

Micro Technologies expands its Micro VBB Marshal and Video Surveillance System for more leading Oil and Gas Companies

Micro Technologies has expanded its Vehicle Security solutions to more leading Oil and gas companies to supply vehicle mounted GPS system to be installed on a fleet of tankers to monitor the location of the vehicle, vehicle idle time, route deviation of the vehicle, vehicle log report and many more. For these clients Micro technologies will also provide a complete IP-based Video Surveillance System (includes CCTV camera, PTZ cameras and many more) integrated with sensing technology in terms of fire sensor, gas sensor etc. This one-stop solution will help security officers and facility managers to monitor the physical infrastructures housed at remote location on real time basis. This system sends alert messages via sms or/and emails in the event of any security breach like unauthorized access to infrastructures, intrusion etc. Micro ISS is a cost-effective and easy to use security solution increasing the security capability and thereby reducing the operational costs.

As fuel theft has become a commonplace and rising fuel prices, the fleet owners need anti-fuel theft security solution to curb rising operational cost. To this end, MTIL's Fleet Monitoring System integrates sensing technology to send alert messages in the event of any fuel theft during motoring situation.

This deal will definitely enhance the security measures for the company towards mitigating fuel theft as well as protecting from any security threats.

Micro Technologies is one of the leaders in security industries and has developed a state-of-art innovative Micro VBB Marshal GPS-based vehicle tracking system to get vehicle-centric information on a real time basis. With effective after sales services comprising 250+ outlets across India and ever-expanding market opportunities, MTIL is poised to become an integrated security company with steady forays in various segments of vehicle, premises, mobile, other assets and now entering Energy & Health Segments. MTIL has got over IT, Health, Entertainment, Sports, Hotel industries and now indulging into security of Crude Oil Industry.
