Commenting on third quarter performance, Amit Sheth, aurionPro's Managing Director, observed, "The final quarter of any calendar year provides a time for reflection, and aurionPro's Executive Management Team is quite satisfied with the progress that has been made over the course of the past year, especially during this previous quarter. Many of the organizational changes introduced earlier in the year are now demonstrating efficiency gains, and the increased volume in sales leads provides optimism for the quarters ahead of us."

He also added, "I am also delighted at the performance of the quarter coming as it did on the back of disruption to our operations due to Sandy in the US as well as the fact that Q3 is traditionally a weak quarter due to Christmas holidays."

Operationally, the Company is focusing on reducing the debt levels and making the Company cash flow positive. To that extent, the debt for the quarter was reduced by about Rs. 4.85 crore compared to the last quarter and the momentum towards positive free cash flow will continue as we continue with our operational efficiency measures.

The Banking division at aurionPro successfully converted traction build-up into new wins for the company in emerging regions such as Kenya, Sudan and Cambodia. aurionPro's success of Internet Banking and Cash Management solutions in developed countries is seeing good visibility in the emerging regions. The Financial Supply Chain platform continued the momentum domestically with two wins in India. The Company expects to build on this momentum and is targeting regional expansion in the Middle East and Africa over next few quarters.

The highpoint of the quarter was achieved during Oracle's annual OpenWorld conference in San Francisco. aurionPro's Oracle-focused consulting team, working under the aurionPro SENA brand, was recognized for being one of Oracle's top partners by winning two Oracle Excellence Award honorable mentions. This was the fifth year in a row that aurionPro SENA has placed in the Identity Management category, previously winning the award outright twice, and the first time that the team has been recognized in the WebCenter category for its expertise and contributions to customers' Oracle-based content management and web portal implementations.

The quarter also focused on integrating the two acquisitions completed in the previous quarter. Enline plc, the leading Oracle Identity Management consulting firm in Europe has been unified with the aurionPro team in the U.K., adopting the aurionPro SENA brand for all Oracle-based consulting services. All other aspects of the Enline business, including hardware sales and non-Oracle-based consulting activities, will continue to operate under the Enline brand to take advantage of more than 25 years of brand equity with their existing customers.

Similarly, aurionPro's integration of SEEinfobiz has made significant strides forward. SEEinfobiz's primary product line, a unified communications platform providing customers with electronic bill presentment and marketing campaign management capabilities, is now being positioned through aurionPro's Banking and Financial Technologies business under their Customer Experience Management Solutions portfolio.

Finally, aurionPro has placed significant investment across Sales and Marketing activities during the third quarter to increase the necessary visibility in order to deliver consistently growing levels of sales leads. These efforts, along with continued operational streamlining and acquisition integration activities, will ensure that each aurionPro business line will achieve consistent growth well into the future.
