GRACE PERIOD FOR EMPLOYMENT

US weighs ending 60-day job window for foreign lay-offs

Indians, with max H-1B visas, to be impacted most

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Washington, August 8

THE UNITED STATES is reviewing a proposal to eliminate the 60-day window for foreign workers holding non-immigrant visas to find employment after a job loss, a move that may force them to leave the country immediately. A proposal from the Department of Homeland Security is currently under review at the federal Office of Management and Budget (OMB), according to its website. If finalised, the proposed regulation would eliminate the 60-day grace period accorded to certain principal non-immigrants and their dependents if the principal's employment ceases before their period of stay expires. Further details of the proposal are not immediately

Trump's attack on 'birth tourism' faces uphill battle

WHEN THE US Supreme Court in June ruled in favour of broad citizenship rights for babies born in the US, one of the most conservative justices complained that the decision was so sweeping it would even cover so-called birth tourists. Women "who come here solely for the purpose of giving birth" would be able to get automatic citizenship for their children, Samuel Alito wrote, dissenting from the 6-3 ruling that invalidated President Donald Trump's first attempt to curtail US birthright citizenship. Undeterred by the ruling,

Trump tried again, signing two executive orders largely aimed at birth tourism. That part of Trump's action, which is certain to face legal challenges, is likely doomed, experts said. Reuters known. The 60-day grace period was introduced in 2017 to allow foreign workers and their dependents to stay in the US while searching for new employment after a job loss. Immigration consultants said the Department of Homeland Security has the discretion to shorten or refuse the grace period, but has rarely done so.

The rule applies to E-1, E-2, E-3, H-1B, H-1B1, L-1, O-1 and TN categories of non-immigrant visa holders and their dependents. The grace period also allows US employers to more easily facilitate employment changes for existing or newly recruited non-immigrant workers. If the 60-day grace period is eliminated, foreign nationals whose employment ceases prematurely and their dependents would generally be required to depart the US immediately. They would be unable to change status or employers within the United States unless US Citizenship and Immigration Services exercises its discretion to forgive the lapse in status. The Indian-American population in the US is estimated at 5.2 million. Indian nationals are among the largest beneficiaries of H-1B employment visas, comprising 71% of all successful applicants in the 2024 fiscal year.

OpenAI flags security risk in upcoming model

REUTERS August 8

OPENAI SAID IT cannot rule out that its upcoming AI model, Astra, has "critical" cybersecurity capabilities, prompting the startup to pause some internal development and trigger safety protocols. Under OpenAI's safety guidelines, a model reaches the "critical" threshold if it can autonomously identify and exploit severe, real-world software vulnerabilities, known as zero-day exploits, or execute complex cyberattacks against highly secure targets without human intervention. This follows an exclusive report by Reuters that OpenAI has discovered more instances in which autonomous agents have escaped containment as the company expands its investigation of the hacking incident at tech firm Hugging Face that drew global attention in July. In the last few weeks, OpenAI, Anthropic and Meta Platforms have disclosed that their AI models broke into other companies' systems during cybersecurity testing, highlighting how advancing AI capabilities are straining developers' ability to

TESTING ASTRA

■ Preliminary tests suggest Astra can perform increasingly sophisticated cyber tasks autonomously

■ Astra will now be tested in isolated environments with restricted network access and sandboxed execution

■ Astra was not involved in the Hugging Face hack and will work with govt agencies & select AI safety organisations keep their systems contained. Preliminary evaluations over the past several days, along with outside expert assessments, indicated Astra may be capable of performing increasingly sophisticated cyber tasks autonomously, OpenAI said. "While we continue to benchmark and assess this model, our preliminary evaluations indicate strong enough performance that we cannot rule out 'critical' capability level at this time," the ChatGPT maker said. In response to the preliminary findings, OpenAI said it has scaled up security controls and paused internal activities involving Astra that do not meet its newly strengthened security requirements. Astra's development will be moved into isolated testing environments with restricted network access and sandboxed execution. CEO Sam Altman said on OpenAI is working to make Astra generally available, as the company does "not think it is a good strategy to keep powerful models to a chosen few." OpenAI also clarified that Astra was not involved in the hack targeting the AI platform Hugging Face. It will partner with government agencies and AI safety organisations to test the model's capabilities.

Berkshire's operating profit in Q2 rises 16%

REUTERS New York, August 8

BERKSHIRE HATHAWAY ON Saturday reported a higher quarterly operating profit, benefiting from higher earnings in manufacturing, service and retail operations, while net income was bolstered by double-digit gains in common stock investments such as Apple and Alphabet. Second-quarter operating profit rose 16% to $12.98 billion from $11.16 billion a year earlier. Net income more than doubled to $25.67 billion from $12.37 billion. Berkshire also repurchased $4.5 billion of its own stock in the second quarter, accelerating repurchases it had begun in March following a nearly two-year hiatus.

SpaceX nears IPO price again after $327-bn rally

BLOOMBERG August 8

SPACEX SHARES JUMPED for a second straight day bringing them close to breaking back above the company's $135 initial public offering price for the first time since falling below the key level last month. Friday's 16% surge brought the stock's two-day rally to about 23%, adding more than $327 billion in market value over that span. Investors snapped up shares of the Elon Musk-led rocket, space and artificial intelligence company even as restrictions blocking some early insiders from selling were lifted on Thursday. Analysts had warned that the end of the first lockup could lead to selling pressure on the stock.

Canada's PSP is said to mull $1.5-bn sale of roads in India

BLOOMBERG August 8

THE PUBLIC SECTOR Pension Investment Board is exploring options for its roads in India, including a sale, according to people familiar with the matter. The Canadian pension fund known as PSP Investments is working with an adviser on the potential divestment, the people said, asking not to be identified because the considerations are private. It may seek a valuation of $1.5 billion for the roads, including debt, the people said. The assets under review are part of the fund's global road investment platform Roadis, which was created in 2016.

ROAD SHEDDING

■ Assets are part of Roadis, PSP's global roads platform, which also has projects in Brazil, Mexico, Spain & the United States

■ The Indian assets have been a significant contributor to the company's growth

Beyond India, it also has roads in Brazil, Mexico, Spain and the US. The Indian assets have been a significant contributor to the company's growth, as per its 2025 report. Other investment firms and industry players have shown preliminary interest, but considerations are at an early stage and no final decisions have been made. PSP Investments had net assets under management of C$320.6 billion ($230 billion) as of the end of March.

Trump touts $3-billion minerals push

BLOOMBERG August 8

PRESIDENT DONALD TRUMP touted $3 billion in US investments in critical minerals mining on Friday with top industry executives aimed at weaning the US off supply chains dominated by China. Trump said the projects would "create thousands of jobs and promote our economic stability and security," at an event at the State Department. "We're putting our miners back to work, and we're reclaiming America's rightful place as the minerals superpower of the world," he added. Trump said the investments included a $1.4 billion loan agreement with Sila Nanotechnologies from the Defense Department's Office of Strategic Capital to expand production of silicon battery anodes and lithium-ion battery cells. Other investments include $400 million to Sunrise Energy Metals by the Pentagon to expand production in Australia of scandium, which is critical to aerospace and defense industries, and $150 million with Niron Magnetics, a Minnesota magnet-making firm. The Export-Import Bank is also working to provide more than $1 billion in financing for Ivanhoe Electric's Santa Cruz copper project as part of a previously announced agreement, along with a $25 million investment to launch a graphite mine in

CHINA COUNTER

■ Over $1 billion is being lined up for the Santa Cruz copper project in Arizona

■ The administration is also backing a $25 million graphite mine in Alabama

■ US efforts extend overseas, with funding for a rare-earth mine in Madagascar, Africa

Alabama. Trump said his efforts would ensure the US "is never again reliant on hostile foreign nations for the resources our country needs to dominate in the future." The event showcased administration efforts to spur US critical minerals development and processing before a planned visit by Chinese President Xi Jinping to Washington in September. Trump said that under his administration domestic mines were reopening at a fast pace, including what he said was the first American rare-earth mine in more than 70 years and the construction of the first new aluminum smelter since 1980. Despite a trade truce that eased export controls over critical minerals and magnets, rare earths remain a source of tension between the two largest economies.
