Iran minister gets 'warm welcome' amid Gulf backlash

ADITI PHADNIS
New Delhi, 8 June

In a bid to control the damage from the Nupur Sharma comment that cast a slur on the Prophet, the Indian foreign office said Iran Foreign Minister Hossein Amir-Abdollahian arrived in India to a “warm welcome” to hold talks with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar. He also met Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Abdollahian is the first leader from an Islamic country to come to New Delhi amid widespread anger in West Asian countries over Sharma’s comments that neither Jaishankar nor Modi have reacted to or commented on. His visit comes two days after Iran joined Arab nations in summoning Indian envoys to protest the former Bharatiya Janata Party spokesperson’s remarks.

Many from the retired diplomatic community in India said the comments had done irreparable damage to India’s ties with Islamic nations and undone extensive progress made in ties with these nations in the past eight years.

That despite its diplomatic stand on the Islamic slur, Iran went ahead with the visit was interpreted as a minor diplomatic victory. There was no change in Abdollahian’s schedule — he is on a three-day visit and will visit Mumbai and Hyderabad as planned.

Analysts put this down to enlightened self-interest on the part of both Iran and India. Ahead of Abdollahian visit, Iranian envoy to India Ali Chegeni was quoted as saying Tehran was ready to meet India’s energy security needs as negotiations continue between the world powers and Tehran on the lifting of sanctions against the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries member.

Iran used to be the second-largest oil supplier to India, but New Delhi had to halt imports from Tehran after former US president Donald Trump withdrew from the nuclear deal with Iran and reimposed sanctions on its oil exports. India and Iran have devised a barter-like mechanism to settle trade where Indian refiners were paying for Iranian oil in rupees to a local bank and the funds were used by Tehran to pay for imports from India.

There are other common interests as well. India took over the operations of a part of Shahid Beheshti Port in Chabahar.

India started interacting with Iran on Chabahar Port around 2003, but a major push was received in the second half of 2014, resulting in the signing of a memorandum of understanding (MoU) between the two countries for the development of Chabahar Port in May 2015.

This MoU translated into a formal 10-year contract for equipping and operating Chabahar Port, which was executed on May 23, 2016, during Modi’s visit to Tehran.

India and Iran have been jointly focusing on improving connectivity between Southeast Asia and Central Asia.

Meanwhile, after a nearly 10-day silence, Minority Affairs Minister Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi on Wednesday said India’s strength of co-existence of various communities cannot be harmed by any ‘narrow-minded’ communal conspiracy, and that the followers of all religions “flourish in India in an environment of equality, freedom, and inclusivity”.

Equal rights, dignity, and prosperity of minorities, including Muslims, is a part of the country’s commitment to tolerance, harmony, and inclusivity, Naqvi told reporters.

Infra set up by China near LAC alarming: US General

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 8 June

The destabilising and corrosive behaviour of Chinese Community Party (CCP) in the Indo-Pacific region is simply not helpful and some of the defence infrastructure that is being set up by China near its border with India is alarming, US Army’s Pacific commanding general Charles A Flynn said on Wednesday.

The armed forces of India and China have been engaged in a tense border standoff in eastern Ladakh since May 5, 2020, when there was a violent clash between the two sides in the Pangong lake areas.

Last month, it came to light that China is constructing a second bridge in an area held by it around the strategically key Pangong Tso lake in eastern Ladakh and it could help its military to quickly mobilise its troops in the region. China has also been establishing other infrastructure such as roads and residential areas in the border areas with India.

China has maritime border disputes with various countries in the Indo-Pacific region such as Vietnam and Japan. When asked about his assessment of the India-China border standoff in Ladakh, Flynn said: “I believe that the activity level is eye-opening and I think the some of the infrastructure that is being created in the (Chinese Army’s) western theatre command is alarming.”

The western theatre command of the Chinese Army borders India. Flynn said when one sees China’s military arsenal in all domains, one must ask the question why it is needed.

RBI...

As of December 2021, a little over 39 per cent of banking-system loans were linked to an external benchmark, which is mostly the repo rate. Around 58.2 per cent of home loans are linked to external benchmarks.

About 53 per cent of the loans of the banking system are linked to the marginal cost of fund-based lending rate (MCLR). Most banks have increased their MCLR after the 40-bp repo rate hike in May.

While lending rates will go up immediately, an increase in fixed-deposit rates may take time because the banking system is flush with liquidity.

Das said he expected deposit rates too to increase.

He said inflationary pressures had intensified further. “75 per cent of the increase in the inflation projection compared to what we had made in April is attributed to food inflation. Primarily food inflation is linked to external factors, namely the war in Europe,” Das said. The central bank now projects the CPI (consumer price index) inflation rate above the upper tolerance threshold of 6 per cent till the October-December quarter.

Inflation for the last quarter of FY23 is seen at 5.8 per cent.

Das said risks to inflation were from high commodity prices, revisions in electricity tariffs in many states, high domestic poultry and animal feed costs, etc. He cited the recent spike in tomato prices.

All this is apart from elevated international crude oil prices — the most important of all. Bond markets responded positively to the policy, proved by the rally at the shorter end. The 10-year benchmark government bond fell 8 bps after the rate hike came in line with expectations and there was no hike in the cash reserve ratio.

Economists are expecting aggressive hikes in the coming months. “We retain our projection for the terminal repo rate at 6.25 per cent by April 2023, with a 35-bps rate hike in August, followed by 25 bps rate hikes in the following four policy meetings. Risks are skewed towards more front-loaded hikes and higher terminal rates,” Nomura India said in a report.

Ludhiana...

“We’re tired now,” sighs Rehman, a small retailer who also owns a weaving unit. “Raw materials are getting costlier by the day, and we have not had a steady supply of accessories for months. There are overhead expenses to be paid and we also have to pay the workers. It’s very difficult.”

“The supply of garment accessories has been slow and unreliable for over three-four months now,” says Vinod Thapar, president of Knitwear Club, an apparel industry association. Many retailers add that their products would not sell for even half the price without the accessories that are mostly imported from China.

Thapar and others say that though the Shanghai port has reopened, manufacturers in Ludhiana have curtailed or delayed their production plans, at the risk of not having ready stock by the time the peak season arrives in winter.

Factory owners say that earlier, basic raw materials would take 15-20 days to be shipped and specialised orders would take 60 days. These supply cycles have now extended multi-fold. Consequently, input costs for manufacturers have also gone up.

Many factory owners have been forced to source their accessories locally. However, the local products lack competitiveness, both in terms of quality and cost, says Thapar.

Another problem is the depreciation of the rupee against the dollar. Says Harinder Thapar, a textile manufacturer and retailer, “Even if the basic cost of our material doesn’t rise, we end up paying more for imports.”

The industry is also concerned about small manufacturers, who sell handmade fibre, facing a double-whammy. In addition to the cost inflation in basic raw materials, the high price of crude is impacting business, since fabrics like nylon and polyester are petroleum-based products.

“While medium and larger manufacturers have learned to compromise and work through the supply shocks, the distress of the micro industry has been much bigger. Their survival is on the line,” says Sudarshan Jain, president, Knitwear and Apparel Manufacturers Association of Ludhiana.

“The industry expects the prices of winter apparel to increase by 15-20 per cent this season. While it could change with the supply situation, we can’t test the market too much. We have to be careful in raising prices, or our sale volumes could be low,” says Jain.

In fact, the issue of price makes many retailers anxious. Most of them were banking on this season to make good the losses they had incurred over the last two years due to the pandemic. They point out that fashion is a space where trends change quickly, and if the increased prices are not accepted by consumers, they will end up with unsold stock which will not be of any use next year, as trends would likely have changed by then.

MSP...

Edible oil prices have been on the boil since the past few months, further exacerbated by the Russia-Ukraine stand-off. The current market price of both soybean and groundnut is ruling above the revised MSP for the 2022-23 season.

Soybean is selling at around ₹6,400-7,000 per quintal in the open market. Groundnut is being quoted at around ₹5,700-6,600 per quintal. This is beyond their new MSP of ₹4,300 and ₹5,850 per quintal, respectively.

In the case of paddy, whose MSP for the first time crossed ₹2,000 per quintal, analysts believe it could spur sowing in Punjab, Haryana, and Uttar Pradesh. Among other important crops, the MSP of cotton (medium staple variety), which is another major kharif crop, has been raised by 6.18 per cent in 2022-23, compared with 2021-22 — from ₹5,726 per quintal to ₹6,080 per quintal. That of the long staple variety has been raised by 5.89 per cent — from ₹6,025 per quintal to ₹6,380 per quintal.

Rupee...

According to the Clearing Corporation of India data, at the open, the yield on the 10-year government bonds (6.54 per cent 2032) was 7.51 per cent, and closed the day at 7.49 per cent. The market had priced in the quantum of the repo rate hike, given elevated levels of inflation. Bond yields are expected to move in a range for now, dealers and analysts said.

Madan Sabnavis, chief economist, Bank of Baroda, said the RBI governor had earlier signalled that a rate increase was a ‘no brainer’.
