HCLTech launches Gemini Enterprise Business Unit to accelerate Agentic AI adoption

NOIDA, India and SUNNYVALE, California, April 22, 2026—HCLTech, a leading global technology company, today announced the launch of a dedicated Gemini Enterprise Business Unit. The new business unit, the first of its kind from a global system integrator, will accelerate the development and adoption of industry-specific solutions built on Google Gemini Enterprise.

HCLTech's Gemini Enterprise Business Unit aims to enable enterprises globally unlock the full value of generative and agentic AI. Enterprises can transition from manual, fragmented processes to unified, automated decision-making, driving measurable outcomes such as reduced unplanned maintenance downtime, stronger fraud mitigation and improved diagnostic accuracy.

"HCLTech continues to be an essential partner in bringing Google Cloud technologies to enterprises worldwide," said Kevin Ichhpurani, President, Global Partner Ecosystem at Google Cloud. "By combining HCLTech's industry expertise with Google Cloud's agentic platform, we're providing our joint customers with the tailored, industry-specific solutions necessary to tackle their most complex business challenges."

"The new dedicated Gemini Enterprise business unit is aligned with our vision to help customers accelerate industry solution-led AI adoption and further strengthens our partnership with Google Cloud. The two awards reflect our focus on solving real business challenges. Whether modernizing core infrastructure or applying Physical AI and Agentic AI to industry-specific needs, we work closely with our clients in deploying technology, helping them move forward with clarity and confidence in achieving their business goals," said Vijay Guntur, CTO and Head of Ecosystems at HCLTech.

HCLTech has won the prestigious 2026 Google Cloud Partner of the Year Awards in two categories: Global Infrastructure Modernization – Migration, and Services & Industry Solutions – Energy and Manufacturing.
