Maruti Suzuki rolls out first EV with battery rental plan

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, February 17

MARUTI SUZUKI ON Tuesday announced the introductory pricing for its much-anticipated electric SUV, the e VITARA. The vehicle will be available at a starting price of ₹10.99 lakh under a Battery-as-a-Service (BaaS) model, with battery usage charged separately at ₹3.99 per kilometre. The bookings open for a sum of ₹21,000.

The firm believes India's electric vehicle (EV) market is nearing an inflection point. EV penetration in the passenger vehicle (PV) segment has remained around 4-5% for the past two years. Maruti expects that share to rise sharply as new models and supporting infrastructure come into place.

Partho Banerjee, senior executive officer, marketing and sales, Maruti Suzuki India, said that with its strong focus on a complete ecosystem, the company believes the e VITARA will become the primary EV choice for customers.

"Maruti Suzuki's EV strategy has been developed to ensure that the e VITARA becomes the primary EV choice for customers. The e VITARA offers a commendable driving range of over 543 km. With over 1,500 EV-ready service centres and dedicated charging managers, the e VITARA offers attractive flexible ownership plans with BaaS," Banerjee said.

Maruti is yet to reveal the full price list of its first EV, exclusive of the battery-as-a-Service (BaaS) rental programme. With

Toymaker Lego ramps up India footprint, plans 50 stores by '30

Mumbai, February 17

DANISH TOYMAKER LEGO plans to open 50 stores in India by 2030, ramping up investment in one of its fastest-growing Asian markets, as rising incomes and demand for screen-free play power growth, a senior executive said.

The family-owned company, known for its colourful building blocks, competes with US toymakers Mattel and Hasbro and domestic brand Funschool in India's toy market, which consultancy Ken Research valued at about $1.8 billion.

"India is one of the biggest markets from a potential perspective within Asia," Bhavana Pandey Mandon, country manager for Lego India, told Reuters on the sidelines of an event.

The firm has an accelerated plan for India and is deploying significant resources, she said, without giving details.

Lego has positioned itself at the premium end of the Indian market, focusing on large, exper-

It currently operates four branded stores in Gurugram, Bengaluru and Chennai, and plans to prioritise major metros for further expansion. Mandon said online accounts for about 50% of its India sales and quick commerce accounts for just over 10%.

Parents rising willingness to spend on screen-free play and strong demand from adult hobbyists have helped drive Lego's popularity in the South Asian nation. The India business has been growing at over 50% annually, she said, compared with single-digit global growth.

Formula 1-themed Lego sets have been a standout in India, with demand exceeding expectations and placing the country among the top Asian markets for the range in 2025, Mandon said.

India to adopt WLTP emission testing cycle from April '27

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, February 17

INDIA'S MOVE TO adopt the Worldwide Harmonised Light Vehicle Test Procedure (WLTP) for emission testing from April 1, 2027 marks an important step in aligning its automotive regulatory framework with global standards, prompting manufacturers to accelerate compliance preparations across their portfolios.

Notified through amendments to the Central Motor Vehicles Rules, the transition will replace the Modified Indian Driving Cycle (MIDC) for BS6 vehicles in the M1 and M2 categories, passenger cars, vans and buses under 5 tonnes.

While existing BS6 emission limits will remain unchanged, the testing methodology will shift to WLTP, a cycle widely regarded as more reflective of real-world driving conditions.

FY27 2-wheeler sales growth at 7-9%: Crisil

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, February 17

TWO-WHEELER INDUSTRY is expected to clock 7-9% volume growth in FY27, taking total dispatches past the 29 million-unit mark, driven by steady domestic demand and strong export momentum, according to Crisil Ratings.

Domestic sales, which account for nearly 80% of industry volumes, will continue to anchor growth. After a flat first half in FY26 amid weak sentiment, volumes rebounded sharply from September following GST rationalisation that lowered vehicle prices by 7-8%.

Rural demand strengthened on the back of a healthy kharif crop and improving farm incomes, while urban demand benefited from softer interest rates and easing inflation.

"In fiscal 2027, we expect domestic two-wheeler volumes to grow 6-8%, broadly in line with the current fiscal," said Anuj Sethi, Senior Director, Crisil Ratings.

Motorcycles, which contribute about 60% of domestic volumes, are likely to see mid-single-digit growth, reflecting a mature commuter base and stable rural demand.

Incremental growth is expected from scooters, with overall volumes seen rising in early double digits and e-scooters in the mid-teens, supported by higher urban usage, increasing female participation and expanding last-mile mobility needs.

PV sales growth to ease 4-6%: Icra

THE AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRY is set to enter a phase of moderate growth in FY27, with wholesale volumes across segments expected to expand by 3-6%, according to ICRA. The forecast signals a normalisation after the elevated growth seen in the second half of FY26, which was driven by GST rate cuts and a revival in rural demand.

ICRA expects passenger vehicle (PV) volumes to grow 4-6% YoY in FY27, compared with an estimated 5-7% expansion in FY26. While improved affordability, replacement demand and preference for personal mobility supported recent growth, the higher base and relatively elevated system inventory are likely to temper momentum next year.

Utility vehicles are expected to continue outperforming, supported by new launches and consumer preference for larger, feature-rich models.

The shift toward alternative powertrains such as CNG, hybrids and EVs is also gaining traction.

Old meets new in FMCG as brands chase growth

COMPANIES SUCH AS Emami and Godrej Consumer (GCPL) have used a similar strategy when acquiring D2C brands in recent years. The last such for GCPL, for instance, was Muuchstac in October, where the firm entered the niche segment of men's facial cleansing with the ₹450-crore buy, retaining the founders and adding that it would use its overall strengths to unlock growth for the brand.

Experts say that more FMCG firms are redrawing their D2C strategies after seeing the success tasted by firms such as Marico, Emami and GCPL.

In an investor call last week, Britannia's new MD & CEO Rakshit Hargave said that the firm would adopt the mindset of a startup, amplify brand and marketing investments, increase its innovation rate and consider acquisitions of digital-first brands to fill portfolio gaps.

"The endeavour is to be sharper, focused and relevant," Hargave said. "We will have a startup mentality to fight competition by thinking big and acting fast. While Britannia can do a lot of things, there are also a lot of attractive opportunities on the inorganic side that we will evaluate," he said.

Hindusan Unilever (HUL), the country's largest FMCG company, meanwhile, has announced a new "unified India strategy" aimed at simplifying its organisational structure, becoming more agile and speedy in its decision-making, empowering chief marketing officers now appointed for every division in the company and tapping into a unified R&D structure to create and rollout tailor-made products for the Indian market.

HUL MD & CEO Priya Nair said that the simplification exercise was a response to changing market dynamics and shifting consumer and channel preferences in FMCG.

Oil firms' refinery margins may cool to $6-8 per barrel

THE REPORT, HOWEVER, cautioned that while the outlook remains supportive, "the durability of this trend will depend on global crude prices remaining benign, though they can be susceptible to sudden geopolitical trade dynamics," even as marketing margins are expected to improve in the medium term with steady retail fuel prices.

The shift signals the slow unwinding of the Russian crude bonanza that had reshaped India's refining economics since FY23. As global supply chains stabilised, that advantage narrowed sharply. Discounts shrank to $3-4 per barrel through FY25, dragging margins down to $4-6 per barrel, before plunging further to $2-4 per barrel in the first quarter of FY26. By Q3FY26, Russia's share in India's crude imports had already tapered to around 30%, with further reductions expected as sourcing strategies diversify.

What began as a market-driven correction has now been accelerated by geopolitics.

Fresh US sanctions imposed in November 2025 on major Russian crude entities, followed by the European Union's January 2026 ban on products refined from Russian oil, tightened the supply channel further. The turning point came in February 2026, when India agreed to gradually scale back Russian crude purchases in return for a sharp reduction in US tariffs on Indian exports — from an effective 50% to 18% — pushing refiners to redraw procurement plans towards West Asia, US and Venezuelan grades.

CareEdge estimates that the shift away from discounted Russian barrels could raise the weighted average cost of India's crude basket by $1.5-2 per barrel, directly compressing the margin premium refiners have enjoyed since FY23.

The volatility of the transition has already played out in earnings. After the steep fall in early FY26, GRMs rebounded sharply to $8-10 per barrel in Q2FY26 and surged further to $9-13 per barrel in Q3FY26 — far outperforming the Singapore benchmark of $4-5 per barrel — aided by temporary widening of Russian discounts, strong diesel and jet fuel cracks, falling crude prices and efficient inventory management.

Yet analysts see the rebound as the final phase of the Russian discount cushion rather than a fresh margin super-cycle.

Supporting the sector's soft landing is a favourable crude price environment. Brent crude averaged around $62 per barrel in December 2025 — nearly 15% lower year-on-year — stabilising near $63-64 per barrel through Q3FY26 before edging up to about $66.45 per barrel in February 2026. CareEdge expects crude prices to remain range-bound below $70 per barrel, a level that continues to support refining profitability without forcing politically sensitive fuel price hikes.

For India's oil marketing companies, the message is clear: the golden phase of profits driven by cheap Russian crude is ending. What lies ahead is a more disciplined, efficiency-led cycle — steadier, resilient and sustainable, but without the spectacular windfalls of the past three years.
