Phoenix Mills posts strong Q1 on consumption surge

Office leasing momentum, healthy ops help growth, say analysts

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 9 July

The largest listed mall owner and operator in the country, The Phoenix Mills, delivered a strong performance in the first quarter (April-June) Q1 of 2026-27 (FY27), driven by robust consumption growth, office leasing momentum, and healthy operational metrics in its hotel business. Given the better-than-expected performance, brokerages remain positive on the outlook for its key businesses. The stock gained over 3 per cent on Thursday, taking its cumulative gains over the past month to about 20 per cent. At the current price of ₹2,088, the stock trades at 23x its 2027-28 enterprise value-to-operating profit.

Consumption at its operational malls in Q1FY27 stood at ₹4,227 crore, up 32 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and 11 per cent sequentially.

This was well ahead of the Street's expectation of 25 per cent growth for the quarter. HSBC Research said that this was the third consecutive quarter of more than 25 per cent consumption growth for the mall operator.

The brokerage also highlighted strong revenue per available room (RevPAR) growth across both hotel assets, while office occupancy inched up. It has an "accumulate" recommendation with a target price of ₹2,230.

According to the company, the performance was supported by healthy consumption trends across its portfolio, with double-digit growth across most assets. It has also repositioned some of its properties through pre-mission initiatives aimed at improving the tenant mix and customer experience.

During the quarter, Phoenix Marketcity Pune was relaunched as Phoenix Avenue of Stars. As in previous quarters, Q1FY27 retail income growth is expected to lag consumption growth.

However, given the stronger-than-expected consumption, Nomura Research has raised its Q1FY27 retail income growth estimate by 3 per cent and now expects retail income to reach ₹610 crore. This would represent a Y-o-Y growth of 20 per cent, compared with its earlier estimate of 17 per cent. The brokerage has a "neutral" rating with a target price of ₹2,023.

The office portfolio also saw stronger leasing demand, with occupancy improving to 72 per cent at the end of June from 70 per cent at the end of March.

While gross leasing of 190,000 square feet was completed during the quarter, the company expects occupancy to improve further as leasing activity remains healthy.

The hotel portfolio also delivered a strong performance, with The St Regis Mumbai and Courtyard by Marriott Agra recording RevPAR growth of 15 per cent and 23 per cent Y-o-Y, respectively, supported by room rates. JP Morgan Research has an "overweight" rating on the company with a target price of ₹2,000. It took note of investor concerns that easing gold prices could weigh on consumption growth and, in turn, retail income.

However, jewellery accounted for 16 per cent of consumption in 2025-26 despite occupying only 2 per cent of the trading area. Moreover, profit-sharing rentals from jewellery tenants are relatively limited, which the brokerage believes caps downside risk.

About 90 per cent of the company's rental income is fixed, providing strong downside protection, while the remaining 10 per cent comes from revenue-sharing arrangements, allowing it to benefit from higher tenant sales, according to SBI Securities.

The brokerage added that the company's growth is being driven by retail repositioning, marquee brand additions, expansion of its office portfolio, residential cash flows, and disciplined financial management. It has a "buy" rating with a target price of ₹2,230.

Use short-term life covers for limited-period liabilities

HIMALI PATEL

ICICI Prudential Life Insurance recently launched a 10-year term insurance plan called ICICI Pru Protect SmartPlus. Several insurers offer similar policies. These plans can cover time-bound liabilities at a lower premium than longer-tenure covers. Buyers should, however, weigh their pros and cons before buying them.

Lower premiums
A 10-year term plan is cheaper because the insurer carries risk for a shorter period. "For young buyers, the saving may be modest. But at a higher age, extending cover by decades raises premiums sharply," says Sarvesh Kumar Mishra, chief third party distribution officer, General Central Life Insurance.

A short-term plan works best when the buyer needs cover for a defined obligation. "Such a policy can suit those who need cover only for a temporary financial commitment, such as a home loan or business loan," says Shilpa Arora, co-founder and chief operating officer, Insurance Samadhan.

Risk factors

The main risk of these policies is that protection may end too soon. "The policyholder may be left uninsured if responsibilities continue beyond the policy term," says Varun Agarwal, business head of term insurance, Policybazaar. The buyer may then need to buy a fresh cover at an older age and at a higher premium. Health may also have deteriorated, reducing the chance of approval. "There is even a possibility of an older buyer's application being rejected due to adverse health changes," says Agarwal.

Policy premium increases with tenure

Suitable for...

A short-term plan suits parents seeking to secure a child's education goal, those with an education loan, or homeowners whose loan will be repaid within a few years. Younger people may use such covers for a limited risky phase. "Such periods could include occupational hazards, such as being stationed at an offshore oil drilling platform for a short duration," says Maneesha Mishra, chief product and marketing officer, Bandhan Life.

People above 45 years of age may find these policies useful because longer-tenure policies cost much more at a higher age. They may also suit those approaching retirement who need cover only until they achieve financial independence.

Who should avoid them

People whose financial needs extend beyond a short tenure should avoid these plans. "People with lifelong dependants, such as a non-working spouse, ageing parents and young children, should opt for long-term policies," says Pradeep Fude, senior vice president, Anand Rath Insurance Brokers. He adds that those with long-term loans should also chooselonger-term policies.

Top-up strategy

Short-term plans work best when an individual already has adequate core life insurance. "The short-term policy can serve as an additional layer of protection against specific liabilities or goals with defined timelines," says Sarvesh Kumar Mishra.

The policy term should match the period for which the family needs financial support. "Buyers seeking long-term family protection should have a cover until about 65," says Arora.

Postponing the purchase of long-term insurance can be risky because future health is unpredictable. "If financial responsibilities are expected to continue for several decades, it is wiser to lock in protection while one is younger and healthy," says Sarvesh Kumar Mishra.

When should coverage end

A term plan should ideally end when the buyer's liabilities fall to zero. "If liabilities continue beyond retirement, the policy should be extended accordingly," says Fude. A buyer may end cover when savings are sufficient. "Whole-life cover may be considered if the buyer wants a term plan for legacy planning," says Maneesha Mishra.

Finally, buyers should first decide whether they need insurance to cover a liability, protect financially dependent family members, or support legacy planning, and then check whether they can pay the premium for the chosen duration.

Unclaimed insurance money? How to find and recover it

Nearly ₹8,974 crore in insurance money is lying unclaimed with life and general insurance companies, said the government in Parliament. The amount is unpaid because nominees were unaware of the policy, contact details were outdated, documents were missing or legal formalities were incomplete.

Insurance proceeds are treated as unclaimed if they remain unpaid for more than 12 months after they become due. Even if such amounts are later transferred to the Senior Citizens' Welfare Fund, policyholders, nominees and legal heirs can still claim the money after establishing their entitlement.

The search Check old policy documents, premium receipts, bank statements, emails or SMS alerts to identify the insurer. Visit the insurer's "unclaimed amount" page and enter details such as the policy number, policyholder's name, date of birth, PAN or registered mobile number/email. If you are unsure of the insurer or want another route, use the Bima Bharsa portal, which links to the unclaimed amount search pages of all registered insurers. If unclaimed amounts found, submit KYC documents, bank account details and any other document requested by the insurer to receive the payment.
