KPIT Cummins selects "Sapience" to boost productivity

Furthers productivity improvement efforts to enhance overall time utilization

Pune, India - March 27, 2012 - KPIT Cummins (BSE: 532400; NSE: KPIT), product engineering and IT consulting partner to global manufacturing corporations, today announced a 'Priority Customer' agreement with Pune based InnovizeTech Software, to deploy their patent-pending software product, "Sapience". Sapience the highly automated productivity management solution is designed to help organizations boost work output by over 20%, thereby directly impacting revenue, profitability and customer satisfaction through resource optimization. The solution will be initially implemented in key business units by roles within KPIT Cummins.

Commenting on the selection of Sapience, Kishor Patil, Managing Director and CEO, KPIT Cummins said, "KPIT Cummins is committed to ensuring customer delight through outstanding delivery practices measured on well-defined metrics. The talent within the organization is a key element in ensuring this aspect. We strongly believe that our employees are passionate about their work, and will continue to improve their effectiveness and output if equipped with the right tools and processes."

According to Shirish Deodhar, Co-founder and CEO of InnovizeTech, "Companies so far have focused on hiring talented people to get the best work output. The same team can perform even better if their time is used efficiently by leveraging right engagement tools/solutions. Sapience delivers meaningful trends about People Engagement and Work Efficiency at all levels within an organization and drives measurable gains in these areas without any change in process or requiring extra management overhead."

Adding on the selection, Vaishali Vaid, Associate Vice President and Head of Process Excellence Group, KPIT Cummins said, "Sapience empowers the company at two levels, from an organization standpoint it allows us to measure and improve employee productivity while enabling individuals to improve their productive output and time management through self-analysis. It also helps managers guide their team's activities to desired outcomes. KPIT Cummins will benefit from the software's approach through analysis of the effort captured."
