Intelligent Transport System (ITS) designed and implemented by CMC for KSRTC in Mysore, Karnataka, wins the CSI award for Excellence in IT – 2012

Mumbai, Dec 20, 2012: Intelligent Transport System, designed and implemented by CMC Ltd, for KSRTC in Mysore, Karnataka has won the CSI award for Excellence in IT 2012, in the category: Transport - Air, Rail & Road -- Products, Designs & Solutions category.

The award was presented at the 47th Annual Convention of CSI held on December 1, 2012 at Science City, Kolkata by Shri Ajit Singh, Union Minister for Civil Aviation, Government of India.

Through this innovative Intelligent Transportation System project, KSRTC is addressing the critical issue of customer service through real time dissemination of information of arrival of bus to all its users obtained through satellite based GPS, through large LED displays at bus stops and SMS messages. This initiative will help KSRTC improve its fleet management, routing while saving precious fuel.

The overall objective of this project is to make public transportation in the cities more efficient, comfortable and customer friendly so that citizens are increasingly weaned away from using personal vehicles, thus leading to improved traffic efficiency, reduced traffic congestion and fuel consumption, improved environmental quality & energy efficiency and improved economic productivity.

Mr. R. Ramanan, MD & CEO, CMC Limited, said: "Getting IT excellence award from a highly respected and pioneering professional organisation like Computer Society of India (CSI) is a true honour and achievement for all of us at CMC. We strongly believe that Intelligent Transport System is a project of national importance, which can be replicated to make public transport more commuter-friendly and efficient in all our cities which are undergoing urban renewal. Delivering innovative and world-class solutions for projects of national importance has been the DNA at CMC, and this recognition, will help us further strengthen our efforts in this direction."

About The CSI Awards for Excellence in IT:
