{ RIDGE TREE FELLING } SC REBUKES AGENCY, BUT STOPS SHORT OF PUNISHMENT

Flagging 'blatant breach', SC closes contempt against DDA

Abraham Thomas
htreporters@hindustantimes.com

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Wednesday held the Delhi Development Authority (DDA) in contempt for illegally felling over 1,000 trees in Delhi's Ridge area without its permission, calling the move a blatant breach of environmental norms and judicial orders. However, the court spared stringent action against top DDA officials, citing the "overwhelming public interest" served by a new road leading to a multi-specialty hospital for the Central Armed Police Forces (CAPF).

A bench of justices Surya Kant and N Kotiswar Singh said the illegal tree-felling for the road to the Central Armed Police Forces Institute of Medical Sciences (CAPFIMS) was a "classic case of institutional missteps and administrative overreach." "It is only the overwhelming public interest served by the establishment of CAPFIMS that has, in effect, overshadowed the sheer administrative incompetence and blatant disregard for both established procedures and the orders of court," it observed.

The court was hearing a contempt petition filed by Delhi resident Bindu Kapurea. In March, it had dismissed the DDA's application seeking permission to fell trees in the Ridge area, noting that many of the trees had already been cut. The 1996 judgment in MC Mehta vs Union of India makes it mandatory for prior approval from the Supreme Court for any tree-felling in the ecologically sensitive Ridge. DDA's internal inquiry had named four officials for suppressing facts from the court. While sparing them imprisonment, the court imposed an environmental fee of ₹25,000 on each, directed departmental action, and issued an official "censure." "These acts... fall squarely within the ambit of 'criminal contempt' as defined under Section 2(c) of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971," the court said. "It is the good fortune of the concerned DDA officials that this larger objective has weighed in their favour, without which this court may have been compelled to adopt a far more stringent approach and deal with an iron fist," it added. To prevent future violations, the bench mandated that all orders or notifications relating to tree felling, afforestation, or construction activity with ecological impact must explicitly mention any pending cases before the court. "This direction is being issued to ensure that, in future, the plea of ignorance is not taken as a defence," the order stated. The petition, argued by senior advocate Gopal Sankaranarayanan and assisted by advocate Manan Verma, detailed how trees were felled in February 2024 under orders from Delhi lieutenant governor VK Saxena, issued under the Delhi Protection of Trees Act. The tree felling was completed before DDA's application for permission was even heard on March 4.

The court was later told that Saxena only became aware of the felling in June, when informed by the DDA vice-chairperson. "Such actions raise fundamental concerns about governance and accountability," it said. "We truly hope these proceedings have been conducive to incorporating necessary course corrections by the DDA and other bodies."

Local allege 'police excesses' after cop is shot dead in Gzb

GHAZIABAD: A week after a Noida police constable was shot dead during a raid in Ghaziabad's Nahal village, the arrest tally has risen to 14. But according to residents, at least 50 to 60 more men have been picked up or detained in sweeping midnight raids that have left the village nearly deserted and families on edge. Around 70% of the village residents vacated by Tuesday, but the situation of those staying behind remained tense, locals said, adding that the village has heavy police presence and their property has been damaged by police in late-night raids.

A woman shows a door, which she alleged was broken by police during a raid at her house in Ghaziabad. SAKIB ALI/HT

Forty-five-year-old Nazreen, standing beside a half-broken portion of her house's main door, blamed police for the damage, alleging a group of policemen forcefully entered her residence and conducted a raid late Monday. "It was the second night after the murder. Dozens of policemen barged in well past midnight, broke the door, and stormed the house looking for my sons," she said. "They live and work at a mill. They've been there for 10 days. I kept telling the police, but they searched the whole house."

Locals claimed that at least 50—mostly men aged between 20 and 35—men were picked up on suspicion but have yet to return or be officially acknowledged as arrested. "Overall, we called about 50-60 persons for questioning. Thirteen were formally arrested, while Qadir was already arrested. Others were allowed to go. We are carefully investigating the case based on evidence," said Surendra Nath Tiwary, deputy commissioner of Ghaziabad police (rural). Noida police constable Saurabh Kumar was shot dead on Sunday night by unidentified people in a mob, when a group of seven officers were visiting the village to arrest one Qadir, an accused in a case of a music system and ECM theft from a car on the intervening night of May 2 and 3 in Noida. Nazreen said that the policemen, besides breaking the main door of the house, damaged a big mirror, a washing machine, and a desert cooler. "They stayed in my house for about half-an-hour and kept questioning my family. I told them that they should look for the actual person who shot the constable, and spare innocent people. Ever since, I have been using a charpoi to cover the main door to keep my house shut," she said.

Forty-year-old Munni, who stays near Nazreen's house, said a group of over 30 policemen raided her house in the night as well. "They were banging on the door, and when we did not open, they broke it open. They detained my husband, Nazir Mohammad and my brother-in-law's son, Sultan. They were asking if there were more men in the house. They also broke water taps with their lathis." Police, however, denied the allegations. DCP Tiwary said: "Claims that police resorted to damage to the houses are baseless and such allegations are false. No such thing happened."

GOVT UNVEILS INSTALLATION DEDICATED TO OP SINDOOR AT INA

HT Correspondent
letters@hindustantimes.com

NEW DELHI: The Delhi government said that installations dedicated to the Indian Army's Operation Sindoor will come up across the city, with the first such installation unveiled at the Dilli Haat in INA on Wednesday. "The Operation Sindoor installation is an effort to pay tribute to the courage and sacrifice of the Indian Army. This installation will serve as a reminder to both Indian citizens and international visitors of the extraordinary bravery and heroism of the Indian soldiers," tourism minister Kapil Mishra said. The installation showcases how the Indian Army crossed international borders to destroy terrorist hideouts, he added. The minister said that similar installations will be set up at other locations across Delhi. "The initiative begins with Dilli Haat, where the installation will be displayed for the next 15 days," he said.

APP, BJP FILE NOMINATIONS FOR STANDING COMMITTEE POST

NEW DELHI: The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) and the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) on Wednesday filed nominations for the election of one member of the standing committee. The member will be elected through a direct vote in the house of councillors on June 3. The BJP has fielded councillor Satya Sharma (ward 226) and the AAP has nominated Hema (ward 184) for the post. Currently, three seats of the 18-member standing committee are lying vacant. The elections for two seats (vacated by members elected from zonal wards committee) will be held on June 2. The three seats fell vacant due to election of members as MLAs and consequent resignation from MCD. "Once all 18 members are in place, the members will elect a chairman marking completion of standing committee formation process after 2.5 years of tussle," an official said.

US visa curbs trigger student loan worries

Banks fear drop in loans as Trump sharpens scrutiny of foreign students

Gopika Gopakumar & Devina Sengupta
MUMBAI

US president Donald Trump administration's tough stance on international student visas is worrying lenders, as they are seeing a sharp fall in the number of customers opting for education loans to study in America. Disbursal of loan amounts may also get impacted if visas are cancelled or delayed, the banks warned.

"Banks have seen a 25% reduction in education loans to students applying to US and Canada last fiscal and the growth in education loans will dip further now. More students are now looking at European colleges for admission," said a senior official at one of India's largest public sector banks.

The banks' warnings comes on the back of the US government directing its embassies to stop scheduling new interviews for international student visas. Earlier, the US embassy in India has cautioned students that skipping classes or leaving the program without informing authorities will lead to visa revocation.

"Demand for US student loans has halved as of now post the Trump decision. We are expecting business to slow down drastically, also due to the delay in US visa applications. However, we expect the situation to improve by February-March next year," said Nilanjan Chatterraj, head, credit and product, education loans, InCred Finance.

"So far we are not seeing stress in the education loan portfolio. However, we have put in place structures and teams in place if some of the students face job losses. We will work with them to chart out a repayment plan and seek regulatory flexibility in classifying these loans," said Chatterraj.

Typically, the loan amount gets sanctioned and then the student applies for the requisite visas. But lenders are worried that if visas get cancelled or delayed, then there will be an issue during the time of disbursal.

Last week, the Trump administration revoked Harvard's certification to admit foreign students in the 2025-26 academic year. A district court blocked the order. ISTOCKPHOTO

"55-60% of our loan applicants are for higher education to the US and we expect a dip because of the visa issues, but this should be a temporary one. However, US-focused education consultants who link the students with us have seen up to 50% drop in demand for US," Ankit Mehra, co-founder and CEO of non-banking finan-

A stiff battle is on between Ivy League universities like Harvard and the Trump administration. Last week, it revoked Harvard's certification to admit foreign students for the 2025-26 academic year. The university sued the US administration in the district court of Massachusetts, which blocked the order. The Trump administration has already ended Federal grants worth more than $2 billion to Harvard. It also aims to cancel remaining contracts, The New York Times reported.

"We typically send around 500 students to the US each year. Earlier this month, visa slots opened for Indian students, and most of our applicants secured their visas. However, around 20% are currently facing delays as US Embassies conduct additional scrutiny during visa interviews," said Namita Mehta, president of education consulting firm The Red Pen.

For non-bank lenders, the average ticket size for a loan to the US is ₹40 lakh, and the other geographies that are next in queue include the UK, Canada and Australia.

A degree in these colleges can set one back by $55,000-$100,000 a year for a four-year undergraduate course.
