GAIL (India) Limited

Clarification regarding news items that GAIL has stopped supply of natural gas to Haryana City Gas Distribution Limited

New Delhi, May 23, 2013: There have been recent reports in the media that GAIL (India) Limited has stopped supply of natural gas to Haryana City Gas Distribution Ltd. (HCGDL), as a result of which dispensing of CNG has stopped at all its CNG stations in Gurgaon.

In this regard, it is clarified that GAIL has not stopped supply of natural gas to HCGDL and is even currently supplying 0.025 MMSCMD of natural gas (RLNG) to HCGDL. The company was also being supplied 0.25 MMSCMD of natural gas by Indraprastha Gas Limited (IGL) under Administered Pricing Mechanism (APM) through the pipeline network of GAIL.

However, on 17th May 2013, IGL informed GAIL that it would not be procuring any natural gas under APM to be supplied to HCGDL from 6 AM on 18th May 2013 till further notice as HCGDL has stopped making payments to it against the gas supplied to it.

In view of this, the APM gas supply to HCGDL has been stopped from 20th May 2013. However, GAIL continues to supply 0.025 MMSCMD RLNG for which it has a separate contract with HCGDL.

In view of the factual position as above, it is once again reiterated that GAIL has not stopped supply of natural gas to HCGDL but only restricted it to the extent of stopping supply of APM gas as per the requirements of IGL.
