DECISION COMES AMID HIGH FUEL COSTS

Highway developers to get compensation

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, June 19

THE GOVERNMENT HAS decided to compensate highway developers for the high costs of fuel and lubricants resulting from the West Asia war to ensure the uninterrupted construction and maintenance of highway projects.

The Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) on Friday came out with a formula to factor in the increased cost of bulk diesel, oil and lubricants used during construction and maintenance.

The circular applies to works executed between May 1 and June 30, 2026, though the ministry said it may be extended depending on how the global situation evolves.

Before the war started on February 28, industrial diesel prices were around ₹87.67 per litre. However, as the war progressed, the oil marketing companies increased prices by ₹22 per litre to ₹109.59 a litre on March 20. At present, industrial diesel costs anywhere between ₹134.5 a litre to ₹148.5 a litre depending on the state where it is bought.

The relief announced by MoRTH covers all modes of highway construction - Engineering Procurement Construction, Hybrid Annuity Model (HAM), under construction Build Operate Transfer (BOT), item rate contracts, performance based maintenance contracts (PBMC) and short-term maintenance contracts (STMC).

In the formula, the difference between the official average bulk price of diesel at the nearest refinery of IOC for the month and the price at the time of the contract would be taken into account to determine the construction cost. The reference price would be the price at the nearest Indian Oil Corporation refinery.

For HAM, STMC and contracts without a price escalation clause, the ministry will assume 10% of the work value as fuel and lubricant component for calculating compensation.

BOT concessionaires will get the flexibility to choose either the new price adjustment mechanism or invoke the Force Majeure provisions available under their concession agreements.

Force Majeure provisions temporarily excuse both the private developer (concessionaire) and the government agency from performance liabilities when uncontrollable, unforeseeable events. Despite invoking this clause the maintenance of tolled road stretches must continue to ensure traffic safety, the ministry had said through an earlier circular.

Contractors will receive reimbursement only after producing original invoices for bulk diesel purchased from the nearest Central Public Sector refinery undertaking (CPSU), preventing misuse.

Earlier the ministry had come up with a one-time price adjustment mechanism to compensate contractors for the sharp increase in bitumen prices, acknowledging that existing contract provisions were insufficient under current market conditions.

The relief was provided as the bulk prices of bitumen used in road construction jumped from over Rs 82,100 per tonne by mid-April from about Rs 48,900 per tonne in early February—an increase of nearly 68% in just over two months.

The ministry had also moved to monthly payments for work executed from quarterly earlier.

SC flags nexus between banks, ARCs over loans

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, June 19

FLAGGING A DEEP-ROOTED nexus between banks, asset reconstruction companies (ARCs) and borrowers, the Supreme Court (SC) on Friday said that taxpayers' money being given as loans and then no effective efforts were taken to recover the amount was not acceptable.

A bench of Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice V Mohana said it was only concerned about the misutilisation of public money, which should have been spent for the welfare of people.

The top court issued notice to the Centre, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and others seeking their responses on a plea which alleged that a debt of ₹1,537 crore owed to public sector banks was settled through two ARCs for a mere ₹73.50 crore.

During the hearing, the bench raised concerns over the manner in which stressed loans were being settled.

"This is a deep-rooted nexus between the borrowers, ARCs and banks," the bench said.

NEET retest: HC upholds blocking of Telegram

THE DELHI HIGH Court on Friday upheld the government's decision to temporarily restrict access to Telegram ahead of the crucial NEET-UG retest on June 21, saying the step was not disproportionate as the messaging app can facilitate "automated dissemination" of large content.

The high court, in its 39-page verdict, upheld the decision of the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) under Section 69A of the Information Technology Act to ensure a fair re-examination of the National Eligibility-Cum-Entrance Test (Undergraduate), or NEET-UG, on June 21.

On May 12, the National Testing Agency had cancelled the NEET-UG test held on May 3 for medical admissions amid allegations of a paper leak.

A vacation bench of Justice Tejas Karia dealt with two questions whether the impugned order was vitiated by non-application of mind and if temporarily blocking the Telegram platform satisfied the requirement of proportionality. PTI

Textile exporters see tripling of UK mkt share to 15% post trade pact

NARAYANAN V
Chennai, June 19

INDIA'S TEXTILE AND apparel exporters expect the India-UK Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA) to create fresh growth opportunities, with industry players projecting double-digit growth in export volumes and India's share of the UK textile market rising threefold to 10-15% over time.

The clarity on the implementation of the trade pact comes at a time when stability is expected to return to West Asia, a key destination and transit route for Indian textile exports, strengthening the industry's export outlook.

"With the India-UK FTA creating a level playing field and buyers diversifying sourcing, India is well positioned to gain share. We expect double-digit growth in the near term and see potential for India's UK market share to rise to 10-15% over time," said Prabhu Damodaran, convenor and secretary of the Indian Textilepreneurs Federation (ITF). India exported nearly $1.8

billion worth of apparel and home textiles to the UK in FY26, accounting for around 5% of the market. India and the UK on Thursday announced that the CETA will come into force on July 15. The agreement provides zero-duty access on 99% of India's exports to the UK, covering nearly 100% of trade value across product categories ranging from processed foods and marine products to auto components. Tariffs of up to 12% on textiles and clothing and up to 16% on leather and footwear products will be eliminated.

The UK Department for Business and Trade estimates that the FTA will increase imports from India by about £2.9 billion. Imports of clothing are projected to rise by £475 million (45%), textiles by £175 million (40%), and footwear by £55 million (30%).

Ashwin Chandran, chairman of the Confederation of Indian Textile Industry (CITI), said Indian textile and apparel exporters had until now faced a duty disadvantage compared with competitors such as Bangladesh in the UK market. "The India-UK CETA will change that, providing us with a level-playing field so that our products can find more willing buyers as they can now be priced more attractively relative to competition."

Chandran said the increased possibility of stability returning to West Asia following the US-Iran deal, coupled with clarity on the implementation date of the India-UK CETA, would help textile and apparel firms in business planning and negotiations with existing and prospective buyers.

Brokerage firm ICICI Securities said the FTA would place India on par with Bangladesh and Vietnam, while providing a competitive advantage over several other major exporting nations. India currently faces 12% tariffs on textile exports to both the UK and the EU, which will fall to zero upon implementation of the respective trade agreements.
