Notes:
1 The above unaudited financial results have been reviewed by the audit committee and taken on record by Board of Directors at their meeting held on August 13, 2026. The statutory auditors have carried out limited review of the financial results of the company for the quarter ended June 30, 2026 under regulation 33 of the SEBI (Listing Obligation and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 as amended.
2 The above results are prepared in accordance with the recognition and measurement principles laid down and specified in Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013 read with relevant rules framed thereunder and as per requirement of Regulation 33 of SEBI (LODR) Regulations, 2015 and according to applicable circulars issued by SEBI from time to time.
3 During the financial year ended March 31, 2025, the business premises of the Company had been searched by the GST Authorities in connection with some information in their possession. As a result of the search, the GST Authorities had alleged that the Company had claimed fraudulent ineligible input credit of GST in earlier years and accordingly, passed an Order under Section 74 of the CGST Act, 2017 dated January 16, 2025 directing the Company to deposit the ineligible input credit of GST amounting to Rs.96.14 crores along with interest of Rs.98.42 crores and penalty aggregating to Rs.96.14 crores aggregating to total demand of Rs. 290.70 crores.
The Management is of the strong view that the Company had legitimately availed the GST input credit and that the allegation made by the GST Authorities is not tenable. The Company is in the process of seeking legal recourse against the demand and, in the interim, had filed a rectification application before the concerned authorities requesting deletion of the entire demand. The rectification application has been rejected, and the Management will file an appeal. In the opinion of the Management, based on the facts and circumstances of the case, the full documentary evidence of entitlement to the input credit, and legal advice obtained, this liability will not crystallize. Accordingly, no provision for this liability has been considered necessary in these accounts.
Further during the financial year ended March 31, 2026, Income Tax Authorities had also raised a demand of Rs. 10.68 crore. The management is seeking legal recourse against the said demand and in this regard, management has filed an appeal before the appropriate authorities for deletion of the entire demand raised.
4 The Company has identified "Manufacturing and trading of Copper Wires" as the single operating segment for the continued operations in the standalone financial results as per Ind AS 108- Operating Segments.
5 The Company is not having any subsidiary, associate or joint venture; therefore it has prepared only standalone results as consolidated requirement is not applicable to the Company.
6 The figures of the March quarter are the balancing figures between audited figures in respect of the full financial year up to March 31, 2026 and the unaudited published year-to-date figures up to December 31, 2025, which were subjected to limited review.
7 Pursuant to the notification of the 'New Labour Codes' as issued in November 2025, the Company reassessed its employee benefit obligations in accordance with the revised definition of wages and accordingly, an incremental liability of Rs.4 lakhs had been disclosed as an "Exceptional Item" in financial year 2025-26.
8 The figures of the previous periods have been regrouped/rearranged/ and / or recast wherever found necessary to make them comparable.
9 The above financial results are available on Company website www.rajnandinimetal.com

FCNR inflows supporting short end of G-Sec curve

Mumbai, August 13

THE G-SEC YIELD curve is likely to steepen further as foreign currency non-resident bank (FCNR-B) deposit inflows boost demand for shorter-dated government securities. Inflows are adding to rupee liquidity and supporting demand at the short end of the curve.

Driven by FCNR-B inflows, the five-year G-Sec yield has fallen 44 basis points since the June policy, compared with a smaller decline in the 10-year benchmark yield. The spread between the five-year and 10-year bonds has widened to 41 basis points from over 15 bps in May. On Thursday, the five-year and 10-year yields closed at 6.35% and 6.76%, respectively. The benchmark 10-year paper has largely traded in the 6.73-6.84% range over the past month.

The Reserve Bank of India's latest policy was seen as dovish, with the central bank cutting its inflation projections. This has prompted banks to scale back expectations of future rate hikes, while longer-term government securities are expected to remain range-bound in the near term.

"When liquidity is abundant and an immediate rate hike is off the table, short-term rates tend to fall immediately. This typically leads to a steeper yield curve, as the absence of near-term tightening expectations, combined with excess liquidity, gets priced into the front end of the curve," said Gopal Tripathi, treasury head at Jana Small Finance Bank.

As long as foreign exchange inflows continue, overnight liquidity is likely to remain elevated, keeping the short end of the yield curve benign and supporting further steepening, he added.

According to RBI data, banks have mobilised $36.73 billion through the special FCNR-B deposit scheme. A total of $40.82 billion in foreign exchange had been received through the RBI's measures as of July 31. The measures are expected to attract $70-80 billion, helping bridge the BoP gap and support the rupee.

India's growth now hinges on demand-side energy efficiency

INDIA'S PROJECTED ADDITION of 570 terawatt (TW)-hours of annual electricity consumption over the next five years is routinely framed by planners as a triumph of industrial expansion. It is more accurately viewed as a structural pivot point.

As the nation simultaneously builds an advanced manufacturing core, a high-density artificial intelligence (AI) infrastructure and a clean-energy grid, the primary constraint on growth is shifting away from generation capacity. The next frontier of economic competitiveness lies on the demand side. India's long-term energy resilience, energy intelligence, and sustainability will depend entirely on how intelligently the country manages the power it integrates into its systems.

For decades, Indian energy policy and industrial strategy operated under a singular directive: add megawatts (MW), expand transmission infrastructure and secure primary fuel sources. These supply-side priorities cleared the initial hurdles of industrialisation and successfully built a generation capacity that now crosses 520 GW. However, the economic architecture currently under construction requires a transition towards energy intelligence and demand-side efficiency.

The scale of this economic transformation is reflected in the changing composition of the nation's commercial demand. India currently hosts more than 2,100 global capability centres (GCCs), moving the country up the value chain toward global innovation hubs. Concurrently, the domestic data centre industry is entering a phase of rapid expansion, with installed capacity projected to scale from 1.5 GW today to between 4.5 GW and 6.5 GW by 2030.

The integration of AI accelerates this trajectory. Unlike standard digital applications, AI workloads require deep computing density and specialised cooling infrastructure, causing energy demand to escalate sharply. When these high-density digital loads are superimposed onto a nationwide manufacturing expansion, the aggregate strain on the power system changes qualitatively, making demand-side efficiency and sustainable energy management critical to future readiness.

This creates a distinct operational challenge. As variable wind and solar power form a larger share of the energy mix, supply predictability naturally fluctuates. For a modern semiconductor plant or a Tier-4 data centre, power quality and absolute reliability are non-negotiable. A microsecond voltage drop or a transient frequency variation can disrupt an entire production batch or corrupt critical digital workflows. The historical milestone was overcoming absolute power shortages; the modern milestone is maintaining precise power stability across a decentralised, multi-source grid.

Every modern industrial facility, automated logistics hub, and commercial development generates massive volumes of operational data.

Historically, this data remained siloed within separate plant systems. Translating this information into actionable efficiency via real-time energy management systems, industrial software, and predictive analytics is now a core requirement for sustainable corporate growth.

In practice, this involves deploying digital twins to simulate operational and thermodynamic outcomes before capital expenditure is locked in. It requires integrating intelligent building management systems that automatically adjust cooling and power allocation based on real-time occupancy and server loads. On the factory floor, industrial software platforms can synchronize heavy production schedules with real-time grid availability and cost signals. The most reliable unit of energy is the one that operational intelligence prevents from being drawn from the grid in the first place.

This reinforces the impor-

ance of demand-side efficiency as a strategic lever. This structural shift opens up clear avenues for collaborative policy evolution. To fully unlock demand-side efficiency, state electricity regulatory commissions (SERCs) and power distribution companies (discoms) have the opportunity to look beyond standard time-of-day tariffs toward modern frameworks like demand-side response (DSR). Introducing flexible pricing structures and clear regulatory incentives can encourage large industrial and digital consumers to automatically curtail or shift their loads during peak grid stress, providing vital balancing power to the utility network.

The capital expenditure decisions made during this current investment cycle will lock in India's industrial energy intensity for the next thirty years. Developing infrastructure that is intelligent by design provides a definitive mechanism to decouple robust economic growth from carbon-intensive grid expansion. True competitiveness will belong to the enterprises and nations that treat operational data as a core energy asset. Building this intelligence into the foundation of our infrastructure ensures a resilient, high-efficiency power sector.

The next phase of leadership will be defined by how intelligently we power growth.

By placing energy resilience at the core of its growth model and accelerating the convergence of energy and industrial intelligence, India can not only sustain its momentum but set a global benchmark for responsible, future-ready development.

The path forward is clear. Growth and efficiency are no longer trade-offs. They are the same objective.

MSCI Aug rejjig to see 4 Indian stocks added, three removed

GLOBAL INDEX PROVIDER MSCI said on Thursday said four Indian companies — Adani Energy Solutions, Billionbrains Garage Ventures (Groww), Laurus Labs and Lenskart Solutions — will be added to its global standard index as part of its August review, underscoring the continuing churn in India's representation within global passive portfolios.

Three companies — Astral, Balkrishna Industries and SBI Cards and Payment Services — would move out of the index.

The changes will be implemented after the close of trading on August 31, 2026, and take effect on September 1, MSCI said.

Laurus Labs, an active pharmaceutical ingredients manufacturer; Lenskart, an omnichannel eyewear retailer; Adani Energy Solutions, the Adani Group's power transmission and distribution arm, and Groww, a digital investment and broking platform, will enter the index. They will replace tyre maker Balkrishna Industries, credit-card issuer SBI Cards, and building-materials company Astral. Following the reshuffle, the number of Indian constituents in the key MSCI index will rise to 166 from 165.

India's weightage in the global standard index will also rise to 11.9% from 11.8%, according to Nuvama Alternative and Quantitative Research. It estimates potential inflows of about $598 million for Laurus Labs, $352 million for Lenskart, $310 million for Adani Energy Solutions and $256 million for Groww.

Conversely, Balkrishna Industries, SBI Cards and Astral could see estimated passive outflows of $169 million, $143 million and $138 million, respectively.

The review also recalibrated weights among existing index members.

FCNR inflows supporting short end of G-Sec curve

CHRISTINA TITUS
Mumbai, August 13

THE G-SEC YIELD curve is likely to steepen further as foreign currency non-resident bank (FCNR-B) deposit inflows boost demand for short-dated government securities. Inflows are adding to rupee liquidity and supporting demand at the short end of the curve.

Driven by FCNR-B inflows, the five-year G-Sec yield has fallen 44 basis points since the June policy, compared with a smaller decline in the 10-year benchmark yield. The spread between the five-year and 10-year bonds has widened to 41 basis points from over 15 bps in May. On Thursday, the five-year and 10-year yields closed at 6.35% and 6.76%, respectively. The benchmark 10-year paper has largely traded in the 6.73-6.84% range over the past month.

The Reserve Bank of India's latest policy was seen as dovish, with the central bank cutting its inflation projections. This has prompted banks to scale back expectations of future rate hikes, while longer-term government securities are expected to remain range-bound in the near term.

"When liquidity is abundant and an immediate rate hike is off the table, short-term rates tend to fall immediately. This typically leads to a steeper yield curve, as the absence of near-term tightening expectations, combined with excess liquidity, gets priced into the front end of the curve," said Gopal Tripathi, treasury head at Jana Small Finance Bank.

As long as foreign exchange inflows continue, overnight liquidity is likely to remain elevated, keeping the short end of the yield curve benign and supporting further steepening, he added.

According to RBI data, banks have mobilised $36.73 billion through the special FCNR-B deposit scheme. A total of $40.82 billion in foreign exchange had been received through the RBIs measures as of July 31. The measures are expected to attract $70-80 billion, helping bridge the BoP gap and support the rupee.

India's growth now hinges on demand-side energy efficiency

DEEPAK SHARMA

INDIA'S PROJECTED ADDITION of 570 terawatt (TW)-hours of annual electricity consumption over the next five years is routinely framed by planners as a triumph of industrial expansion. It is more accurately viewed as a structural pivot point.

As the nation simultaneously builds an advanced manufacturing core, a high-density artificial intelligence (AI) infrastructure and a clean-energy grid, the primary constraint on growth is shifting away from generation capacity. The next frontier of economic competitiveness lies on the demand side. India's long-term energy resilience, energy intelligence, and sustainability will depend entirely on how intelligently the country manages the power it integrates into its systems.

For decades, Indian energy policy and industrial strategy operated under a singular directive: add megawatts (MW), expand transmission infrastructure and secure primary fuel sources. These supply-side priorities cleared the initial hurdles of industrialisation and successfully built a generation capacity that now exceeds 520 GW. However, the economic architecture currently under construction towards energy intelligence and demand-side efficiency.

The scale of this economic transformation is reflected in the changing composition of the nation's commercial demand. India currently hosts more than 2,100 global capability centres (GCCs), moving the country up the value chain toward global innovation hubs. Concurrently, the domestic data centre industry is entering a phase of rapid expansion with installed capacity projected to scale from 1.5 GW today to between 4.5 GW and 6.5 GW by 2030.

The integration of AI accelerates this trajectory. Unlike standard digital applications, AI workloads require deep computing density and specialised cooling infrastructure, causing energy demand to escalate sharply. When these high-density digital loads are superimposed onto a nationwide manufacturing expansion, the aggregate strain on the power system changes qualitatively, making demand-side efficiency and sustainable energy management critical to future readiness. This creates a distinct operational challenge. As variable wind and solar power form a larger share of the energy mix, supply predictability naturally fluctuates. For a modern semiconductor plant or a Tier-4 data centre, power quality and absolute reliability are non-negotiable. A microsecond voltage drop or a transient frequency variation can disrupt an entire production batch or corrupt critical digital workflows. The historical milestone was overcoming absolute power shortages; the modern milestone is maintaining precise power stability across a decentralised, multi-source grid.

Every modern industrial facility, automated logistics hub, and commercial development generates massive volumes of operational data. Historically, this data remained siloed within separate plant systems. Translating this information into actionable efficiency via real-time energy management systems, industrial software, and predictive analytics is now a core requirement for sustainable corporate growth.

In practice, this involves deploying digital twins to simulate operational and thermodynamic outcomes before capital expenditure is locked in. It requires integrating intelligent building management systems that automatically adjust cooling and power allocation based on real-time occupancy and server loads. On the factory floor, industrial software platforms can synchronize heavy production schedules with real-time grid availability and cost signals. The most reliable unit of energy is the one that operational intelligence prevents from being drawn from in the first place.

This reinforces the impor-

ance of demand-side efficiency as a strategic lever. This structural shift opens up clear avenues for collaborative policy evolution. To fully unlock demand-side efficiency, state electricity regulatory commissions (SERCs) and power distribution companies (discoms) have the opportunity to look beyond standard time-of-day tariffs toward modern frameworks like demand-side response (DSR). Introducing flexible pricing structures and clear regulatory incentives can encourage large industrial and digital consumers to automatically curtail or shift their loads during peak grid stress, providing a direct path to power to the utility network.

The capital expenditure decisions made during this current investment cycle will lock in India's industrial energy intensity for the next thirty years. Developing infrastructure that is intelligent by design provides a decisive mechanism to decouple robust economic growth from carbon-intensive grid expansion. True competitiveness will belong to the enterprises and nations that treat operational data as a core energy asset. Building this intelligence into the foundation of our infrastructure ensures a resilient, high-efficiency power sector.

The next phase of leadership will be defined by how intelligently we power growth. By placing energy resilience at the core of its growth model and accelerating the convergence of energy and industrial intelligence, India can not only sustain its momentum but set a global benchmark for responsible, future-ready development.

The path forward is clear. Growth and efficiency are no longer trade-offs. They are the same objective.

MSCI Aug rejig to see 4 Indian stocks added, three removed

BHARATH RAJESWARAN
August 13

GLOBAL INDEX PROVIDER MSCI said on Thursday said four Indian companies — Adani Energy Solutions, Billionbrains Garages Ventures (Growth), Laurus Labs and Lenskart Solutions — will be added to its global standard index as part of its August review, underscoring the continuing churn in India's representation within global passive portfolios.

Three companies — Astral, Balkrishna Industries and SBI Cards and Payment Services — would move out of the index.

Changes will be implemented after the close of trading on August 31, 2023, and take effect on September 1, 2023. Laurus Labs, an active pharmaceutical ingredients manufacturer, is an omnichannel eyewear retailer; Adani Energy Solutions, the Adani Group's power transmission and distribution arm, and Growth, a digital investment and broking platform will enter the index. They will replace tyre maker Balkrishna Industries, credit-card issuer SBI Cards, and building-materials company Astral. Following the reshuffle, the number of Indian constituents in the key MSCI index will rise to 166 from 165.

India's weightage in the global standard index will also rise to 11.9% from 11.8%, according to Nuvama Alternative and Quantitative Research. It estimates potential inflows of about $598 million for Laurus Labs, $352 million for Lenskart, $310 million for Adani Energy Solutions and $256 million for Growth.

Conversely, Balkrishna Industries, SBI Cards and Astral could see estimated passive outflows of $169 million, $143 million and $138 million, respectively.

The review also recalibrated weights among existing index members.
