

PRESS RELEASESuntech Signs Global Partnership Agreement with Cyient

~ Cyient is a global provider of engineering, manufacturing, geospatial, digital, network and operations management solutions to industry leaders~

Germany/India, October 23, 2018: Suntech, a leading provider of innovative OSS (operations support systems) solutions, announced that it has signed a non-exclusive business alliance agreement with Cyient, a global provider of engineering, manufacturing, geospatial, digital, network and operations management solutions.

Through this agreement, Cyient and Suntech intend to jointly pursue business opportunities globally in the communications industry by leveraging their technical proficiency, market reach, and domain knowledge. Cyient's expertise in system integration, operational excellence and global delivery model combined with Suntech's advanced and specialized technology will offer customers best in class OSS solutions.

Cyient will become a global sales and systems integration partner for Suntech's world class software products, benefiting its clients with enhanced OSS portfolio and maintenance capabilities. Cyient's global presence and established leadership in network inventory and asset management will provide Suntech access to newer markets.

Expressing confidence in the partnership, Sanjay Krishnaa, Senior Vice President, Communications, and President, Asia Pacific at Cyient said, "We are delighted to be partnering with Suntech to further expand the solutions we offer. Suntech's technology will enable us to support global OSS transformation initiatives that will improve asset and network optimization for our clients."

Commenting on the association, Piotr Saczuk, CEO, Suntech, said, "The combination of our ingenious technology with Cyient's mature engineering, design, and delivery capabilities presents new opportunities for both companies within the communications industry, as well as other markets, such as manufacturing, utilities, healthcare, and transportation."
