Jan Vishwas 2.0 may cut 50 million cases

● Litigations involving minor offences may be withdrawn

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, April 3

Commerce and Industry Minister (right) Piyush Goyal and DPIIT Secretary Amardeep Singh Bhatia during a press briefing on the Jan Vishwas (Amendment of Provisions) Bill on Friday PTI

WITH THE PASSAGE of the Jan Vishwas (Amendment of Provisions) Bill, 2026 — Jan Vishwas 2.0 — the commerce and industry ministry wants various government departments to consider withdrawing around 50 million pending court cases involving minor offences, a senior official said on Friday. The Bill, passed by Parliament on Thursday, amends 79 central laws administered by 23 ministries to promote ease of doing business and ease of living.

Through the amendments, as many as 784 provisions of various laws are being proposed to be changed for decriminalising and rationalising about 1,000 minor offences to further improve the business environment and check harassment of people.

"All of these 1,000 actions one way or the other, some place or the other, were a source of uncertainty, were a source of potential rent seeking, and a source of harassment. We have removed all of that," Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal said.

"For decades citizens have been governed by laws with a colonial mindset where justice was not the preeminent objective. Punishment prevailed over fairness." "Because of the changes which are coming up in the law, there is a greater case that in all these provisions, a review can be taken up. We will also be taking up with the ministry and work out how it can be conveyed to the departments concerned," Secretary in the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) Amardeep Singh Bhatia told reporters.

As part of the general drive to reduce load on courts, he said, the government has advised all departments to review pending cases and withdraw the prosecution wherever possible. "There is a general advisory which is already there to review all pending cases and wherever the departments feel that they need to be withdrawn as they are not very critical offences, they can file with the court to withdraw that," he added.

The Bill was first introduced in the Lok Sabha in August last year and was referred to a Select Committee. The previous version of the Bill proposed amendments in a total of 355 provisions in 16 central laws administered by 10 ministries and departments. After examination by the Select Committee, its scope was widened to amend 70 central laws.

The key laws that the Bill amends include the Reserve Bank of India Act, the Life Insurance Corporation Act, the Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority Act, the Drugs and Cosmetics Act, the Food Safety and Standards Act, the Clinical Establishments Act, the Motor Vehicles Act, and the Indian Succession Act. The laws dealing with real estate, coal, mining, shipping, petroleum, power, railways, copyright and patents have also been amended through the Bill.

Little impact of 100% US pharma tariff on India

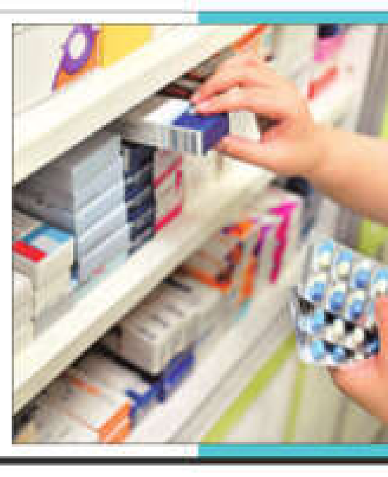
MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, April 3

PROTECTED FOR NOW

■ India remains largely protected from the latest US tariffs on on imported patented drugs and associated pharma ingredients

■ As high as 90% of India's $9.7-billion pharma exports to the US constitute generics

■ There are about 30 units in the US operated by Indian companies , including Dr Reddy's, Sun Pharma, Cipla and Zydus Lifesciences



Around 53% of patented pharma products distributed in the US are produced outside the country

PERSISTING WITH HIS policy to promote the indigenisation of pharmaceutical manufacturing, US President Donald Trump on Friday announced a 100% tariff on imported patented drugs and associated pharma ingredients.

Generic drugs and their associated ingredients will not be subject to tariffs this time, a move that provides relief to the Indian drugmakers. Despite the fact that India remains largely protected from these tariffs as 90% of the $9.7-billion pharma exports to the US constitute generics, global trade experts said that there is always a risk that the US could review its stance.

"Under current circumstances and in light of future requirements of the US, this action is necessary and appropriate to address the threatened impairment of national security," Trump said.

"Indian generic exports are largely protected for now. Many domestic pharma companies are establishing or expanding manufacturing in the US to hedge against future tariff risks," said an official of a trade association. There are some 30 units operated by the Indian companies — either on their own or through joint ventures — in the US, including Dr Reddy's, Sun Pharma, Cipla and Zydus Lifesciences.

As per Section 232 investigation, based on which these tariffs are imposed, the US found that even though it's a world leader in pharma research and development (R&D), the country is heavily reliant on imports, threatening to limit its access to life-saving medications in the event of global supply chain disruption due to geopolitical or economic disruption.

According to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), around 53% of patented pharma products distributed in the US are produced outside the country. The degree of import reliance is significant at the active pharmaceutical ingredient (API) level with only 15% of patented APIs (by volume) domestically produced for the US market.

The fresh tariffs are likely to hit pharma hubs like Ireland, Germany, Switzerland, the UK and Japan which have a higher share of high-value drug exports to the US. Trump also said there will be no exemptions given to the countries who have signed trade deals with the US. However, the executive order provides relief to companies by imposing 20% duty to those imports of patented products which are produced by companies that have plans, as approved by the US Secretary of Commerce, to onshore production.

Isro launches Mission MITRA for safety of spaceflight crew

The mission is a behavioural study of spaceflight crew as well as ground teams

INDIAN SPACE RESEARCH Organisation (Isro) on Friday said it has undertaken Mission MITRA in Leh from April 2, a first-of-its-kind team behavioural study for the benefit of human spaceflight missions such as Gaganyaan.

The mission, inaugurated by Isro Chairman V Narayanan, was mainly for the crew safety and performance.

"Mission MITRA is a first-of-its-kind team behavioural study designed by Isro and IAF-Institute of Aerospace Medicine to examine the physiological, psychological, and operational dynamics of crew and ground teams functioning in a high-altitude environment," Isro said in a statement.

This study is targeted to generate vital understanding on the team interoperability between crew (Gaganyatris) and ground control teams and the effectiveness of decision making under environmental and operational stress, the space agency said.

Noting that the crew safety and performance are the most critical elements of all human spaceflight missions, the space agency said the ability of the crew to communicate effectively, adapt to stress, maintain psychological resilience and support one another determines the success and safety of any mission. —PTI

SEZ duty relief allows limited local sales: Experts

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, April 3

THE ONE-TIME DUTY concession to manufacturing units in special economic zones (SEZs) will provide them with limited domestic market access while preserving their export-oriented character, experts said on Friday. However, the relatively modest duty relief somewhat diminishes the extent of potential benefits to these SEZs, as it is not structured around the principle of duty forgone, they added.

"Consequently, the measure falls short of fully addressing the import substitution objective or significantly incentivising domestic procurement by SEZ units for manufacturing for DTA (domestic tariff area) requirements," Gulzar Didwania, partner, Deloitte India, said.

He added that the measure reflects a nuanced shift in India's export strategy that is allowing limited domestic market access to SEZ units while preserving their export-oriented character. "The relief provides much-needed cushion for SEZ units facing under-utilised capacity and demand volatility in export markets. By enabling calibrated access to the domestic market at concessional duty rates, it supports better capacity utilisation and revenue realisation," he said.

Didwania said that sectors with high export dependence, such as electronics, engineering goods, and textiles, are likely to benefit the most from this measure if implemented in a simpler manner.

"These industries can leverage the flexibility to offset global demand fluctuations through domestic sales. Conversely, excluded sectors, such as food, animal husbandry, precious metal and jewellery industry, nickel articles may see limited benefit, indicating a conscious effort to protect sensitive domestic industries," he said.

Apparel Export Promotion Council (AEPC) Chairman A Sakthivel stated that the measure comes at a crucial time for the industry and will help ease cost pressures, improve liquidity, and support production continuity for textile and apparel exporters. "The measure is especially important for textile and apparel exporters who are currently facing rising input costs, pricing pressures, and uncertain global demand," he said.
