EDISON, NJ, September 2012 – aurionPro SENA today announced the upcoming availability of a Mobile App for use with Oracle WebCenter Content. The App will be available for demonstration at Oracle's Open World conference from September 30th-October 4th in San Francisco.

The App, named "ContentiD", will allow organizations to securely search and view documents stored in their Oracle WebCenter Content repositories. The initial release will also support the ability to save searches, leverage personal saved searches, view content metadata, and review workflow items.

The App was developed using the Titanium cross-platform development environment from Appcelerator, Inc. "We are excited to join with aurionPro SENA in announcing the availability of an App developed on Titanium that allows organizations to mobilize their investments in Oracle Enterprise Software, including WebCenter Content", said Brent Maxwell, VP of Strategy and Alliances for Appcelerator.

The App is initially being delivered for the iPhone, but will be tested and released for the iPad and for Android in the future as well.

"We are excited to provide the Oracle community with a commercially available WebCenter Content mobile App", said Steven Sommer, Director of aurionPro SENA's WebCenter Practice. The first release of the App, targeted for October, requires no software or components on the server, and provides mobile access to core WebCenter Content functions. "There are already a number of additional features in the roadmap, and we look forward to working with the community to continuously enhance the App", added Steven.

The App is expected to be available for download from the Apple iTunes Store in October.
