India among top 10 FDI recipients with $49-billion inflows in 2019

YOSHITA SINGH
United Nations, January 20

INDIA WAS AMONG the top 10 recipients of foreign direct investment in 2019, attracting $49 billion in inflows, a 16% increase from the previous year, driving the FDI growth in South Asia, according to a UN report released on Monday.

The Global Investment Trend Monitor report compiled by United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) states that the global FDI remained flat in 2019 at $1.39 trillion, a 1% decline from a revised $1.41 trillion in 2018.

India attracted an estimated $49 billion of FDI in 2019, a 16% increase from the $42 billion recorded in 2018, it said.

South Asia recorded a 10% rise in FDI to $60 billion and "This growth was driven by India, with a 16% rise in inflows to an estimated $49 billion. The majority went into services industries, including IT", the report said.

The FDI flows to developed countries remained at a historically low level, decreasing by a further 6% to an estimated $643 billion. — PTI

Clarifications

WITH REFERENCE TO the report 'Brazil looks to India for trade ties', which appeared in the edition dated January 17, the photo of foreign trade secretary Marcos Troyjo was wrongly captioned as that of Brazil President Jair Bolsonaro. With reference to the report 'Mazagon Dock looking for tie-ups with UP MSMEs', which appeared in the edition dated January 17, the photo of chairman and managing director Narayan Prasad was wrongly captioned as that of director (shipbuilding) AK Saxena. The errors are regretted.

'Wealth of India's richest 1% more than 4 times of total for 70% poorest'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Davos, January 20

INDIA'S RICHEST 1% hold more than four-times the wealth held by 953 million people who make up for the bottom 70% of the country's population, while the total wealth of all Indian billionaires is more than the full year budget, a new study said on Monday.

Releasing the study 'Time to Care' here ahead of the 50th Annual Meeting of the World Economic Forum (WEF), rights group Oxfam also said the world's 2,153 billionaires have more wealth than the 4.6 billion people who make up 60% of the planet's population.

The report flagged that global inequality is shockingly entrenched and vast and the number of billionaires has doubled in the last decade, despite their combined wealth having declined in the last year.

Oxfam said the combined total wealth of 63 Indian billionaires is higher than the total Union Budget of India for 2018-19, which was at ₹24,42,200 crore

"The gap between rich and poor can't be resolved without deliberate inequality-busting policies, and too few governments are committed to these," said Oxfam India CEO Amitabh Behar, who is here to represent the Oxfam confederation this year.

The issues of income and gender inequality are expected to figure prominently in discussions at the five-day summit of the WEF, starting Monday. The WEF's annual Global Risks Report has also warned that the downward pressure on the global economy from macro-economic fragilities and financial inequality continued to intensify in 2019.

Concern about inequality underlies recent social unrest in almost every continent, although it may be sparked by different tipping points such as corruption, constitutional breaches, or the rise in prices for basic goods and services, as per the WEF report.

Although global inequality has declined over the past three decades, domestic income inequality has risen in many countries, particularly in advanced economies and reached historic highs in some, the Global Risks Report flagged last week.

Regarding India, Oxfam said the combined total wealth of 63 Indian billionaires is higher than the total Union Budget of India for the fiscal year 2018-19 which was at ₹24,42,200 crore. "Our broken economies are lining the pockets of billionaires and big business at the expense of ordinary men and women. No wonder people are starting to question whether billionaires should even exist," Behar said.

Extra MEIS benefit may continue only for electronics

For other sectors (except garments and made ups), only the original MEIS incentive of 2%, 3% and 5% of freight on board (FoB) value will be extended from January 1, until the RoDTEP is in place. The additional incentive of 2% under the MEIS was offered to various exporters in December 2017 to soften the blow of their stuck refunds and other issues under the goods and services tax (GST) regime. So, the MEIS incentive for electronics players was raised to 4% from just 2% earlier. But now that the GST has more or less stabilised and refunds take less time to be cleared, a resource-strapped revenue department is reluctant to extend this extra benefit beyond December 2019, another official said. Accordingly, the directorate general of foreign trade (DGFT), on December 7, notified the exporters of the withdrawal of the extra incentive from January 1, 2020, he added.

But the decision came as a jolt for the exporters, who had already firmed up contracts by factoring in the extra incentives. Lava, for instance, recently won orders from American companies such as GE and AT&T to make white-label devices.

Many said the advance notice for the withdrawal should have come much earlier and they should have been given adequate time to move to the lower-incentive regime, especially when the roll-out of the RoDTEP is postponed to the next fiscal from the proposed date of January 1, 2020.

"India's disabilities in electronics trade vis-a-vis countries like Vietnam, its decent growth in electronics exports in recent months despite a contraction in overall outbound shipments, and huge employment potential of the sector, are the major reasons behind the government's plan to give the extra incentives to the sector for some more time," one of the officials said. Highlighting that India faces severe disabilities vis-a-vis Vietnam (9-12%) and China (19%-22%), the India Cellular and Electronics Association (ICEA) has argued that even the total MEIS benefit of 4% only partly offsets this gap. In a letter to commerce minister Piyush Goyal, IT and electronics minister Ravi Shankar Prasad and finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on December 9, ICEA chairman Pankaj Mohindroo said the withdrawal implied "extreme policy uncertainty and will lead to large-scale job losses". "Our members have reached out in distress and informed us that they will now be forced to cancel their export orders, and in fact, reassess their investment plans and retrench large-scale employees, many of whom have been hired over the last 6-8 months, based on the export potential. It will also lead to an immediate halt in all future hiring and capacity expansion," Mohindroo had cautioned.

The growth in India's electronics exports has been much higher than the rise in overall goods exports in recent years, albeit on a low base. India's electronics exports surged almost 44% in the April-November period, even when overall merchandise exports witnessed a 2% contraction. However, it's way below the ambitious target of $110 billion of mobile handset exports by 2025, set under the national electronics policy 2019.

The exporters have argued that although the MEIS is inconsistent with the World Trade Organization (WTO) rules, there should be no tearing hurry to scrap incentives under it, as the WTO's dispute appellate body has been paralysed. So India is spared the trouble of having to fast restructure some of its contentious trade schemes, as its November 19 appeal against a ruling of the WTO's Disputes Settlement Body (DSB) in favour of the US against New Delhi's export "subsidies" is still pending.

The fate of all such appeals remains uncertain, as the US has refused to relent on its move to block the appointment of appellate members. According to the WTO rules, unless appeals are heard and settled, the findings of the DSB won't be binding on the losing party.

Democracy relies on uncovering facts, debate: President

Kovind was speaking after presenting awards to 23 winners in 11 categories — across print, broadcast and purely digital — for outstanding work in 2018. Cautioning against the dangers posed by fake news and paid news, the President said: "In the din of the "breaking news" syndrome that has consumed the media now, this fundamental principle of restraint and responsibility has been undermined substantially. Fake news has emerged a new menace, whose purveyors proclaim themselves as journalists and taint this noble profession."

In this context, Kovind said, if journalism has to remain relevant, "it has to reclaim its values of honesty and fairness". "It has to, 24x7, reinforce its compact with citizens: that it will not bend, that it will always fight for truth no matter what the consequence, and that it will remain committed to finding the truth without fear or favour," he said.

The President said that "technology has drastically altered the nature of journalism", "given rise to a new breed of journalism" and "revived the old debates about the status of facts and opinions, about credibility and authenticity".

"What is desirable is objectivity, which allows journalists to be open to facts, and present all sides of a picture. Fidelity to facts, digging for truth and keeping one's lens clean and sharp is imperative," he said.

Referring to "these days", Kovind said journalists "tend to wear many hats in the line of their duty" and "often assume the role of an investigator, a prosecutor and a judge — all rolled into one". "Their versatility is praiseworthy. But that prompts me to ask if such a sweeping exercise of power is accompanied by genuine accountability?" he said.

The President also lamented that stories "exposing great social and economic inequalities are ignored" and replaced by trivia as a section of the media has "taken recourse to entertainment in the name of news".

However, he expressed confidence that that in the long run "quality journalism will prevail".

Referring to The Indian Express founder Ramnath Goenka, in whose memory the Awards were instituted in 2006, Kovind described him as "a matchless media personality who influenced the country both before and after Independence".

"The hallmark of his endeavour was an uncompromising journalism of courage. A journalism without fear or favour; its fundamental commitment to truth above all else," he said.

In his welcome address, Viveck Goenka, chairman of the Express Group, outlined the trajectory of Kovind's public life in the last 40 years, starting as a law student in Kanpur to becoming the President. "We couldn't have had a chief guest who better encapsulates the values we celebrate this evening," he said.

Congratulating the winners, Goenka said that "they are firm in their resolve to embrace complexity, not reduce the story to either pro this or anti that... these stories tell us why journalism matters".

Anant Goenka, executive director of the Express Group, presented Kovind with a portrait of the President drawn by Surajit Dey, illustrator, The Indian Express.

Among those present at the awards ceremony were Chief Election Commissioner Sunil Arora, JD(U) leader KC Tyagi, CPI leader D Raja, eminent jurist Fali Nariman, former ABVP national organising secretary Sunil Ambedkar, Prasar Bharati CEO Shashi Shekhar Vempati, and principal director-general of Press Information Bureau Kuldeep Singh Dhatwalia.

Raj Kamal Jha, chief editor, The Indian Express, said the awarded stories "not only celebrate the best in journalism, they also capture the zeitgeist of the year gone by and they foreshadow that of the year ahead".

The Express Group instituted the Ramnath Goenka Excellence in Journalism Awards in 2006 as part of the centenary year celebrations of its founder, Ramnath Goenka. The awards aim to celebrate excellence in journalism, recognise courage and commitment and showcase the outstanding contributions of journalists from across the country.

This time, the winning entries covered a wide range of topics: From a series on sexual abuse of children in villages to children making their way through a river and walking over a 20-ft pipeline to go to school; from how uranium mining affects local communities to an investigation into faulty medical implants.
