GUJARAT

A deserted fish market in Kutch; (Right) Ibrahim Manjaliya, a fisherman

they stop us from fishing at the shore with nets. I have a family of 17 people, of whom 10 are into fishing and yet, we are having a hard time," said Manjaliya. His family barely manages to earn Rs 1,000 per day, he added.

Under the Union Government's scheme for deep sea fishing, Gujarat is the only state — with the exception of Tamil Nadu — that has given a subsidy for the construction of deep sea fishing boats, to help fishermen fish up to 250 nautical miles (around 460 km).

"The aquatic life was abundant in the creek of Kutch two decades ago, but all the good fish have gone beyond the coast to deeper waters over the years. We can only go 6-8 kilometres in the water when there is low tide and the catch is really low," said Manjaliya.

Aamad Iliyas from Loni said that the fishermen's boats are seized even if they have identity documents. "Our boats are being checked on a daily basis and even if we show the documents, they treat us like terrorists. Often, the Coast Guard personnel seize our boats on suspicion and when nothing is found after preliminary checking, they hand it over to the Gujarat Police for further probe. The entire process takes at least 2-3 days, during which our boats are under their custody, and we

Another fisherman, Mohammad Ibrahim from Jarpara, says that the police have also been harassing their community on the charges of drug peddling. "Recently, one man was arrested in Mundra by the Anti-Terrorist Squad (ATS), for possession of a kilogram of brown sugar and after that, two innocent fishermen were held for days for no fault of theirs. Police teams have been conducting several raids in our villages. They also apprehend us whenever we return from fishing, asking if we are carrying any contraband," said Ibrahim.

However, not all fishermen agree with the notion of harassment meted out to their community in the name of security. "Yes, it is correct that security has been heightened to unprecedented levels but it not an issue for us. We, too, have been asked to stay vigilant and report to police if we see any outsider at the port or in our village," said Budha Ismail Jan, a fisherman from Mundra.

In the wake of the Centre's decision to revoke the special status of Jammu and Kashmir in relation to Article 370, security agencies have put Gujarat on high alert, to check infiltration by terror elements from the coastal borders. The Gujarat ATS received a tip from the Intelligence Bureau (IB) that four terror
