Alternative data may become mainstream for lenders: RBI Deputy Governor Rao

DATA DRIVEN. Using AI and ML, algorithms can determine creditworthiness more accurately

Time may not be far when data such as cash flow information will no longer be alternative, but will be the mainstream in the national financial architecture, according to M Rajeshwar Rao, Deputy Governor, Reserve Bank of India.

While credit information companies (CICs) have undoubtedly played an important role in reducing the information asymmetry, thereby facilitating better credit decisions by lenders, they are not going to be the only game in town to source the required data, as information asymmetries are also sought to be addressed through other complementary mechanisms, he said at TransUnion CIBIL's Credit Conference in Mumbai.

"This trend is driven by the digitalisation of financial services and electronification of records, which has created a large repository of data which can be used to get better handle on economic trends, both micro and macro. This, coupled with the growth of FinTechs and innovations in financial services, has created business opportunities to harness alternate data sets in order to gain a better understanding of financial behaviour and credit worthiness of individuals and entities," Rao said.

He observed that these insights can give a richer perspective than conventional analysis and provide an impetus to the measures taken to foster greater financial in-

ROLE OF AI/ ML

Rao said that one of the main challenges in the provision of credit facility, especially among underprivileged populations, is the absence of credit history.

By using artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML), algorithms can evaluate alternative data from diverse sources to determine creditworthiness more accurately, he added.

"In fact, it seems that time is not far when alternative data will no longer be alternate, but it will be the mainstream. This advancement would allow lenders to extend credit to individuals who were once deemed ineligible. "Use of AI/ML could simplify the disbursement process by automating credit asand sessments evaluations, which not only accelerates fund distribution but also cuts administrative costs, making it practical to

Private sector lender HDFC Bank will continue "supporting" its non-bank arm HDB Financial Services after the listing of the company, MD & CEO Sashidhar Jagdishan said.

"We will continue to support HDB as it navigates the opportunities and challenges of the public market, always with an eye on long-term value creation...," he said.

₹10,000 crore. The NBFC's IPO was subscribed 16.69 times, powered by institutional interest, signalling renewed investor appetite for large public offerings.

SEPARATE OPERATIONS

In a recent interaction with businessline, G Ramesh, MD & CEO of HDB Financial Services, had said that the proceeds from capital raise would be used for on-lending, business growth and augmenting the NBFC's capital base.

He clarified that the NBFC does not share or receive any business leads from HDFC Bank, doesn't share any office space with the lender, and is not reliant on its parent for operational purposes. His comments come in the backdrop of the RBI's 2024 draft norms which state that only a single entity within a bank group can undertake a particular form of permissible business.

HDFC Bank's stake in HDB Financial Services will reduce to 75 per cent from 94 per cent post IPO, Ramesh

'CICs must aspire to more frequent updates of credit data'

Our Bureau

Credit Information Companies must aspire to more frequent updates, including real-time or near real-time, of credit data as against the current fortnightly intervals, said RBI Deupty Governor M Rajeshwar Rao.

"Real-time or near-real-time credit reporting will improve underwriting precision, enable timely reflection of borrower actions like loan closures or repayments and deliver a superior consumer experience. This shift requires investments in technology, process reengineering, and change management. But the rewards transparency, efficiency and trust — far outweigh the costs," he said at TransUnion CIBIL's Credit Conference in Mumbai. Similarly, data quality is the bedrock of responsible lending. he said. "It has been prescribed that CICs shall provide a data quality index score to the Credit Institutions (CIs) on a monthly basis to facilitate improvement in the quality of data submitted by

"Another key challenge is identity standardisation. CICs rely on credit institutions to provide accurate and validated IDs Without this, duplication and misreporting remain risks. We must move towards a unique borrower identifier, which is secure, verifiable, and consistent across the system," Rao said.
