Scamming - Minister Sees Balaji "crime less" "will be needed"

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE
New Delhi

Terminating the trial involving the former Tamil Nadu Minister V. Senthil Balaji a "ruderless ship", the Supreme Court on Wednesday said a cricket stadium will be needed to conduct prosecution in the cash-for-job scam related cases where over 2,000 persons have been implicated as accused. A bench of Justices D.Y. Chandrachud and Jayantia Bagchi, which pulled up the Tamil Nadu government for implicating so many persons as accused, questioned whether they are victims or victimisers and asked for the details of the accused and witnesses.

"We want to know from you clearly and definitely what is your prosecution plan. At present, it seems to be a ruderless ship. What would you achieve by clubbing the cases until and unless we gave a suggestion that you are proceeding with regards to their degree of marginal culpability and prime culpability? Why should the suggestion come from us? Why did this thought never cross your prosecutor's mind."

"We are not making any comments. These are tentative observations to enable you to enlighten us on the prosecution plan. Tell us within what time you can finish the trial," the bench said. The bench said it appears to be the most populated trial of India with 2,000 accused and 500 witnesses and a 2,000 courtroom would not suffice.

"With over 2,000 accused and 500 witnesses it will be the most populated trial of India"

Minister V. Senthil Balaji

small courtroom of the trial court will not suffice and a cricket stadium will be needed to even mark the presence of the accused.

Several Artificial Intelligence

Sankaranarayanan, appearing for Y. Balaji, who is representing victims of the scam and opposing the decision for clubbing of the cases.

The top court was hearing a petition filed by Y. Balaji, challenging the March 28 Madras High Court order dismissing pleas against the clubbing of multiple chargesheets in cases related to the alleged scam. The bench told Abhishek Singhvi, who is appearing for the Tamil Nadu government, "let's be frank and blunt. A reluctant state wanted to give a decent burial to these cases. A friendly match was played before the high court and FIRs were quashed. Had it not been for judicial intervention by this court, these cases would not have been revived".

The top court said besides the ex-minister and officials who were prime accused, the other 2,000 persons arrayed as accused technically have committed a crime by giving bribes but on a comparative analysis the crime of a victim than an accused.

"They are more of a victim, than a victimiser. Giving bribes is a crime under the law. These poor people probably were coerced into giving bribes for a job of their son or relative. So prosecuting them would cause extreme inordinate delay. They can ensure the welfare of prosecution witnesses rather than criminals. So the only way forward is we know who these people are," the top court said as it posted the matter for further hearing on August 11.

The bench observed that the trial court judge's report of April 25 submitted in Parliament appears to be correct that clubbing of cases arising from the same transaction was the only way out as there will be hundreds of same witnesses in different cases.

Balaji resigned from the M K Stalin-led state Cabinet on April 27 after being pulled up by the top court. Balaji faced corruption charges, when he was Minister in AIADMK Government and later he shifted to DMK. The apex court asked Balaji on April 23 to make a choice "between post and freedom" as it warned him that his bail would be cancelled if he did not step down as a Minister. With Balaji spending more than 15 months in jail, the top court had observed that there was no possibility that the trial would be concluded in the near future.

Assam CM reviews preparations for second edition of 'Nijut Moina' scheme for girl students

Guwahati

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma on Wednesday reviewed preparations for launch of the second edition of the 'Nijut Moina' scheme, which provides financial support to eligible girl students for higher studies.

Sarma held a video conference with his cabinet colleagues, MLAs, district commissioners (DCs), principals of educational institutions and officials from the education department to review the roll-out of the scheme.

"The fight against child marriage gets stronger. Last year, our flagship scheme #NijutMoina helped close to 2 lakh girls with Rs 132 cr in assistance," he said in a post on the scheme was launched in October last year to provide financial assistance to girl students from higher secondary to post-graduate level in government and government-aided institutions, as most girls drop out of school after Class 10 and parents marry them off thereafter, officials said.

Assam is the first state where the scheme has been launched, with the primary objective to curb child marriage by increasing the enrolment of girl students in higher education, they said.

The video conference will be distributed to eligible girl students from August 6, the CM said.

Sarma directed the DCs

and principals to ensure smooth and transparent implementation of the scheme with maximum reach.

He had earlier said the 'Nijut Moina' programme is aimed to protect children's rights to education, health, protection, empower girls to make informed choices and economic independence, delay marriage until emotional, mental and physical maturity and reduce teenage motherhood.

This is not a scheme to create beneficiaries, but to ensure a long-term social impact to develop the inherent talent of the girl child, Sarma had said. Girls from all families, irrespective of their economic condition, are eligible for the scheme.

Under the scheme, girl students of Class 11 will receive Rs 1,000 per month, those in degree first year will get Rs 1,250 per month and those in post-graduation and B.Ed will receive Rs 2,500 per month.

turned for it. The chief minister said this is in consonance with the Constitution, which talks about the well-being of all, adding that priorities were different during the previous regimes.

"These leaders worried about their families instead of worrying about the welfare of people and plundered the state exchequer," he alleged.

Launching a scathing attack on the Opposition, Mann said these people had "mercilessly plundered" the money of Punjabis just for their families without bothering about the common man. He said the policies are now for the first time being framed for the state's welfare and prosperity of its people, adding this is a history in itself. The chief minister alleged that the drug mafia was "patronized" by the earlier governments but his government has launched a crusade against drugs.
