Biden moves forward with Covid task force

Scientists will liaise with local officials on the pandemic response

REUTERS
Washington, November 9

PRESIDENT-ELECT JOE Biden will convene a coronavirus task force on Monday to examine the No. 1 problem confronting him when he takes office in January, while President Donald Trump pursues several long-shot gambits to hold on to his job.

Biden is due to meet with an advisory board co-chaired by former Surgeon General Vivek Murthy, former Food and Drug Administration Commissioner David Kessler and Yale University Associate Professor Marcella Nunez-Smith to examine how best to tame a pandemic that has killed more than 237,000 Americans.

The Democratic former vice president will then give remarks in Wilmington, Delaware, about his plans for tackling Covid-19 and rebuilding the economy.

"Dealing with the coronavirus pandemic is one of the most important battles our administration will face, and I will be informed by science and by experts," Biden said in a statement on Monday.

Even as Trump declines to concede and some of his closest allies encourage him to exhaust every recourse for hanging onto power, the Biden-appointed scientists and experts will liaise with local and state officials on the pandemic response. They will consider how to safely reopen schools and businesses and tackle racial disparities.

The Biden panel includes Rick Bright, a whistleblower who says he was removed from his Trump administration post for raising concerns about coronavirus preparedness, and Luciana Borio, who specialises in complex public health emergencies.

Trump has frequently clashed with top health officials over the pandemic. Vice President Mike Pence is due to meet with the White House coronavirus task force on Monday for the first time since Oct. 20.

Biden cleared the threshold of 270 Electoral College votes needed to win the White House on Saturday, four days after the November 3 election.

He beat Trump by more than 4 million votes nationwide, making Trump the first president since 1992 to lose re-election.

But Trump has not acknowledged defeat and has launched an array of lawsuits to press claims of election fraud for which he has produced no evidence. State officials say they are not aware of any significant irregularities.

"The Biden selection by the Crooked Media is based on unlawful votes in PA, Mich, GA, Wisc, Nevada et al. We will prove it all," Rudy Giuliani, Trump's personal lawyer and a former New York City mayor, said on Twitter early Monday.

Trump has no public events scheduled for Monday, and has not spoken in public since Thursday.

He plans to hold rallies to build support for his challenge to the election results, campaign spokesman Tim Murtaugh said.

WHO chief looks forward to working 'closely' with Biden team

REUTERS
Geneva, November 9

THE WORLD HEALTH Organization chief welcomed efforts on Monday to strengthen the Geneva-based body through reform and said that it was looking forward to working closely with the administration of US President-elect Joe Biden.

WHO's funding must become more flexible and predictable to end a "major misalignment" between expectations and available resources, WHO director-general Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said, citing reform efforts by France, Germany and the European Union.

"We still have a lot of work left to do, but we believe that we're on the right track," Tedros told health ministers as the annual meeting resumed of the WHO, which groups 194 countries.

US President Donald Trump has frozen US funding to the WHO and begun a process that would see the United States withdraw from the body next July. He accuses the WHO of being "China-centric" in its handling of the pandemic, which Tedros has repeatedly denied. Biden, who will convene a national coronavirus task force on Monday, said during campaigning he would rescind Trump's decision to abandon the WHO.

China's tech industry relieved by Biden win - but not relaxed

REUTERS
Shanghai/Beijing, November 9

CHINA'S TECHNOLOGY industry, one of President Donald Trump's main targets in Washington's tussles with Beijing, hopes Joe Biden can create a more constructive relationship - but few think the rivalry will deescalate, executives and analysts say.

Trump's four-year term has already taught the industry the importance of self-reliance, and China's intentions to improve its domestic tech capabilities will not change, they said.

"When Biden takes office, tech companies in China might be relieved," said Fang Xingdong, director of the Consortium of Internet and Society at the Communication University of Zhejiang. "At least, the US is supposed to re-advocate openness, re-respect fair competition, and re-advocate innovation," Fang added. "However, in the high-tech field, competition and game theory will not end, and China and the US will compete with each other with true innovation capabilities in the next decade." Chinese tech giants Huawei Technologies to TikTok owner ByteDance to Tencent Holdings have seen their supply chains upended or stymied by sanctions issued by the Trump administration.

Ant Group's stalled IPO seen slashing its value by $140 billion

BLOOMBERG
November 9

CHINA'S MOVE to halt Ant Group's massive stock debut could reduce the fintech giant's value by as much as $140 billion, according to analysts' revised estimates.

New regulations that could force Ant to raise more capital to back lending and seek national licenses to operate across the country may reduce the firm's valuation by about half, according to estimates from Morningstar and other firms. The regulatory details are preliminary and could be subject to change.

If Ant's $280 billion pre-IPO valuation is halved, it would essentially mean the company is worth less than what it was two years ago when it raised money from some of the world's largest funds including Warburg Pincus, Silver Lake Management and Temasek Holdings.

The reduced valuation also means potentially lower fees for investment banks like China International Capital Corp that were counting on a windfall from Ant's record-setting IPO. And it gives billionaire Jack Ma's firm less heft to carry out acquisitions as it looks to expand beyond its Chinese base and take the fight domestically to Tencent Holdings. In a drastic turn of events, China put the brakes last week on Ant's $35 billion share sale just days before the fintech juggernaut was due to go public in Shanghai and Hong Kong.
