A wide-angle, low-perspective shot of a modern cable-stayed bridge. The bridge's roadway is paved and marked with white dashed lines, leading the eye towards the horizon. On either side, there are metal guardrails. The bridge is supported by several tall, dark, rectangular pylons, with numerous cables fanning out to support the deck. The sky is a clear, pale blue, transitioning to a soft orange and yellow glow near the horizon, suggesting either dawn or dusk. The overall mood is one of stability and forward-looking progress.
