HCLTech recognized as a Leader in Everest Group's inaugural PLM Services PEAK Matrix® Assessment 2026

NEW YORK and NOIDA, India, Sept. 21, 2026 — HCLTech, a leading global technology company, has been recognized as a Leader in Everest Group's inaugural Product Lifecycle Management \(PLM\) Services PEAK Matrix® Assessment 2026.

Everest Group recognized HCLTech as a Leader for its ability to help manufacturers and engineering-driven enterprises modernize product development and manage complex PLM transformation programs. The assessment highlighted HCLTech's expertise in delivering lifecycle transformation initiatives that improve visibility, traceability and collaboration across the product ecosystem.

"HCLTech demonstrates strong traction across emerging PLM themes, including cloud PLM, supply chain traceability, MBSE, multi-enterprise integration, AI-enabled lifecycle services, and digital thread and digital twin enablement. Its portfolio of reusable assets across AI-led lifecycle transformation, test automation, MBSE, and platform migration and modernization, further differentiates its proposition," says Nishant Udupa, Vice President at Everest Group. "Clients appreciate HCLTech for its deep PLM expertise, responsive support, and ability to align PLM capabilities with business processes. These strengths have contributed to HCLTech emerging as a Leader in Everest Group's Product Lifecycle Management Services PEAK Matrix® Assessment 2026."

"As products become increasingly software-defined, connected and AI-driven, engineering organizations need more than modern tools. They need a unified digital foundation that enables faster decisions, seamless collaboration and continuous innovation across the product lifecycle. By combining five decades of engineering leadership with deep domain expertise and AI-led innovation, HCLTech is helping clients build intelligent engineering enterprises that accelerate growth, strengthen resilience and create lasting business value," said Hari Sadarahalli, Corporate Vice President and Head of Engineering and R&D Services, HCLTech.
