- Develop sound agronomic recommendations in the form of diverse formulations using chelation technology
- Adopt and propagate hydroponic farming as a more energy-intensive practice than traditional forms of agriculture
- Expand agricultural knowledge and productivity assets across all 29 Indian states to improve livelihood opportunities
- Improve manufacturing capabilities through automation
