Putin tells Erdogan: We're ready to discuss grain deal

AP / Sochi

Turkiye's President Recep Tayyip Erdogan on Monday sought to persuade Russian President Vladimir Putin to revive an agreement that allowed Ukraine to export grain and other commodities from three Black Sea ports despite the war with Russia. Putin in July refused to extend the agreement, which was brokered by Turkey and the United Nations a year earlier and was seen as vital for global food supplies, especially in Africa, the Middle East and Asia. Ukraine and Russia are major suppliers of wheat, barley, sunflower oil and other goods that developing nations rely on. Erdogan said the grain deal was the headline issue at the daylong talks between the two leaders in Russia's Black Sea resort of Sochi, where the Russian president has a residence. "Everyone is looking at the grain corridor issue," Erdogan said in opening remarks. Putin acknowledged that "issues related to the Ukraine crisis" would be discussed between them. "I know that you intend to raise questions about the grain deal. We're stales to Russian exports of food and fertiliser hadn't been honoured. It said restrictions on shipping and insurance hampered its agricultural trade even though it has shipped record amounts of wheat since last year. A lot is riding on the talks for the world food supply. "I believe that the message we will give after our meeting will constitute an important step for the world, especially for the underdeveloped African countries," Erdogan said. The meeting took place against a backdrop of Ukraine's recent counteroffensive against the Kremlin's invasion forces. In the latest development, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky said on Sunday that Defense Minister Oleksii Reznikov would be replaced this week. The job requires "new approaches," Zelensky said, without elaborating. Reznikov on Monday published a photo of his resignation letter. Analysts expect tough negotiations in Sochi. "My gut feeling is that Putin recognises the leverage he has by using food as an economic weapon, and thus will fight for all he can get in terms of concessions on his wish-list," said Tim Benton, a food security expert at the Chatham House think tank.
