● HISTORIC MOMENT

Kuno cheetah project gets a boost, 4 new cubs born

ANI
New Delhi, April 11

INDIA'S AMBITIOUS CHEETAH reintroduction project has achieved a significant milestone as an Indian-born cheetah has given birth to four cubs in the wild at Kuno National Park in Madhya Pradesh's Sheopur district.

Union Minister Bhupendra Yadav shared the information and described the development as a "historic moment" in a post on social media, highlighting that the 25-month-old cheetah has delivered cubs after spending more than a year in the wild. "Kuno milestone moment! A historic moment unfolds at Kuno National Park as an Indian-born female cheetah, Gamini, aged 25 months, has given birth to four cubs in the wild—marking a major milestone in India's cheetah conservation journey. Having been in the wild for over a year, this is the first recorded birth in the wild since the reintroduction began in 2022, and notably, the first such instance involving an Indian-born female," the Union Minister said in a post on X.

He also credited the achievement to the sustained efforts of wildlife managers, veterinarians, and field staff deployed at Kuno, highlighting it as a proud moment for the nation, and extended his congratulations to all those involved in the conservation initiative. "This is a significant step toward achieving the core objectives of the project—survival and breeding under natural conditions. This achievement reflects the growing adaptation of cheetahs to Indian conditions and stands as a testament to the dedication and tireless efforts of the managers, veterinarians, and field staff at Kuno. A proud moment for the Nation—heartiest congratulations to all," the Union Minister added in the post. Meanwhile, Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Mohan Yadav also expressed pleasure and extended greetings to the managers and wildlife veterinarians at Kuno for the achievement.

"Madhya Pradesh is now emerging as a key centre hub for the 'revival' of cheetahs. The birth of four cubs in the wild by a 25-month-old Indian-born female cheetah, born to 'Gamini', stands as proof that the land of Madhya Pradesh is fully conducive for the expansion of the cheetah population. Our commitment to nature and wildlife conservation is proving successful. Heartiest congratulations to the managers and wildlife veterinarians at Kuno National Park," CM Yadav said in a post on X.

'Project Cheetah' is India's world-first intercontinental translocation project, launched on September 17, 2022. It aimed to reintroduce the cheetah to India, which went extinct in the country in 1952.

US, Iran start talking in Pakistan

"WE'RE NOW STARTING the process of clearing out the Strait of Hormuz," Trump wrote in a social media post, adding that all 28 of Iran's mine-dropping ships had been sunk. Iran's state-affiliated Nournews called that "false news".

Trump confirmed in a phone interview with NewsNation that talks among the US, Iran and Pakistan had begun, though he does not know how successful they could be. When asked how negotiations would go, Trump said: "I have no idea." The US President said he would know shortly if he felt Iran was acting in good faith about resolving the war.

However, negotiators say a 'stalemate' persists in the talks over control of the Strait of Hormuz, as per Financial Times. Two people briefed on the negotiations said discussions over the reopening of the strait remained a sticking point. One of the people said Iran insisted it retained control over the waterway and could charge vessels a toll. Iranian negotiators are refusing options for 'joint control', the person said.

Another round of talks will be held tonight or tomorrow, Iran's Nournews reported.

Earlier, an Iranian source told Reuters the US had agreed to release frozen assets held in Qatar and other foreign banks, an assertion denied by a US official. The senior Iranian source welcomed the purported move as a sign of 'seriousness' in the talks. Qatar's foreign ministry did not immediately respond to a request for comment on the assertion about frozen assets. The direct talks followed a morning of mediation by Pakistani PM Shehbaz Sharif as Tehran laid down its red lines that it said

Washington must accept before the face-to-face talks.

Among the conditions Tehran laid out to Sharif were the Strait of Hormuz, the release of Iran's blocked assets, the payment of war reparations, and a ceasefire to be enforced across the region, according to Iranian state TV.

Iran is also demanding a ceasefire in Lebanon, where Israeli attacks on Iran-backed Hezbollah militants have killed nearly 2,000 people since the start of fighting in March. Israel and the US have said the Lebanon campaign is not part of the Iran-US ceasefire. Tehran is expected to continue discussing violations of the ceasefire in Lebanon, an Iranian state TV reporter said. An unsourced report on Iranian news agencies said the acceptance of the release of Iranian assets and the limitation of attacks on Lebanon by Israel had been sufficient for direct talks to begin. Iranian government spokesperson Fatemeh Mohajeri had earlier warned there was deep mistrust on the Iranian side.

"We will negotiate with our finger on the trigger," Mohajeri said on state TV. "While we are open to talks, we are also fully aware of the lack of trust; therefore, Iran's diplomatic team is entering this process with maximum caution." Tehran's agenda includes the acknowledgment of its authority over Hormuz, where it aims to collect transit fees and control access.

Strikes on southern Lebanon continued Saturday morning. Reuters reporters heard an Israeli surveillance drone flying over the capital Beirut from Friday night into the next morning and warplanes broke the sound barrier twice over the city. —REUTERS

'Clearing out Hormuz as favour to the world'

THE STRAIT OF Hormuz facilitates the passage of a major share of the world's crude exports. Trump took the opportunity to lambast other nations for their perceived hesitation in protecting the route, remarking, "Incredibly, they don't have the courage or will to do this work themselves." While the President did not disclose specific operational plans, he further claimed that Iran's military capacity has been decimated.

According to Trump, the country's air defences, radar systems, and manufacturing hubs for missiles and drones have been largely obliterated. He added that prominent leadership figures are "no longer with us".

The US President characterised the remaining regional threats as minimal, suggesting that the primary danger to maritime traffic is the chance of vessels hitting sea mines. He further claimed that the assets used to deploy such mines had been eliminated.

Additionally, Trump noted that tankers from various nations are currently voyaging to the United States to procure crude oil. He framed this as a shift in global energy dynamics, citing it as proof of international confidence in American resources despite the ongoing volatility in traditional transit routes. —ANI

Talks with Saudis on supply chain recovery

THE COMMERCE MINISTRY, in a statement, said that Goyal had a virtual call with Qassabi. "The ministers reaffirmed their commitment to strengthening bilateral trade and expressed optimism for early progress in the India-GCC FTA negotiations," it said. Both sides noted the strain conflict has put on regional supply chains and stressed the need for an early recovery through coordinated efforts to ensure smooth trade flows, it said.

Goyal highlighted India's steps to support exports to Saudi Arabia and the Gulf region.

Vessels cross Hormuz

"THE VESSEL IS carrying approximately 20,400 tonnes of LPG cargo with 24 seafarers onboard. It is expected to arrive at Mumbai on April 15." Jag Vikram is the ninth Indian vessel to exit the Persian Gulf since early March, while about 15 India-flagged ships remain in the region, awaiting passage.

Owned by Mumbai-based Great Eastern Shipping Company, Jag Vikram is a mid-sized gas carrier with a deadweight capacity of over 26,000 tonnes. Three other super-tankers passed through the Strait of Hormuz on Saturday, shipping data showed, marking what appeared to be the first vessels to exit the Gulf since the US-Iran ceasefire deal and as peace talks got underway in Pakistan.

The Liberia-flagged Vercy Large Crude Carrier (VLCC) Serifos and China-flagged VLCCs Cospearl Lake and He Rong Hai, entered and exited the "Hormuz Passage trial anchorage" on Saturday, LSEG data showed. Each vessel is capable of carrying 2 million barrels of oil. Serifos, carrying crude loaded from Saudi Arabia and the UAE is expected to arrive at Malaysia's Malacca port on April 21. Cospearl Lake is laden with Iraqi oil and He Rong Hai is carrying Saudi crude, the same data showed. Both VLCCs are chartered by VLEC, the trading arm of Chinese energy giant Sinopec, the data showed. —AGENCIES

Govt raises ATF, diesel export duty

AS PER GOVERNMENT officials, the hike is not primarily aimed at boosting revenue but at preventing exporters from taking undue advantage of the large price difference between domestic and international markets. The move seeks to discourage excessive exports and ensure adequate availability of these fuels for domestic consumption amid volatile global oil prices.

This is the second adjustment in export levies within two weeks. On March 27, the government had reimposed windfall taxes of ₹21.5 per litre on diesel and ₹29.5 per litre on ATF while simultaneously cutting domestic excise duties on petrol and diesel to protect consumers from price spikes. Officials said that such export duties (often referred to as windfall taxes) are being reviewed periodically, usually on a fortnightly basis, to align with prevailing international price differentials. The latest increase is expected to further disincentivise exports of diesel and ATF, directing more refinery output towards the domestic market where public sector oil marketing companies have been facing under-recoveries.

Bengal poll ripples felt nationwide

SAXENA ALSO POINTED to additional pressures building up in the labour market.

"There is some unrest among workers following the Haryana government's decision to increase minimum wages by 35%, effective April 1. All of this has compounded the problem." According to him, the timing of the wage hike could have wider implications. "This kind of increase is unusual. It affects not just international competitiveness but even domestic competitiveness, as wages in other states are much lower. It's a peculiar situation," he said, adding that labour shortages could persist for at least two months.

Staffing firms say such election-linked migration is part of broader cyclical patterns. Balasubramanian A, senior vice-president at TeamLease Services, said, "Some sectors are witnessing short-term labour tightness ahead of the elections as a section of migrant workers return to their home states to vote. This is particularly visible in industries such as construction, manufacturing, sanitation, security, logistics, retail, and hospitality that rely heavily on migrant labour. The impact is usually temporary and companies typically manage through shift adjustments, redeployment, or short-term replacements until workers return." Deepesh Gupta, director and head of general staffing, Adecco India said, "We are observing short-term workforce fluctuations linked to reverse migration in certain sectors. While elections are one of the contributing factors, this period also coincides with seasonal drivers such as exams and the harvest cycle." As per the last Census held in 2011, India has 54 million inter-state migrants, but experts say numbers are much higher at present. In metros like Delhi-NCR, the disruption is visible at the household level. For Ishita Grewal, a media professional in Vasundhara Enclave, absence of household help has upended daily routine. Her maid Savita, who handles cooking and cleaning, has left for Malda for nearly a month. "They have this fear that if they don't vote this time, their names will be omitted from the electoral roll, so the entire family is travelling," Grewal said. In Noida, Praful Das, who lives alone, said his household, Mehrunisa from Birbhum, is also leaving to vote. "She thinks voting this time is important amid the voter list deletion row. For now, I'm considering online options for cooking, and help from neighbours," he said. Meanwhile, platforms in the domestic services space are seeing increased traction as households look for immediate replacements. Companies such as COOX, Broomees, Helper4U and BookMyBai are witnessing a rise in demand, particularly from first-time users.

Akshat Gupta, CEO of COOX said, "We all are afraid of that call when our cook says main nahi aungi," he said. "People are turning to platforms like ours where you can get a cook in 30 minutes." He also pointed to a shift in consumer behaviour. "People are now opting for convenience. They want services at the click of a button." CEO of Helper4U Meenakshi Jain said, "Several workers are going home and even those registered with us are saying they won't be able to work. This has led to more customers seeking immediate replacements." The shift is also impacting pricing. "Workers from poorer regions are cheaper compared to locals, so when we send local replacements, they ask for more money," Jain added. Clearly, it is a challenging time for households and businesses alike.

Gap between rich, poor nations wider: UN

ASSOCIATED PRESS
April 11

THE GAP BETWEEN rich and poor nations is growing even wider as actions agreed to by many countries last year, including overhauling the major global financial institutions, remain unfulfilled promises, a UN report said.

The report assessing the blueprint adopted in Seville, Spain, last June to narrow development ahead of 2030 was issued as part of next week's spring meetings in Washington of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and the World Bank. The managing director of the IMF, Kristalina Georgieva, said it had been prepared to upgrade global growth, but the Iran war has now darkened the outlook for the world economy. Li Junhua, the UN undersecretary-general for economic and social affairs said, "This is an extremely perilous time for international cooperation, as geopolitical considerations are increasingly shaping economic relations and financial policies," he said. The report pointed to rising trade barriers and repeated climate-related shocks as also adding to the growing gap. At last year's conference in Seville, the leaders of many nations, but not the United States, unanimously adopted the Seville Commitment, which was aimed at closing the USD 4 trillion annual financing gap for development.

It called for scaling up investments in developing countries and reforming the international financial architecture, including the World Bank and IMF.

UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres has repeatedly called for major changes, saying the IMF has benefited rich countries instead of poor ones, and the World Bank has failed in its mission, especially during the Covid-19 pandemic, which left dozens of countries deeply indebted.

The UN report on implementing the Seville Commitment said it represents "the best hope" to close the widening financial gap.

But in 2025, Li said 25 countries decreased their development assistance to poorer countries, leading to a 23% overall drop from 2024, the largest annual contraction on record. The biggest decline "59%" was from the United States, he said.

The report said tariffs, including those imposed by the Trump administration have had a major impact on developing countries.
