Uttar Pradesh conversion case: Vadodara man held

AHMEDABAD: The Gujarat anti-terrorist squad (ATS) along with an Uttar Pradesh ATS team arrested a 50-year-old man from the Panigate area of Vadodara, for allegedly providing around Rs 30 lakh to Umar Gautam, who is accused in a religious conversion case.

Umar Gautam, the founder of Islamic Da'wah Centre (IDC), which has an office at Bata House in Delhi, used to help people willing to convert to Islam. Another cleric, Qazi Jahangir Alam, who worked with Gautam, is also under arrest. Sources in Gujarat ATS said that they got an input that the man from Vadodara, Salauddin Shaikh, who runs a religious trust named Al-Falah in Panigate, has given money to Gautam. Through this trust, he used to provide financial aid to widow and women who had been abandoned and used to collect money from community members for his welfare work. "He was also trying to register another trust for social activities, but it did not get registered," said an ATS officer. "He also had an FCRA (Foreign Contributions Regulation Act) account, from which he used to divert funds.

We have found that three to five transactions were made by Shaikh to give money to Gautam in the past one-and-a-half-year," the ATS officer said.

Call us if you are harassed over vaccine, Congress tells people

RAJKOT: The city unit of Congress made public phone numbers for people to inform about police harassing them and other 'spreader' to take a job or face a closure of business. Addressing reporters, Dr. Hemang Vasavda, vice-president, Gujarat Pradesh Congress Committee (GPCC) said, "The government details the vaccinating maximum population. We won't tolerate harassment to traders and daily wagers for state's failure." However, the Covid core committee on Wednesday decided to extend the time limit of vaccination for commercial establishment owners and employees to July 10. For the past few days, several cities of Gujarat are witnessing acute shortage of vaccine. Rajkot was facing the shortage of Covishield, but on Wednesday Rajkot Municipal Corporation (RMC) the stock. However, RMC had to reduce the session sites from 62 to 32 because of non-availability of sufficient doses and it has also postponed planned vaccination camps organized by various industrial associations and social organizations. Dr. Vasavda also asked for a list from the government detailing the number of planned vaccination campaigns which had to be postponed for the want of jobs. Meanwhile, leader of opposition in RMC, Bhanu Sorani will organize online Lok Darbar following a flood of complaints against the civic services on Congress dashboard in the last two weeks. She will organize Lok Darbar every Thursday in July and Congress has made public the timing, username and password on its social media platforms.

Krupa had tested positive. She even lost her father who was undergoing treatment but she continued serving at the hospital without taking a single day off. Like her, several doctors in hospitals of Vadodara were back in the saddle trying to save other lives even as they had themselves lost their parents or near and dear ones to coronavirus.

They didn't stop to mourn while healing others

Ahmedabad: During the vicious second wave of Covid-19 this year, Dr. Shilpa Patel too had lost her mother who was battling the deadly virus in Covid ICU at state-run SSG Hospital.

While her 77-year-old mother Kanta Ambalal Patel passed away at 3:30 am, Dr. Shilpa, an associate professor with anatomy department donned her PPE suit within six hours, staying true to her mother's words - duty before everything else! Like her, several doctors in hospitals of Vadodara were back in the saddle trying to save other lives even as they had themselves lost their parents or near and dear ones to coronavirus. "Based on rotation, my Covid duty was supposed to begin at 9 am that day. But my mom departed before that," recalled Dr. Shilpa, adding that just a couple of hours before she passed away, her mother had insisted that she should stop worrying about her and concentrate on her duty.

"My parents always taught me to work with dedication.

And that motivated me to keep working even during those trying times," said the doctor, who along with her brother had carried their mother's body wrapped as per Covid protocol in an ambulance and cremated her before returning to the hospital to join duty. Dr. Rahul Parmar, who was serving as nodal officer for Covid management and part of dead body disposal team at Central Gujarat's biggest hospital too had rushed back to join duty after finishing cremation rituals of his 67-year-old mother Kanta Parmar. His mother had passed away in Gandhinagar due to age-related issues. Dr. Parmar, who is with the preventive and social medicine department resumed duty the very next day.

At Parul Sevashram Hospital, medical administrator Dr. Krupa Vaghela continued serving Covid-19 patients despite her personal loss. While she was serving as nodal officer for Covid-19 unit, parents of Dr.

Minister opposes compulsory vaccination for workers

Ahmedabad: While the state Covid core committee may have decided on Wednesday evening to extend the deadline after which people will not be able to keep their businesses open without being vaccinated, a review of the decision was sought from within the government. Minister of state for Narmada and urban housing Yogesh Patel raised the issue in the cabinet meeting. On Wednesday evening, the extended the deadline for Gujarat: Nearly 100 students got zero marks and yet passed SSC?

AHMEDABAD: In the Covid-19 pandemic, mass promotion for SSC students saw nearly 100 students being granted an unprecedented 198 grade marks! The class X board results was declared on Tuesday night.

To put this figure in perspective, students need 33 marks in each of six subjects to clear SSC boards. Allocation of 198 grade marks these students had not scored a single mark on their own and were graced with all the passing marks needing in six subjects.

(GS/HSEB) said that in the past, a total of 24 grade marks had been allocated to students. Here too, there were conditions like the student should have scored 40% marks and total 24 grade marks were granted only in two subjects.

This year, merit-based progression of Class X was declared citing the pandemic. Result was decided to be calculated on 40% marks obtained in class 9, 40% of marks obtained in Class X units tests and 20% internal assessment. There is mystery over the students who did so poorly in exams that they had to be granted total of 198 passing marks out of six subjects in grade. "Granting of 198 grade marks means the students did not score a single mark in their Class 9 and Class 10 unit exams. It is a tough feat to achieve as even the poorest students would score two to four exams. Alternatively, there is a possibility that these students were just enrolled and did not attend school at all," explained a senior board official. Board officials said that nearly 45,000 students were granted grade marks between 60 and 100 marks while 1.6 lakh students were granted up to 60 grade marks. "Overall, some 2.5-3 lakh students were given grade marks in order to mass promote them," said officials.

Vax shortage forces Gujarat govt to blink, defer deadline to July 10

AHMEDABAD / GANDHINAGAR: In a major relief to traders and industrial units, the state government on Wednesday extended the deadline for mandatory vaccination of employees at factories and shops. The initial deadline of June 30 has now been deferred to July 10. The government decision came after a series of representations by trade and industry associations citing severe shortage of Covid vaccines.

Deputy chief minister Nitin Patel said, "Chaired by the CM, the core committee to control Covid spread in the state has decided to extend the time limit for compulsory vaccination of staff of commercial and trading establishments as well as other establishments from June 30 to July 10. Following government's diktat to close all establishments where staffers are not vaccinated, vaccination centres saw an unprecedented rush, leading to shortage of vaccines. The government is also pushing to vaccinate all staffers at MSMEs and other industrial units. While the state has extended the deadline, a 10-day window does not seem to be realistic enough to vaccinate all stakeholders, especially at a time when the shortage of vaccines is evident. "Across industries in Gujarat, 60% of the senior and executive level staffers are yet to be vaccinated whereas 80% of the labour force is also not vaccinated yet."

Addicts get extra high with premium charas oil massage

SURAT: Investigation into June 1 charas haul worth nearly Rs 24 lakh has led city cops to also probe the possible rampant use of hash oil for massage as a new way to get a high. Though use of this method is limited to some parts of the country, experts engaged in rehabilitation of drug addicts confirmed that it is slowly gaining popularity and mostly preferred by those who are addicted to concentrated forms of drugs for a long time and want to try some different ways for intoxication.

Due to its limited availability and know-how, the oil massage is a high-priced service at present.

"The massage costs anywhere between Rs 5,000 to Rs 20,000 depending upon the time and quality of the product. People from different parts of the country and abroad visit HP for the massage," sources close to the investigation told TOI.

While cannabis oil, which comes in cannabidiol (CBD), made from the extract of leaves, has legal medical uses, hash oil is illegal in the country. This not-so-known way of drug abuse was revealed by Nogram Thakur of Himachal Pradesh who was arrested in connection with the 4.6 kg charas worth Rs 23.42 lakh on June 1. Thakur told investigators that there is a high demand for this massage among addicts who want to try different ways of intoxication. "Thakur told us that the knowledge of making the oil from charas and using it for massage is known to few people only. They make huge money in this," a special operations group (SOG) officer added.

Project director of Parivartan Vyasan Mukti Kendra, Vinay Solanki said, "From some drug addicts coming from effluent families, we got to know about the massage for intoxication. They use different types of oils that include charas oil." Akhil Desai, a senior lawyer representing law enforcement agencies, said, "Charas and hash oils are banned substances. This product is a resin of cannabis." Ajay Tomar, city police commissioner, said, "We are ensuring that no narcotics enter the city. We have launched an awareness campaign to prevent youth from getting trapped into dangerous addictions."

Rajasthan political turmoil: Cong candidates camp in Delhi to meet leadership

Jaipur, After a brief lull, the ongoing political turmoil over cabinet expansion and appointments in Rajasthan has started again. The Congress candidates, who lost assembly election in 2018, and supporters of senior Congress leader Sachin Pilot are camping in Delhi to meet the party leadership, HT has learnt. These leaders earlier wrote to Congress president Sonia Gandhi about the undue influence of BSP turned Congress MLAs and independents in the state government. Party candidate from Shehpura assembly candidate, Manish Yadav said, "We will continue to camp in Delhi till we meet leaders and convey our issues."

He said AICC general secretary and in-charge Rajasthan, Ajay Maken had given time on Tuesday afternoon but it was postponed because of some meeting.
