Govt to refresh IT Act, but initial focus on PDP Bill: IT secretary

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, June 25

THE GOVERNMENT PLANS to refresh the Information Technology Act to address the requirements of new technologies and developments in the industry, a top government official said on Friday.

Ministry of Electronics and IT (Meity) secretary Ajay Prakash Sawhney, however, said the government's immediate focus is on pushing in place the Personal Data Protection (PDP) Bill.

"There is also requirement to refresh IT Act itself. The IT Act came in 2000 and was last amended in 2008," the secretary said at an industry event.

Sawhney said there is a need to review the IT Act because issues at present have changed significantly.

He said the new IT rules for social media platforms have strengthened the rights of users.

"The companies that we deal with have grown immensely. Completely new segments of operations have taken shape and globally there is huge amount of innovation happening in this space.

"Laws are coming up in different parts of the world. We have to strengthen our cyber security and our adjudication and many

Meity secretary Ajay Prakash Sawhney said there is a need to review the IT Act because issues at present have changed significantly other things. The next thing will be to come up with legal framework which addresses these new developments. That is something which will also be on the anvil but right now we will focus on personal data privacy bill and non-personal (data protection) policy," he said.

The Joint Committee of Parliament examining the PDP Bill was given fourth extension in the Budget Session to table the bill in Monsoon Session of Parliament.

Sawhney said non-personal data protection bill is also in the works that promote innovation and growth around data processing.

"The next big thing for us is PDP Bill. We are hoping to take it through at the earliest. Hopefully, in the next session, if we are able to get the report from that group, then we shall be pushing for early processing in Parliament," he said.

Civil servants must be accessible to needy: Jitendra Singh

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, June 25

UNION MINISTER JITENDRA Singh on Friday said the culture of civil servants working in silos is not good for the country and they must be accessible to the needy and the poor.

The administrative perspective in the country is changing rapidly and new roles and responsibilities for civil servants are emerging due to rapid socio-economic progress, urbanisation and new technological interventions, the minister of state for personnel said.

There is an urgent need to bring constant adaptability and flexibility in the roles and responsibilities by the civil servants to assimilate, adapt and adjust to these changes, Singh said, addressing the valedictory function of IAS professional course Phase II (2019 Batch) at the Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration (LBSNAA), Mussoorie.

The minister said civil services need to transform in modern times as the levels of expectancy and transparency have increased manifold.
