RJD ENDS UP WITH ONLY 25 SEATS, CONG STRUGGLES TO REACH 6

From RJD's weak narrative to MGB's failure to expand base

SANTOSH SINGH & MANOJ CG
Patna/New Delhi,
November 14

FIVE YEARS AFTER falling just 12 seats short of a simple majority in Bihar, the Opposition Mahagathbandhan was at the receiving end of an NDA sweep, with its two biggest constituents, the RJD and the Congress, collapsing spectacularly. While the RJD, the single-largest party, ended up with only 19 seats, down from 75 in 2020, the Congress was struggling to reach double digits.

The RJD and its leader Tejashwi Yadav did not do too well this time because of multiple factors:

Weak 'laabharthi' narrative

In the run-up to the polls, Tejashwi Yadav raised questions about Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's health, saying the NDA government was in an "achet (unconscious)" state and labelled it "khatara (rickety)". However, the RJD leader who had shaken the NDA with his 10 lakh jobs narrative in 2020 did not have anything fresh to offer in terms of a vision, except the promise of a government job for each family, which did not find many takers.

His Mai Bahin Maan Yojana, promising ₹2,500 to woman beneficiaries, looked somewhat doable, but the NDA successfully countered it with the Mukhyamantri Mahila Rojgar Yojana, in which eligible women entrepreneurs received ₹10,000 as the first instalment, along with an additional financial support of ₹2 lakh available within six months based on the performance of the business. Now famous as the "dashazari" scheme, it helped Nitish Kumar rally his core constituency of "mahila" voters and swept away Tejashwi's narrative.

Chirag Paswan

If the RJD had risen from 22 seats in 2010 to 80 in 2015, it was because of its formidable social combination with the JD(U), with the Congress acting as the glue. In 2020, the RJD was the single-largest party because the Chirag Paswan-led Lok Janshakti Party (LJP), then undivided, contested the election on its own and ended up

The opposition's campaign against the Special Intensive Revision of electoral rolls and the "vote chori" narrative also found no resonance with voters damaging the JD(U). And the JD(U)'s loss was automatically the RJD's gain.

When the RJD went to the polls this time, it had no similar extraneous factors to help it. The party was on its own. The RJD did try to stitch together a coalition to expand its base, but it did not work. The Congress continued to remain the alliance's weak link, and other allies such as the CPI (M-L) Liberation, the Vikasheel Insaan Party (VIP), and the Indian Inclusive Party (IIP) also did not add much to its social combination.

Lalu, a liability and an asset

Tejashwi's biggest asset is that he is the son of Lalu Prasad, but his father's years in power, remembered as the years of "jungle raj", are also his liability. The RJD was able to tide over the "jungle raj" narrative in 2015 and 2020 with a good social combination, or when the NDA alliance was weaker, but it was not the case this time.

Why Congress likely stumbled

Several party leaders cited three broad reasons for the Congress's poor performance. First, they believe that the party's social justice pitch pushed away whatever was left of its upper-class and upper-caste votebank, while it was not enough to bring over a sizable chunk of Extremely Backward Class (EBC) voters over to its side. The EBCs continued to rally behind Nitish Kumar, their preferred choice.

Kumar's clear focus on women and EBC voters meant the grand alliance was not able to enlarge its tent and attract any new section of voters apart from Muslims and Yadavs (M-Y is the RJD's core base). "M-Y has now become mahila (women) and yuva (youth)," said a Congress leader, adding that the party does not have a hold on these sections.

"Rahul Gandhi came to attend an EBC conference in my district. A little away, there was a village with sizeable Brahmin votes. A crowd of 5,000, including a former vice chancellor of a reputed university, was waiting, hoping Rahul would visit. But he did not. I was told the advice he was given then was that the optics of his visiting a Brahmin village after attending an EBC conference would not be good. It can't be either or; we have to take everyone along," said a senior state Congress leader.

The Leader of Opposition's yatra against the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls and the "vote chori (vote theft)" narrative also found no resonance with voters. There was feedback from the ground, but the leadership did not listen, said party insiders who were not sure about making the campaign front and centre of the party's pitch to voters.

Congress leaders pointed out that, in contrast, Tejashwi emphasised more on employment and other day-to-day concerns of people. "There was no one coherent narrative. Apart from one or two rallies, Rahul and Tejashwi did not share the stage," said a leader.

The third reason that many in the party cited was the decision to induct several turncoats from the NDA, along with the usual allegations of irregularities in ticket distribution. "I can identify at least 10 candidates who had a past association with the NDA. Be it the candidate in Sonbarsha or the ones in Kumhrar, Nautan, Forbesganj, Kuchiakote, or Baldaur. Every party gives tickets to turncoats, but the Congress and Gandhi himself had been fighting the BJP and the RSS tooth and nail. And if you give tickets to those whose social media walls still have photographs with NDA leaders, what is the credibility left?" said a party leader.

Why ₹10K or women vote don't tell the full story of NDA's dramatic win

● Voters refrained from Tejashwi's stand on caste and family

VANDITA MISHRA
New Delhi, November 14

THE STRONG "BADLAV" or change vote that made itself seen and heard on the Bihar ground in this election campaign was addressed overwhelmingly to the 20-year-old incumbent. Be it on corruption or price rise, unemployment or afsarshahi (rule of the bureaucrat), the wayward policy of prohibition, or most of all, the missing "factory" responsible for the unstanching "palayan" or migration from the state, voters said they wanted better and more — from nine-time Chief Minister Nitish Kumar, not from his challengers.

To understand the why of the outcome, it may be necessary, first, to say what it isn't.

An outsized section of punditry attributes the NDA victory to the election-eve transfer of ₹10,000/- to women under the Mahila Rojgar Yojana, a first instalment in a scheme that aims to promote female entrepreneurship. While the cash transfer only days before the election was problematic, pointing to the need for stricter norms and protocols on last-minute offers made by ruling parties, it may not quite be the election-winner it is painted to be.

To hold up the ₹10,000-transfer as the decisive explanation of a result such as this one is much too glib — and unfair. It assumes that the woman voter is not at all sceptical or discerning, that even as she turns out to vote in far greater numbers than before, she does not ask questions about the cash transfer's timing, that she is only unresistingly swayed by it. It also disregards the fact that the Nitish government's Mahila Rojgar Yojana was not a one-off or standalone scheme, that it came on the top of a long series of policies and measures which were, and were seen to be, pro-women — from bicycles for schoolgirls in 2006 to reservation in panchayats and government jobs, from entrenching the Jeevika network of women's self-help groups across the state, to, despite its excesses and misdirections, the prohibition policy.

The women's vote, fulsome as it may be, is not enough to explain the scale of the JD(U)-BJP victory. It doesn't tell the full story of why Nitish Kumar, chief minister almost without pause since 2005, and prolific switcher of political sides, swam more into focus in this campaign than he has done in previous elections — since 2010, in fact, when he reaped the rich rewards of the irrefutable work done by his government in its first term, from law and order to schools and roads and bridges, with electricity following subsequently.

Travelling in Bihar on election-eve, it was impossible not to bump into an irony — while stories in Patna's power corridors paint a picture of a leader who is no longer what he was and knows it, a leader shielded from public view by a circle of trusted advisors he increasingly depends on, Nitish was, among the people, the "vikas purush" with a visibly renewed mantle and sheen.

One reason for what seems to be Nitish's emphatic second coming could be this: while new player Prashant Kishor could not lift off the ground because Nitish was not in retreat, Kishor may have in fact contributed to turning the spotlight back on Nitish.

In an election campaign teeming with extravagant and improbable promises, Nitish was the leader who was seen to have delivered, even if the delivery was patchy, leaky and incomplete. "Kaam toh bahut kiye hain (he has worked a lot)", voters began, even those who were his critics. Like they did in 2010, those who supported him counted the achievements on his watch — on law and order, roads/bridges/airports, electricity, women's empowerment — and on law and order especially.

Bumrah's 5/27 helps India dominate first day of Kolkata Test

Kolkata, November 14

JASPRIT BUMRAH TURNED a rare four-spinner gamble into his personal stage, producing a mesmerising exhibition of seam, swing and control as India skittled out South Africa for 159 on the opening day of the first Test, on Friday.

On a surface that drew pre-match scrutiny for its dry look, prompting India to field four spinners for the first time since 2012, it was India's pace star who made the ball talk the loudest, returning a superb 14-2-27-5, his 16 five-wicket hauls in 96 innings.

Bumrah produced a masterclass across little over two sessions, as South Africa crashed from a commanding 57 for no loss in 10 overs to lose all 10 wickets for just 102 runs in next 45 overs, with their innings lasting just four hours and 13 minutes after opting to bat.

It's South Africa's second-lowest total after a fifty-plus opening stand in men's Tests since their readmission. The lowest is 130 in their second innings in the 2018 Cape Town Test, also against India after a 52-run opening stand.

India ended the day at 37 for one in 20 overs, with a resolute KL Rahul (13 batting from 59 balls) and Washington Sundar (six batting; 38 balls) steady at the crease after Yashvi Jaiswal (12) dragged Marco Jansen onto his stumps while playing close to his body.

The duo looked in no hurry on a pitch offering spice and variable bounce as they cut the deficit to 122 runs in front of a sizeable Eden crowd of 36,000-plus. As light faded, South Africa crowded the bat with close-in fielders, hoping for a late breakthrough and used five bowlers. But Rahul and Sundar stayed calm and assured, seeing out the final overs without further damage.

South Africa, missing their lead pacer Kagiso Rabada due to a rib injury, had looked primed for a big score after Aiden Markram (31 from 48 balls; 5x4, 1x6) and Ryan Rickelton's (23 off 22b; 4x4) brisk opening stand.

Markram, after 23 dot balls, opened up with a straight drive and a flowing cover drive, later twice punishing Axar Patel and unfurling a deft late cut past backward point.

He also launched Axar for a wristy six over midwicket as the run-rates surged above five an over. At the other end, Rickelton's hit-and-miss 22 off 23 (4x4) added to India's frustration.

But just before the drinks break in the opening session, Bumrah from the Clubhouse turned the morning on its head with two wickets in five balls across successive overs in his first spell that read 7-4-9-2.
