Broadcasters may lag on lower ad revenues

Box-office boost for multiplexes in Q2

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 9 October

Segments within the media and entertainment sector are expected to post contrasting results in the September quarter. While film exhibitors (multiplexes) are likely to fare better due to higher sales, broadcasters could struggle because of weak advertising revenues and margin pressures.

Listed majors had a mixed performance on the bourses. PVR Inox led the pack with a revenue gain of 21.6 per cent in the past year while Sun TV rose 9 per cent. Zee Entertainment sharply underperformed with a fall of 36 per cent over this period. Revenue for multiplex market leader PVR Inox was boosted by strong box-office collections.

Elara Research estimates net collections for Hindi releases at ₹1,290 crore in Q2FY27, up 30 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) and 51 per cent sequentially. The movies that boosted collections were Hanuman-Ansh, Mirzapur The Movie, Dhamaal 4, Awarapan 2, and Toxic (Hindi).

Nuvama Research estimates average ticket prices at ₹294 (up 12 per cent Y-o-Y, and 8 per cent quarter-on-quarter or Q-o-Q) while spends per head were at ₹152 (up 13 per cent Y-o-Y). Footfalls at 46 million were up 4 per cent Y-o-Y. Analysts led by Abneesh Roy of Nuvama Research point out that Hanuman Ansh emerged a sleeper hit, with the bulk of revenue generated from week four onwards, where the share of producers is lower, leading to better profitability for PVR.

Major Indian releases in Q3 are Drishyam 3, Jailer 2 and Ramayana Part 1 while Hollywood releases for this period include Avengers: Domsday and Dune: Part Three. PVR Inox is its top pick in the media and entertainment space. JM Financial Research says PVR's gains were led by higher average ticket prices and spending per head with an increased Hollywood contribution supporting realisations.

It expects operating leverage and cost control to drive a 400 basis points (bps) Y-o-Y expansion in pre-IND AS operating profit margin to 20.8 per cent in the quarter.

Analysts led by Rajiv Berlia of the brokerage have upgraded the stock given a strong content pipeline across Hollywood, Hindi and regional films, improving realisations, operating leverage and cost control. Capital-light expansion and a net cash balance sheet further strengthened the recovery, says the brokerage. The second consecutive year of healthy performance in FY27 after a strong FY26 cements the recovery in PVR and partly disproves fears of over-the-top (OTT) disruption, it adds.

Broadcasters had a muted quarter. Advertising revenues for Zee Entertainment are expected to be flat Y-o-Y but could rise on a sequential basis given the FIFA World Cup and partnership-led gains. Elara Research expects festival season-led benefits to flow into Q3.

Subscription revenue may grow 21 per cent Y-o-Y, led by digital as well as FIFA-led revenue (Fifa likely contributed 15 per cent growth in total subscription). The brokerage expects subscription revenue growth to continue on a better repeat rate of FIFA viewership to Z's OTT platform.

Analysts led by Karan Taurani of the brokerage expect revenue to grow 9.3 per cent Y-o-Y and 12.9 per cent Q-o-Q, but higher advertising and promotion spends at 24.5 per cent of sales compared to 18.7 per cent in the year-ago quarter may keep operating profit margin at 4.2 per cent, down 323 bps Y-o-Y.

Nuvama Research expects Zee's revenue to rise, led by a 20 per cent Y-o-Y growth in subscription revenue and strong digital growth. Zee's ad revenue is likely to turn flat Y-o-Y after nine consecutive quarters of decrease, backed by a favourable base and FIFA World Cup. Zee's revenue is estimated to reach ₹640 crore, up 106 per cent Y-o-Y while remaining profitable at the operating level.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Co-payment & deductibles: Are they right for you?

SANJAY KUMAR SINGH

The General Insurance Council is reportedly considering mandatory 10 per cent co-payment, capped at ₹5 lakh per retail health insurance claim, covering cashless and reimbursement inpatient hospitalisation claims but excluding outpatient claims. Let us try to understand how co-payment and deductibles work currently.

How they work

Co-payment makes policyholders pay a percentage of an admissible claim. At 10 per cent on ₹2 lakh, the policyholder pays ₹20,000 and the insurer pays ₹1.8 lakh.

A deductible is a fixed amount that must be paid before coverage begins. With a ₹50,000 annual aggregate deductible on ₹2 lakh, the policyholder pays ₹50,000 and the insurer ₹1.5 lakh.

Any policy can have these clauses. "Some plans may have neither clause while some may have one or both," says Vineet Gupta, head - product development, Manipal Cigna Health Insurance.

Lower premiums

Both clauses reduce premiums. "This happens because financial risk gets shared between the insurer and the policyholder," says Shilpa Arora, co-founder and chief operating officer (COO), Insurance Samadhan.

"Depending on the level selected, premiums can fall by as much as 40-50 per cent," says Rohan Goel, business head of health insurance, Policybazaar.

Per claim or per year?

Per-claim deductibles apply afresh to each claim. In case of an annual aggregate deductible, the expenses incurred by the customer during each claim get added up. "The insurer starts paying for claims only after the deductible amount is met," says Gupta.

With a ₹10,000 aggregate deductible, a first ₹1 lakh claim means the policyholder pays ₹10,000 and the insurer ₹90,000. A subsequent ₹50,000 claim will be paid fully.

With a 10 per cent co-payment, the policyholder pays ₹10,000 on the first claim and ₹5,000 on the second. Co-payment applies to every claim. Top-ups and super top-ups offer deductibles. "A top-up typically applies a per-claim deductible while a super top-up generally aggregates eligible claims over a policy year," says Arun Ramamurthy, co-founder, Staywell.Health.

Voluntary and mandatory

Standard plans offer voluntary co-payment that helps lower the premium. Senior citizen plans may have mandatory co-payment. In some policies, specified illnesses or treatment in a higher-tier city (for a lower-tier-city policy) triggers co-payment.

Claim size and liability

With a 10 per cent co-payment, the insured's liability will be ₹1 lakh on a ₹10 lakh claim. It will rise to ₹2 lakh on a ₹20 lakh claim.

Seniors and chronically ill buyers who opt for a co-payment will be saddled with rising bills. An annual aggregate deductible means the same liability, irrespective of the number or amount of claims in a year.

"A fixed deductible eases financial planning as it is more predictable," says Arora.

Backup cover can help

Employer or personal base policies can pay for another policy's deductible or co-payment. But don't assume this will always be permitted. "Read and understand the specific policy rules and wording," says Ramamurthy.

Who should go for them?

Young, healthy buyers should prioritise a cover without these clauses. "Older buyers and people with pre-existing conditions may find them useful if their premiums are very high," says Kapil Mehta, co-founder, SecureNow.

Buyers with a backup cover may consider a small deductible. But they should remember that they will lose the corporate cover upon retirement. "If removal of the deductible is not permitted, they may remain tied to a policy with a deductible," says Goel.

Finally, check whether the deductible applies per claim or cumulatively. "Also check whether co-payment applies to all claims or only specified treatments, hospitals or locations," says Arora. Mehta suggests that those going for a deductible should save that much money in a contingency fund.

How to set up your home without derailing financial security

People want the best things for their new home, making them susceptible to overspending. Following these steps will prevent them from derailing their financial planning.

One of the biggest mistakes homebuyers make is trying to complete everything at once.

Prioritising essentials first and upgrading gradually usually prevents unnecessary financial pressure. Comparing prices across different retailers before buying home furnishings can yield substantial savings, yet excited new homeowners often overlook this simple step.

Treating setup as a long-term project shifts a homeowner's focus towards deliberate planning and lifestyle fit, curbing impulsive spending driven by instant gratification. Prioritising urgent structural and functional repairs over phased aesthetic upgrades allows homeowners to prevent costly damage and control emotional spending.

Resisting social media-driven pressure to match unrealistic luxury lifestyles prevents impulsive debt, allowing homeowners to base financial decisions entirely on their own budget and personal priorities.
