After earful from farmers, HDK points at Rahul

RAJ SHANKAR
Bengaluru

In another shocker, Karnataka Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy on Wednesday said he was at the mercy of Rahul Gandhi and not the people of the State.

Addressing irate farmers on the issue of loan waiver and cabinet expansion were stuck on the table of Rahul Gandhi and his party managers in-charge of Karnataka.

The CM had invited farmers to discuss the issue of loan waiver, but he refused to give any categorical commitment on the issue saying that the Congress has to agree waiver and not for a political 'bhashan".

At one point of time, HDK lost his cool. He took the mike in his hands and said that he needs time to decide on the loan waiver issue and that he will not run away in 15 days' time.

Hospital Superintendent Dr J.S. Sikarvar told the media that no outage was reported though the screens of two monitors had gone blank. "The patients who died were already brain dead. It is very difficult to save such patients," he claimed.

Europe has introduced the GDPR regime that all tech companies have to adhere to. The recent data breach episode involving US-based social networking giant Facebook and British data analytics firm Cambridge Analytica has created an awareness like never before on issues around information privacy, user rights and consent policies, nudging companies to review and strengthen their privacy protection rules.

According to Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI) Chairman J Satyanarayana, more than 121 crore residents have been enrolled for Aadhaar and it has been used for over 19 billion authentications. The national study that covered prominent Indian cities including Delhi, Kolkata, Mumbai, Hyderabad, Bangalore, Chennai, Ahmedabad and Pune also noted that 4 in every 10 respondents said their opinion about Facebook has gone down in recent months.

One-third of respondents said that they would share lesser on Facebook, even though they will continue to be on Facebook," the study said. Moreover, even though people believe that social media sites are not completely safe for financial transactions, they have not completely stopped using it either. The higher age group of 46-60 years is more willing to continue using Facebook as before, the study noted.
