Dow breaks above 25,000 for first time

REUTERS
January 4

THE DOW JONES Industrial Average sailed past the 25,000-mark for the first time on Thursday, while other major indexes rose to new highs after a strong private jobs report added to a bullish sentiment from indications of robust growth in major economies.

The ADP National Employment Report showed that US private employers added 250,000 jobs in December, marking the biggest monthly increase since March, and much above the 190,000 job additions forecast by economists.

A more comprehensive non-farm payrolls report on Friday is expected to show the economy added 190,000 jobs in December, down from the 228,000 additions in November. "Economic data tomorrow is not going to be tremendously spectacular, but what we're seeing is very positive growth, a good economic backdrop that gives people more confidence in corporate earnings," said Aaron Anderson, senior vice president of research at Fisher Investments.

The Fed Reserve affirming its view of gradual rate hikes this year in minutes released on Wednesday also supported the sentiment.
