before the incident. Videos on his timeline showed him walking around at the venue of the protest with a red backpack. His previous posts were also self-incriminating and suggest that he was well aware of the consequences of his action. "On my last journey, take me draped in saffron and shout slogans of Jai Shri Ram," one of them in Hindi read. Another more threatening post read, "Shaheen Bagh, Game Over", referring to the massive protest against the citizenship law.

But what gave away the motive was another post which said "Chandan bhai, ye badla aapke liye hai (this revenge is for you)." Chandan was killed in a communal clash that broke out on Republic Day in 2018 in Kasganj. A man named Salim was arrested as a prime suspect for the murder. The shooter would have been 15 years old when the incident happened.

The student who was shot at has been identified as Shadab Farooq and was carted away, his left hand soaked in blood. The weapon used was a country revolver, which is good enough for firing just a single shot. Had it been more lethal, the assailant could have inflicted greater damage. He has been identified as a resident of Jewar in Uttar Pradesh.

Alarm bells for...

Almost half or 46.4 per cent of the 4000 plus respondents say that the performance of the central government on the economic front has been worse than expected. Things were not so bad in 2014, the nadir of drift in the economy and policy paralysis. High inflation coupled with concerns over the general economic slowdown as well as low job creation seems to have dented the Central government's image as prudent economic manager, a survey report showed.adir of economic drift and policy paralysis.

Ahead of the Union Budget a new survey shows a growing unease among the general public due to rising prices of everyday use items under the leadership ofModi. Nearly three-fourths of the respondents in the survey this year said that inflation has gone up and nearly 40 per cent said that high inflation has had an adverse impact on their quality of their life. The pre-budget survey comes as crude reality and a reflection of current economic indicators on the ground, as wages have stagnated while prices of essentials including food items have surged in the past few months. Not to forget, unemployment rate released last year shows that it at a 45-year high level. Interestingly, the sentiment was at the same level as in 2014, the UPA era. About 65.9 per cent people then had said that they were unable to manage their expenses.
