Press Release

MindTree Integrates its Business Intelligence/Data Warehousing and Analytics Practices into All-Encompassing Data & Analytic Solutions Practice

World class team with proven capability to provide analytics, business intelligence, information management and research under one roof; makes its debut at Gartner Business Intelligence Summit

GARTNER Business Intelligence Summit, Los Angeles, CA, May 2, 2011: MindTree Limited, a global IT and Product Engineering Services Company, today announced the integration of its Business Intelligence, Data Warehousing and Knowledge Services practices, forming a new Data & Analytic Solutions (DAS) practice. The integration creates one of the world's largest information management practices offering customers a one-stop-shop to capture, analyze, enhance, and view their business information in support of their corporate objectives.

The DAS practice combines MindTree's proven analytics, business intelligence, and information management services with a new research offering. The research arm of the practice helps companies monetize information through data mining and the application of market intelligence and business research.

"As our customers look to harness the power of their data, and turn this information into business insights, the integration of our business intelligence, data warehousing and analytics practices into one allows us to enable our customers to better compete in the market space," said Scott Staples, President Americas and Head of the DAS practice. "When you combine the breadth of our offerings with our practice size, specialized industry focus and the overall capabilities of MindTree's complementary groups, our Data & Analytic Solutions practice is strongly positioned to create greater value for our customers than ever before."

MINDTREE LIMITED BANGALORE

The MindTree DAS practice serves customers spanning the Consumer Packaged Goods (CPG), Retail, Financial Services, Insurance, Travel and Media markets. In addition to a variety of market-specific offerings, the DAS practice has service offerings in: Master Data Management; Enterprise Data Warehousing; BI Tool Implementations; Advanced Data Visualization; Consumer and Marketing Analytics; Trade Promotions Analytics; HR Analytics; Customer Segmentation; Forecasting; and Scoring Models that cut across the above markets.

The MindTree DAS practice is headed by MindTree co-founder - Scott Staples, . The practice is currently 800 people strong and is seeing strong growth momentum based on excellent customer traction for this specialized offering.

The Data & Analytic Solutions practice will make its debut at the Gartner Business Intelligence Summit, May 2-4, 2011 at the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza in Los Angeles. To learn more about the MindTree DAS practice at the show, please stop by the MindTree booth 'H'.
