Refurbished medical device import policy still in works

SANKET KOUL
New Delhi, 2 September

Almost a year after the Centre constituted an interministerial committee to frame guidelines for the import of refurbished medical devices, the proposed framework remains under discussion, with no comprehensive guidelines notified so far.

At stake is a pre-owned medical equipment market estimated by industry executives at around ₹1,500 crore, or nearly 10 per cent of the overall medical equipment market. Hospitals and diagnostic centres, particularly in smaller cities, use such equipment to bring down the cost of installing expensive machines such as computed tomography (CT) and magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) scanners.

But domestic players worry that easier imports without adequate safeguards could expose patients to unsafe equipment and turn India into a market for obsolete machines. The government, therefore, has to decide what equipment can be imported, how old it can be, who certifies that it is safe and functional, and who is responsible if it fails.

People familiar with the matter said the panel has held only a few meetings and has begun examining data on the refurbished equipment market. It includes representatives from the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoHFW), Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation

(CDSCO), Department of Pharmaceuticals, and industry. “The government set up an interministerial committee to examine and frame guidelines for such devices. But no comprehensive guidelines specifically governing such imports have been notified so far,” said Rajiv Nath, forum coordinator of the Association of Indian Medical Device Industry (AiMed).

Queries mailed to the Union health ministry remained unanswered until the time of going to press.

The regulatory gap is not new. In a January 2025 letter to the principal commissioner of Customs, the CDSCO acknowledged that the Medical Devices Rules (MDR), 2017, do not distinguish between new and refurbished devices. That does not mean used medical equipment cannot enter India. An existing mechanism under the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change

(MoEFCC) allows imports of 38 specified high-end and high-value equipment prescribed by the DGHS. These include CT scanners, MRI systems, ultrasound and X-ray equipment, besides some laboratory and critical-care devices.

There are conditions: the equipment should not have been phased out in the exporting country, should not contain hazardous material, and should have a residual life of at least seven years. The health ministry is now examining whether these rules are enough or whether refurbished medical devices need a more specific regulatory framework.

“Major issues to be discussed by the committee include determining the service time of secondhand devices eligible for import or allowing only very expensive, high-end critical-care equipment used for critical care,” a senior MoHFW official said.

The MoEFCC is understood to have received a draft or proposal from the health ministry for comments, although it has not been directly involved in framing the policy. “While the health ministry is amending provisions in the MDR, we have not been directly involved in policy formulation. However, MoHFW has shared a draft or proposal with MoEFCC for comments,” a person familiar with the matter said.

The industry itself is divided over how far India should open the door to refurbished equipment. Nath said there is no separate import classification for refurbished medical devices, making it difficult to determine their exact share in India's medical device imports. “Any such framework should prescribe requirements for quality, safety, performance, traceability, remaining useful life, servicing, and accountability of the importer and supplier,” he added.

Multinational medical technology manufacturers support allowing refurbished equipment but want imports to come through original equipment manufacturers or their authorised channels.

A multinational industry body said advanced CT scanners, MRI systems, and robotic surgical systems remain financially out of reach for smaller hospitals and institutions in Tier-II and Tier-III cities. Refurbished equipment, it argued, could make such technology more accessible without compromising safety.

Belgian PM to focus on diamonds, defence ties during India visit

ARCHIS MOHAN
New Delhi, 2 September

Belgian Prime Minister Bart De Wever's three-day visit to India, starting Wednesday, will focus on exploring ways to deepen diamond trade and strengthen cooperation in clean energy, maritime and defence ties. During the visit, the two sides would explore ways to leverage the India-European Union free trade agreement.

Belgium's Defence and Foreign Trade Minister Theo Francken and a delegation of business leaders are accompanying Bart De Wever on the first visit by a Belgian PM to India in two decades.

The visit would also seek to build on the Economic Mission led by Princess Astrid of Belgium in March 2025 and the inaugural India-Belgium Strategic Dialogue in July 2026. The Economic Mission to India brought together 338 participants from companies, chambers of commerce, academia and public institutions and resulted in 38 agreements.

Officials said the visit will provide an opportunity to translate the recent momentum in bilateral relations into concrete outcomes and take the relationship from established economic cooperation towards a broader strategic partnership.

Discussions will focus on trade and investment, defence and security, technology and innovation, connectivity, ports and maritime cooperation, and reinforce Belgium's important role in strengthening India-European Union relations, officials said.

The Belgian PM will visit Mumbai on Friday, where his itinerary includes a visit to the Bharat Diamond Bourse. India-Belgium bilateral trade reached $13.01 billion in 2025-26, up from $8.8 billion in 2024-25.

Diamond trade, with Antwerp as a major global diamond hub, remains a significant component of India-Belgium bilateral commerce, and the two sides are exploring opportunities for further cooperation in the sector.

Officer who led Op Sindoor is Ram temple trust's first CEO

Air Marshal (retd) Jeetendra Mishra

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Ayodhya (UP), 2 September

Air Marshal Jeetendra Mishra (retd), who headed the Western Air Command during Operation Sindoor, was on Wednesday appointed the first CEO of the Shri Ram Jambhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust that oversees the management and operations of the Ram temple, trust officials said.

His name was selected from a shortlist of three candidates picked from 5,585 applications.

The appointment of the 62-year-old comes in the wake of the controversy over the alleged embezzlement of temple donations that led to the arrest of eight people and the resignation of Champat Rai as general secretary. The committee was headed by retired Justice Pramod Kohli and comprised retired Lt Gen Vishnukant Chaturvedi and former scientist Suresh Haware. It submitted its final report to trust treasurer Govind Dev Giri on Tuesday.

Committee Secretary Sameer Panda said the panel had recommended “three highly qualified professionals” after assessing their leadership and expertise.

State taps global mkts for food exports

VIRENDRA SINGH RAWAT
Lucknow, 2 September

The Uttar Pradesh (UP) government has tapped global markets for exporting agricultural and horticulture-based processed food items.

Under the aegis of the Uttar Pradesh State Horticultural Export Promotion Board (UPSHSB), a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) has been signed between exporters and the state Farmer Producer Organisations.

The leading export destinations include the US, Canada, Germany, Sweden, the United Kingdom, Australia, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia.

Dinesh Pratap Singh, minister of state for horticulture and agricultural exports, said the exports of agricultural and horticulture-based products have witnessed a steady growth. He said the shipments rose from ₹727 crore in 2016-17 to ₹1,132 crore in 2025-26.

“UP is taking steps to promote the farm produce beyond the national markets to global markets, while also promoting value addition in the agriculture and horticulture sectors,” he added.

UPSHSB has also launched a website to disseminate information regarding the standards required for a particular farm produce in the destination country, and the procedures to be followed for exports.

Oppn flags urea shortage; govt claims surplus

ANIL SHARMA
Jaipur, 2 September

The Rajasthan Congress unit has alleged that shortage of fertilisers for kharif (summer) crops is compounding the problems of farmers, but the state government has denied the claims.

The total urea stock available to Rajasthan so far stands at 1,312,000 million tonnes (mt), including the Government of India's initial allocation of 928,000 mt for the season (April-August), according to Manju Rajpal, state's principal secretary (agriculture and horticulture). Despite global circumstances, the share of allocation to the state is approximately 141 per cent.

“Despite disruptions in the supply of imported DAP, the availability of alternative phosphatic fertilisers has been ensured for farmers. So far, 171,000 mt of NPK and 376,000 mt of single super phosphate have been made available in the state. In total, 788,000 mt of phosphatic fertilisers have been provided to meet farmers' demand.”

Meanwhile, former chief minister Ashok Gehlot said farmers were unable to secure even the essential fertilisers needed to save crops. “They are forced to stand in queues for hours struggling to obtain just a few bags of DAP,” the Congress leader said.

Refurbished medical device import policy still in works

(MoEFCC) allows imports of 38 specified high-end and high-value equipment prescribed by the DGHS. These include CT scanners, MRI systems, ultrasound and X-ray equipment, besides some laboratory and critical-care devices.

There are conditions: the equipment should not have been phased out in the exporting country, should not contain hazardous material, and should have a residual life of at least seven years. The health ministry is now examining whether these rules are enough or whether refurbished medical devices need a more specific regulatory framework.

"Major issues to be discussed by the committee include determining the service time of secondhand devices eligible for import or allowing only very expensive, high-end critical-care equipment used for critical care," a senior MoHFW official said.

The MoEFCC is understood to have received a draft or proposal from the health ministry for comments, although it has not been directly involved in framing the policy. "While the health ministry is amending provisions in the MDR, we have not been directly involved in policy formulation. However, MoHFW has shared a draft or proposal with MoEFCC for comments," a person familiar with the matter said.

The industry itself is divided over how far India should open the door to refurbished equipment. Nath said there is no separate import classification for refurbished medical devices, making it difficult to determine their exact share in India's medical device imports. "Any such framework should prescribe requirements for quality, safety, performance, traceability, remaining useful life, servicing, and accountability of the importer and supplier," he added.

Multinational medical technology manufacturers support allowing refurbished equipment but want imports to come through original equipment manufacturers or their authorised channels.

A multinational industry body said advanced CT scanners, MRI systems, and robotic surgical systems remain financially out of reach for smaller hospitals and institutions in Tier-II and Tier-III cities. Refurbished equipment, it argued, could make such technology more accessible without compromising safety.

Belgian PM to focus on diamonds, defence ties during India visit

ARCHIS MOHAN
New Delhi, 2 September

Belgian Prime Minister Bart De Wever's three-day visit to India, starting Wednesday, will focus on exploring ways to deepen diamond trade and strengthen cooperation in clean energy, maritime and defence ties. During the visit, the two sides would explore ways to leverage the India-European Union free trade agreement.

Belgium's Defence and Foreign Trade Minister Theo Francken and a delegation of business leaders are accompanying Bart De Wever on the first visit by a Belgian PM to India in two decades.

The visit would also seek to build on the Economic Mission led by Princess Astrid of Belgium in March 2025 and the inaugural India-Belgium Strategic Dialogue in July 2026. The Economic Mission to India brought together 338 participants from companies, chambers of commerce, academia and public institutions and resulted in 38 agreements.

Officials said the visit will provide an opportunity to translate the recent momentum in bilateral relations into concrete outcomes and take the relationship from established economic cooperation towards a broader strategic partnership.

Discussions will focus on trade and investment, defence and security, technology and innovation, connectivity, ports and maritime cooperation, and reinforce Belgium's important role in strengthening India-European Union relations, officials said.

The Belgian PM will visit Mumbai on Friday, where his itinerary includes a visit to the Bharat Diamond Bourse. India-Belgium bilateral trade reached $13.01 billion in 2025-26, up from $8.8 billion in 2024-25.

Diamond trade, with Antwerp as a major global diamond hub, remains a significant component of India-Belgium bilateral commerce, and the two sides are exploring opportunities for further cooperation in the sector.

It submitted its final report to trust treasurer Govind Dev Giri on Tuesday.

State taps global mkts for food exports

VIRENDRA SINGH RAWAT
Lucknow, 2 September

The Uttar Pradesh (UP) government has tapped global markets for exporting agricultural and horticulture-based processed food items.

Under the aegis of the Uttar Pradesh State Horticultural Export Promotion Board (UPSHEB), a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) has been signed between exporters and the state Farmer Producer Organisations.

The leading export destinations include the US, Canada, Germany, Sweden, the United Kingdom, Australia, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia.

Dinesh Pratap Singh, minister of state for horticulture and agricultural exports, said the exports of agricultural and horticulture-based products have witnessed a steady growth. He said the shipments rose from ₹727 crore in 2016-17 to ₹1,132 crore in 2025-26.

"UP is taking steps to promote the farm produce beyond the national markets to global markets, while also promoting value addition in the agriculture and horticulture sectors," he added.

UPSHEB has also launched a website to disseminate information regarding the standards required for a particular farm produce in the destination country, and the procedures to be followed for exports.

Oppn flags urea shortage; govt claims surplus

ANIL SHARMA
Jaipur, 2 September

The Rajasthan Congress unit has alleged that shortage of fertilisers for kharif (summer) crops is compounding the problems of farmers, but the state government has denied the claims.

The total urea stock available to Rajasthan so far stands at 1,312,000 million tonnes (mt), including the Government of India's initial allocation of 928,000 mt for the season (April-August), according to Manju Rajpal, state's principal secretary (agriculture and horticulture). Despite global circumstances, the share of allocation to the state is approximately 141 per cent.

"Despite disruptions in the supply of imported DAP, the availability of alternative phosphatic fertilisers has been ensured for farmers. So far, 171,000 mt of NPK and 376,000 mt of single super phosphate have been made available in the state. In total, 788,000 mt of phosphatic fertilisers have been provided to meet farmers' demand."

Meanwhile, former chief minister Ashok Gehlot said farmers were unable to secure even the essential fertilisers needed to save crops. "They are forced to stand in queues for hours struggling to obtain just a few bags of DAP," the Congress leader said.

Refurbished medical device import policy still in works

SANKET KOUL
New Delhi, 2 September

Almost a year after the Centre constituted an interministerial committee to frame guidelines for the import of refurbished medical devices, the proposed framework remains under discussion, with no comprehensive guidelines notified so far.

At stake is a pre-owned medical equipment market estimated by industry executives at around ₹1,500 crore, or nearly 10 per cent of the overall medical equipment market. Hospitals and diagnostic centres, particularly in smaller cities, use such equipment to bring down the cost of installing expensive machines such as computed tomography (CT) and magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) scanners.

But domestic players worry that easier imports without adequate safeguards could expose patients to unsafe equipment and turn India into a market for obsolete machines. The government, therefore, has to decide what equipment can be imported, how old it can be, who certifies that it is safe and functional, and who is responsible if it fails.

People familiar with the matter said the panel has held only a few meetings and has begun examining data on the refurbished equipment market. It includes representatives from the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoHFW), Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation

Inside the secondhand medtech market

(CDSCO), Department of Pharmaceuticals, and industry. "The government set up an interministerial committee to examine and frame guidelines for such devices. But no comprehensive guidelines specifically governing such imports have been notified so far," said Rajiv Nath, forum coordinator of the Association of Indian Medical Device Industry (AiMedD).

Queries mailed to the Union health ministry remained unanswered until the time of going to press.

The regulatory gap is not new. In a January 2025 letter to the principal commissioner of Customs, the CDSCO acknowledged that the Medical Devices Rules (MDR), 2017, do not distinguish between new and refurbished devices. That does not mean used medical equipment cannot enter India. An existing mechanism under the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change

US, Germany, Japan, the Netherlands: Major markets for India's refurbished medical device imports

(MoEFCC) allows imports of 38 specified high-end and high-value equipment prescribed by the DGHS. These include CT scanners, MRI systems, ultrasound and X-ray equipment, besides some laboratory and critical-care devices.

There are conditions: the equipment should not have been phased out in the exporting country, should not contain hazardous material, and should have a residual life of at least seven years. The health ministry is now examining whether these rules are enough or whether refurbished medical devices need a more specific regulatory framework.

"Major issues to be discussed by the committee include determining the service time of secondhand devices eligible for import or allowing only very expensive, high-end critical-care equipment used for critical care," a senior MoHFW official said.

The MoEFCC is understood to have received a draft or proposal from the health ministry for comments, although it has not been directly involved in framing the policy. "While the health ministry is amending provisions in the MDR, we have not been directly involved in policy formulation. However, MoHFW has shared a draft or proposal with MoEFCC for comments," a person familiar with the matter said.

The industry itself is divided over how far India should open the door to refurbished equipment. Nath said there is no separate import classification for refurbished medical devices, making it difficult to determine their exact share in India's medical device imports. "Any such framework should prescribe requirements for quality, safety, performance, traceability, remaining useful life, servicing, and accountability of the importer and supplier," he added.

Multinational medical technology manufacturers support allowing refurbished equipment but want imports to come through original equipment manufacturers or their authorised channels.

A multinational industry body said advanced CT scanners, MRI systems, and robotic surgical systems remain financially out of reach for smaller hospitals and institutions in Tier-II and Tier-III cities. Refurbished equipment, it argued, could make such technology more accessible without compromising safety.

Belgian PM to focus on diamonds, defence ties during India visit

ARCHIS MOHAN
New Delhi, 2 September

Belgian Prime Minister Bart De Wever's three-day visit to India, starting Wednesday, will focus on exploring ways to deepen diamond trade and strengthen cooperation in clean energy, maritime and defence ties. During the visit, the two sides would explore ways to leverage the India-European Union free trade agreement.

Belgium's Defence and Foreign Trade Minister Theo Francken and a delegation of business leaders are accompanying Bart De Wever on the first visit by a Belgian PM to India in two decades.

The visit would also seek to build on the Economic Mission led by Princess Astrid of Belgium in March 2025 and the inaugural India-Belgium Strategic Dialogue in July 2026. The Economic Mission to India brought together 338 participants from companies, chambers of commerce, academia and public institutions and resulted in 38 agreements.

Officials said the visit will provide an opportunity to translate the recent momentum in bilateral relations into concrete outcomes and take the relationship from established economic cooperation towards a broader strategic partnership.

Discussions will focus on trade and investment, defence and security, technology and innovation, connectivity, ports and maritime cooperation, and reinforce Belgium's important role in strengthening India-European Union relations, officials said.

The Belgian PM will visit Mumbai on Friday, where his itinerary includes a visit to the Bharat Diamond Bourse. India-Belgium bilateral trade reached $13.01 billion in 2025-26, up from $8.8 billion in 2024-25.

Diamond trade, with Antwerp as a major global diamond hub, remains a significant component of India-Belgium bilateral commerce, and the two sides are exploring opportunities for further cooperation in the sector.

State taps global mkts for food exports

VIRENDRA SINGH RAWAT
Lucknow, 2 September

The Uttar Pradesh (UP) government has tapped global markets for exporting agricultural and horticulture-based processed food items.

Under the aegis of the Uttar Pradesh State Horticultural Export Promotion Board (UPSHSB), a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) has been signed between exporters and the state Farmer Producer Organisations.

The leading export destinations include the US, Canada, Germany, Sweden, the United Kingdom, Australia, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia.

Dinesh Pratap Singh, minister of state for horticulture and agricultural exports, said the exports of agricultural and horticulture-based products have witnessed a steady growth. He said the shipments rose from ₹727 crore in 2016-17 to ₹1,132 crore in 2025-26.

"UP is taking steps to promote the farm produce beyond the national markets to global markets, while also promoting value addition in the agriculture and horticulture sectors," he added.

UPSHSB has also launched a website to disseminate information regarding the standards required for a particular farm produce in the destination country, and the procedures to be followed for exports.

Oppn flags urea shortage; govt claims surplus

ANIL SHARMA
Jaipur, 2 September

The Rajasthan Congress unit has alleged that shortage of fertilisers for kharif (summer) crops is compounding the problems of farmers, but the state government has denied the claims.

The total urea stock available to Rajasthan so far stands at 1,312,000 million tonnes (mt), including the Government of India's initial allocation of 928,000 mt for the season (April-August), according to Manju Rajpal, state's principal secretary (agriculture and horticulture). Despite global circumstances, the share of allocation to the state is approximately 141 per cent.

"Despite disruptions in the supply of imported DAP, the availability of alternative phosphatic fertilisers has been ensured for farmers. So far, 171,000 mt of NPK and 376,000 mt of single super phosphate have been made available in the state. In total, 788,000 mt of phosphatic fertilisers have been provided to meet farmers' demand."

Meanwhile, former chief minister Ashok Gehlot said farmers were unable to secure even the essential fertilisers needed to save crops. "They are forced to stand in queues for hours struggling to obtain just a few bags of DAP," the Congress leader said.

Refurbished medical device import policy still in works

SANKET KOUL
New Delhi, 2 September

Almost a year after the Centre constituted an interministerial committee to frame guidelines for the import of refurbished medical devices, the proposed framework remains under discussion, with no comprehensive guidelines notified so far.

At stake is a pre-owned medical equipment market estimated by industry executives at around ₹1,500 crore, or nearly 10 per cent of the overall medical equipment market. Hospitals and diagnostic centres, particularly in smaller cities, use such equipment to bring down the cost of installing expensive machines such as computed tomography (CT) and magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) scanners.

But domestic players worry that easier imports without adequate safeguards could expose patients to unsafe equipment and turn India into a market for obsolete machines. The government, therefore, has to decide what equipment can be imported, how old it can be, who certifies that it is safe and functional, and who is responsible if it fails.

People familiar with the matter said the panel has held only a few meetings and has begun examining data on the refurbished equipment market. It includes representatives from the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoHFW), Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation

(CDSCO), Department of Pharmaceuticals, and industry. "The government set up an interministerial committee to examine and frame guidelines for such devices. But no comprehensive guidelines specifically governing such imports have been notified so far," said Rajiv Nath, forum coordinator of the Association of Indian Medical Device Industry (AiMed).

Queries mailed to the Union health ministry remained unanswered until the time of going to press.

The regulatory gap is not new. In a January 2025 letter to the principal commissioner of Customs, the CDSCO acknowledged that the Medical Devices Rules (MDR), 2017, do not distinguish between new and refurbished devices. That does not mean used medical equipment cannot enter India. An existing mechanism under the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change

US, Germany, Japan, the Netherlands: Major markets for India's refurbished medical device imports

(MoEFCC) allows imports of 38 specified high-end and high-value equipment prescribed by the DGHS. These include CT scanners, MRI systems, ultrasound and X-ray equipment, besides some laboratory and critical-care devices.

There are conditions: the equipment should not have been phased out in the exporting country, should not contain hazardous material, and should have a residual life of at least seven years. The health ministry is now examining whether these rules are enough or whether refurbished medical devices need a more specific regulatory framework.

"Major issues to be discussed by the committee include determining the service time of secondhand devices eligible for import or allowing only very expensive, high-end critical-care equipment used for critical care," a senior MoHFW official said.

The MoEFCC is understood to have received a draft or proposal from the health ministry for comments, although it has not been directly involved in framing the policy. "While the health ministry is amending provisions in the MDR, we have not been directly involved in policy formulation. However, MoHFW has shared a draft or proposal with MoEFCC for comments," a person familiar with the matter said.

The industry itself is divided over how far India should open the door to refurbished equipment. Nath said there is no separate import classification for refurbished medical devices, making it difficult to determine their exact share in India's medical device imports. "Any such framework should prescribe requirements for quality, safety, performance, traceability, remaining useful life, servicing, and accountability of the importer and supplier," he added.

Multinational medical technology manufacturers support allowing refurbished equipment but want imports to come through original equipment manufacturers or their authorised channels.

A multinational industry body said advanced CT scanners, MRI systems, and robotic surgical systems remain financially out of reach for smaller hospitals and institutions in Tier-II and Tier-III cities. Refurbished equipment, it argued, could make such technology more accessible without compromising safety.

Belgian PM to focus on diamonds, defence ties during India visit

ARCHIS MOHAN
New Delhi, 2 September

Belgian Prime Minister Bart De Wever's three-day visit to India, starting Wednesday, will focus on exploring ways to deepen diamond trade and strengthen cooperation in clean energy, maritime and defence ties. During the visit, the two sides would explore ways to leverage the India-European Union free trade agreement.

Belgium's Defence and Foreign Trade Minister Theo Francken and a delegation of business leaders are accompanying Bart De Wever on the first visit by a Belgian PM to India in two decades.

The visit would also seek to build on the Economic Mission led by Princess Astrid of Belgium in March 2025 and the inaugural India-Belgium Strategic Dialogue in July 2026. The Economic Mission to India brought together 338 participants from companies, chambers of commerce, academia and public institutions and resulted in 38 agreements. Officials said the visit will provide an opportunity to translate the recent momentum in bilateral relations into concrete outcomes and take the relationship from established economic cooperation towards a broader strategic partnership.

Discussions will focus on trade and investment, defence and security, technology and innovation, connectivity, ports and maritime cooperation, and reinforce Belgium's important role in strengthening India-European Union relations, officials said.

The Belgian PM will visit Mumbai on Friday, where his itinerary includes a visit to the Bharat Diamond Bourse. India-Belgium bilateral trade reached $13.01 billion in 2025-26, up from $8.8 billion in 2024-25.

Diamond trade, with Antwerp as a major global diamond hub, remains a significant component of India-Belgium bilateral commerce, and the two sides are exploring opportunities for further cooperation in the sector.

Officer who led Op Sindoor is Ram temple trust's first CEO

Air Marshal (retd) Jeetendra Mishra

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Ayodhya (UP), 2 September

Air Marshal Jeetendra Mishra (retd), who headed the Western Air Command during Operation Sindoor, was on Wednesday appointed the first CEO of the Shri Ram Jambhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust that oversees the management and operations of the Ram temple, trust officials said.

His name was selected from a shortlist of three candidates picked from 5,585 applications.

The appointment of the 62-year-old comes in the wake of the controversy over the alleged embezzlement of temple donations that led to the arrest of eight people and the resignation of Champat Rai as general secretary. The committee was headed by retired Justice Pramod Kohli and comprised retired Lt Gen Vishnukant Chaturvedi and former scientist Suresh Haware. It submitted its final report to trust treasurer Govind Dev Giri on Tuesday. Committee Secretary Sameer Panda said the panel had recommended "three highly qualified professionals" after assessing their leadership and expertise.

ANIL SHARMA
Jaipur, 2 September

The Rajasthan Congress unit has alleged that shortage of fertilisers for kharif (summer) crops is compounding the problems of farmers, but the state government has denied the claims.

The total urea stock available to Rajasthan so far stands at 1,312,000 million tonnes (mt), including the Government of India's initial allocation of 928,000 mt for the season (April-August), according to Manju Rajpal, state's principal secretary (agriculture and horticulture). Despite global circumstances, the share of allocation to the state is approximately 141 per cent.

"Despite disruptions in the supply of imported DAP, the availability of alternative phosphatic fertilisers has been ensured for farmers. So far, 171,000 mt of NPK and 376,000 mt of single super phosphate have been made available in the state. In total, 788,000 mt of phosphatic fertilisers have been provided to meet farmers' demand."

Meanwhile, former chief minister Ashok Gehlot said farmers were unable to secure even the essential fertilisers needed to save crops. "They are forced to stand in queues for hours struggling to obtain just a few bags of DAP," the Congress leader said.
