New Trend in BPO talent acquisition

HCL ties up with Orion to acquire specific trained resource pool

Noida, India – March 8, 2011 – Pioneering a new trend in the BPO talent acquisition space, HCL Technologies Ltd. (HCL), a leading global IT services provider, and Orion Edutech Pvt Ltd, Asia's leading BPO training institute today jointly announced the launch of a unique and innovative initiative to address the emergent issue of talent in the BPO industry. Under the agreement Orion will customize its Diploma in BPO Management (DIBM) to suit HCL's industry specific talent requirement. This program will be called the 'Orion Diploma in BPO Management – Powered by HCL'. This partnership with Orion reinforces HCL's Employees First Customers Second philosophy and will empower prospective HCL employees with the right set of BPO industry-specific knowledge and skills.

According to the terms of the partnership selected candidates from the 'Orion Diploma in BPO Management – Powered by HCL' will be absorbed into HCL as project trainees, and on completion of the in-house three-month training cum probation selected candidates will be awarded with the 'Orion Diploma in BPO Management – Powered by HCL' certificate; these selected candidates will be made Full Time Employees of HCL Technologies' Business Services division. This exclusive tie-up with Orion bolsters HCL's strategy to provide customers with the Next Generation business services delivered by a world-class pool of talent.

"With the manifold growth potential of the ITeS sector, we have numerous reasons to smile as new trends point towards a greater IT adoption across industries with 80% of growth to come from new areas. Keeping in mind the growing demand for outsourcing across industries there is the need to nurture skilled professionals who are keen to pursue stable careers in the ITeS industry. Structured programs in BPO Management is required to address this need, and HCL is delighted to tie-up with Orion to create the Orion Diploma in BPO Management – Powered by HCL," said Subrat Chakravarty, HR Head - Business Services, HCL Technologies Ltd.

While HCL Technologies' Business Services division has instituted internal management trainee programs for its employees, the division is also looking to equip new joiners with the right information so that their orientation to the BPO industry is much stronger to help them grow better in their careers. HCL strongly believes in up-skilling the current generation who are serious about making a career in BPO.

“The partnership with Orion will ensure that employees grow both professionally and academically. As part of our Employees First Customers Second initiative, we remain strongly focused on offering our employees enhanced career development and growth. This alliance with Orion supports HCL’s constant endeavour to create, build and sustain a long term career path for employees. Through this partnership with Orion we are confident of providing our customers with world class skills and talent,” added Subrat.

Orion Edutech is a reputed organisation with an ISO Certification in the training and education industry. Orion is a member of NASSCOM, and is authorized to conduct the NASSCOM Assessment of Competence (NAC), an industry Assessment Standard for creating 'assessed and benchmarked' quality talent pool. The training institute empowers its students with a strong knowledge and skill base specific to the needs of the BPO industry, and has since its inception trained and placed over 50,000 candidates in the ITeS sector.

“According to NASSCOM, only 10 to 15 percent of Indian graduates are employable in the BPO sector. Further, as per the NASSCOM-Everest study, while India is best equipped to capitalise on the available opportunities, a number of offshore/nearshore BPO destinations are fast emerging as viable options for BPO delivery centres. Orion realizes the need to build an employable skill pool, and our Diploma in BPO Management has been specifically charted to equip candidates with key industry-specific skills,” said Manish Agarwal, Co-Founder Director, Orion Edutech Pvt Ltd.
