US Treasury slaps sanctions on Indian, Turkish entities over alleged Iran links

A SETBACK. Sanctions imposed under Operation Economic Outcast for backing Iran's oil and gas sectors

Amiti Sen
New Delhi

The US Treasury on Wednesday imposed fresh sanctions on individuals and companies based in India and Turkiye for allegedly supporting Iran's oil and aviation sectors respectively. The move came a day after Democrats made large gains in the mid-term elections, winning control of both houses of Congress.

The sanctions fall under "Operation Economic Outcast," the Trump administration's effort to choke off Iran's oil income and the funding it provides for the conflict with the US and Israel.

"We have taken note of the sanctions," an official in the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) told businessline.

Similar sanctions had also been imposed against Indian entities earlier this year, in August and in October.

"As we have said many times, under Operation Economic Outcast, you are either with us or against us...We know where you are, and we will sanction those who continue supporting the Iranian regime, whether by land, sea, or air," Secretary of the Treasury Scott Bessent said in a Treasury statement issued on Wednesday.

HANDS TIED. Not much can be done in the case of entities supporting shadow fleets, sources said REUTERS

SHADOW FLEETS

Sources said there is not much that the Indian government could do about the situation as many such entities operated illegitimately and could be part of shadow fleet networks operating from cities such as Dubai.

"No legitimate Indian business imports oil from Iran. They do not want to go against the US sanctions. But there are shadow fleets that may be operating, often with bases in places such as Dubai, and the entities linked to these get into trouble," a source tracking the matter explained.

'CRIMINAL NETWORK'

In its latest operations, the US targeted the "vast criminal network" of India-based Suniel Kumar Sharma and his spouse, Jaspreet Preeti Shahid, who allegedly supported Iran's shadow fleet through a web of maritime fraud.

"Their schemes have provided false flags and certifications to sanctioned vessels involved in transporting Iranian petroleum, including vessels operating on behalf of the Iranian military and its proxies," the Treasury noted.

The Office of Foreign Asses Control (OFAC) also sanctioned Turkiye-based Fugo Ground Services Inc for its ongoing services in support of Iran's aviation sector, which the US feels is a key enabler of the regime's destabilising proliferation and terrorist activity.

NEW ALERT

Additionally, new alert is being issued by OFAC to the industry to warn of the sanctions risks of dealing with falsely flagged vessels, re-emphasising previous warnings from Treasury to the maritime industry, to screen unscrupulous actors such as Sharma and the vessels in his network, the statement highlighted.

"Treasury warned that any entity facilitating money laundering or sanctions evasion on behalf of Iran risks being cut off from the US financial system," it added.

ESDS Software shifts focus to AI factories; each facility to add 10% revenue

Vallari Sanzgiri
Mumbai

After a 20-50 per cent annual growth, ESDS Software Solutions has aired plans to move beyond the traditional data centre business towards AI factories.

Piyush Somani, MD and Chairman, said the company is eyeing a 10 per cent revenue boost from each AI factory deployed in the coming months. "We are done with the traditional data centre business. It may grow at a 30-40 per cent CAGR, but AI factories have the potential to grow at a 500 per cent or even 1,000 per cent CAGR," he said.

The company currently utilises close to 85 per cent of its existing data centre capacity, and is increasing capacity for the next three data centres, expected to be up and running within the next three months.

Somani also expects software services and managed services to shrink in the near future as the infrastructure business takes up a larger slice of the revenue share.

"In the long run, the infrastructure services may even go up to 90 per cent of total revenue share," he said.

COMPONENT CRUNCH

While mindful of the component crunch, Somani pointed out that India is the only country that has 40-50 GW surplus to be given for AI factories over the next four to five years. This gives India a huge advantage, as per the management.

"We are targeting India also because 40-50 gigawatts surplus power will be available for AI factories and the government is also trying to promote AI factories in India," said Somani.

The company also expects a revenue of ₹3,000 crore from its Sharon AI GPU business, while setting aside IPO proceeds plus customer advance worth ₹1,500 crore as capital expenditure for FY27.

Zoho Analytics eyes 20% customer growth, targets larger enterprise segment

Rohan Das
Chennai

Zoho Analytics, the business intelligence product from SaaS major Zoho, is betting on new AI agent integrations to scale its customer base by nearly 20 per cent annually, as well as target larger enterprise customers.

The company recently unveiled the latest iteration of the cloud-based platform with capabilities that go beyond just data visualisation and dashboards to agents that can interpret data and execute tailored workflows.

Speaking to businessline, Clarence Rozario, Director of Product Management, Zoho BI and Analytics Platform, said the platform, first launched in 2009 as Zoho Reports, has since evolved from a lightweight tool to an enterprise-oriented BI platform akin to Microsoft's Power BI or Salesforce's Tableau.

Zoho Analytics today has over 1,00,000 customers, of which nearly 22,000 use the platform as a standalone product, while the rest have it integrated with other Zoho products such as CRM and Books.

Clarence Rozario, Director of Product Management, Zoho BI and Analytics Platform

'PUSHING UPMARKET'

"In 2024, more than 70 per cent of our standalone customers were small businesses with less than 100 employees. Today, it is around 50-55 per cent. More than 30 per cent of our business come from mid market customers while the rest are enterprise level. We are consciously pushing upmarket as we believe the platform now has greater depth and breadth to serve enterprises," said Rozario.

He added that in the long-term, the target is to double both customer base and revenue in 5-7 years.

BI PLATFORMS

As for the commoditisation of BI platforms amid rise of vibe coding and use of frontier AI models to build these tools, Rozario said the risk definitely exists at the lower end of the market.

"People might use an AI frontier model for low end analytical requirements, but as the number of records grows, the costs they will incur to move huge amounts of records into these models and token spend to process it will be exponentially high In that case, people will feel that a specialised BI vendor with proper harnessing and architecture will be better," he said.

De Beers' 'Forevermark' scales up retail footprint, eyes ₹100 cr revenue by year-end

Meenakshi Verma Ambwani
New Delhi

Forevermark Diamond Jewellery, part of the De Beers Group, is scaling up its retail presence in the country at a time when the natural diamond jewellery segment is growing in double digits. The company expects to end 2026 with revenues of ₹100 crore.

"We started our journey nearly a year back. So far, we have opened 12 stores with the latest launch in Gurugram. We are hopeful to add 2-3 stores by the end of December taking the total count to 14-15 stores I think we are well poised to get to 100 stores over the next four years," Mallikarjuna Reddy Yarabolu, Managing Director, Forevermark, De Beers India Private Ltd, told businessline. India is now the second largest jewellery consumption market.

"The overall jewellery segment's growth rate is about 10.5 per cent. The natural diamond jewellery segment is growing at a faster clip of about 13.5 per cent. What is also encouraging is that Gen Z consumers are fuelling the natural diamond consumption," he added.

FESTIVAL MOMENTUM

Yarabolu noted that the brand has been witnessing strong demand across its stores, and the festival momentum is shaping strongly.

"We plan to end 2026 at revenues of ₹100 crore. We expect to scale it up to about ₹1,000 crore by 2031 with 100 stores," he added. The brand will be focusing on the top 20 cities for its retail expansion while also scaling up its omni retail strategy. "Nearly 40-45 per cent of the consumers that come to the stores have already experienced the brand online," he noted. The stores feature various jewellery collections, including Icon, Avaanti and Milliemoi, alongside solitaires, bridal jewellery, festival pieces and everyday wear designs.

The move will enable entities operating in IFSCs to lease such equipment under operating and hybrid lease models.

"In exercise of the powers conferred by the said notification read with Section 12 of the International Financial Services Centres Authority Act, 2019, the International Financial Services Centres Authority hereby specifies graphics processing units and connected data centre equipment as equipment for the purpose of the said notification," said the notification.
