Dear Sir

Sub: Increase in Volume

This has reference to your captioned email enquiring about the recent significant increase in volume in the security of our Company across Exchanges.

In this regard, we would like to clarify that the significant increase in volume of transactions in our security in the recent past is totally market driven and may be due to a sharp correction in the price of the security witnessed in the recent past. There is no event/ information related to the affairs of the company that may have triggered the increase in volume.

The same is for your information and record.

Thanking You
